Sees No Prospect Of Armed Conflict In Near Future

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Truman declared today that the cold war situation is improving and that he sees no prospect of armed conflict in the near future and is optimistic about peace.

The chief executive told his news conference that he believes senate army services Chairman Tydings (D) Md., who said yesterday it will be "remarkable" if the U. S. and Russia can avoid a shooting war, is unduly alarmed.

In Vivid Contrast

Mr. Truman's emphatic assertion that the chances of World War III are far less now than they were in 1946 was in vivid contrast to the grim warnings recently given congress by Defense Secretary Johnson and top military leaders.

Johnson and his chief military planners told the house armed services committee yesterday that the world situation is "worse" and Tydings warned in a speech that the "sheerest incident" could detonate another world war.

The president, however, insisted that no emergency exists. But he quickly added that the defense department has completed secret plans for military and civilian mobilization in event of sudden war. He emphasized that the plans will be kept secret.

Backing up his feeling of optimism about the continuance of peace, the president asserted that next year's defense budget will be smaller than the fiscal year budget now under consideration.

The president said:

"I am optimisite."

At the same time, the president took sharp issue with former President Hoover over his suggestion that the United States

Report Cold War Status Worse On Several Fronts

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 4.—The cold war worsened on several fronts today as diplomats and U. N. officials pinned hopes for an improvement on Secretary G ral Trygve Lie's talk with Premier Stalin next week and the big three meeting in London.

Lie's visit to Moscow will last several days. In addition to a meeting with Stalin he is expected to confer with Viacheslav Molotov, Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

To Make Report

At Lake Success, it was reported that Lie plans to fly from Moscow to London and report the Soviet viewpoint to the western big three foreign ministers—provided the outcome of his peace mission makes the extra trip to London worthwhile. The possibility of a dramatic gesture to the west by Stalin through Lie, while not excluded, is regarded with reserve.

Austrian Peace Treaty Parley Being Watched

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—United States officials are keeping a wary eye on Austrian peace treaty negotiations today for a sign of Russia's immediate intentions in the Balkans.

The deputies of the U. S., Britain, France and the Soviet Union meet in London at the surprise request of Moscow, whose delegate a week ago indicated further delay in drafting the long delayed document.

At the last meeting the Soviet delegate raised an entirely new question. He demanded that a provision be written into the treaty requiring Austria to purge all pro-Fascist elements. In so doing he charged that the leading Austrian parties were Fascist.

Treaty Not Wanted?

This was taken to indicate that Russia does not want a peace treaty for Austria, since it would require the withdrawal of all occupation forces from Hungary and Romania.

Such a withdrawal at this time would also remove much Soviet force from Yugoslavia's borders at a time when Moscow feels it must press its war of nerves with Marshall Tito.

Previously Russia had declined to agree to the draft of five remaining disputed articles of the treaty on the grounds that a separate settlement must be made with Austria over Moscow's claims for food and services supplied during the early days of occupation.

Gen. MacArthur In Blunt Reply To Soviet Charge

By HOWARD HANDELMANN
Far Eastern Director
(International News Service)

TOKYO, May 4.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur told Russia bluntly today that American and British bases in Japan are in a state of the "most complete readiness for any eventuality".

He denied, however, a Soviet charge that former Japanese war installations are being converted by the United States into a "permanent" status.

The allied supreme commander's remarks were contained in a strongly-worded reply to a letter from Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko in which Russia's top representative in Tokyo asked MacArthur yesterday to explain alleged reports about American rebuilding of bases in Japan and Okinawa.

Sharp Rebuke

Derevyanko, Soviet member of the allied council for Japan, was sharply rebuked by Gen MacArthur who said the Russian general's letter "can only be regarded as a vehicle of propaganda or a provocative impertinence".

The occupation chief declared in his prompt answering letter to Derevyanko that U. S. and British bases in Japan are being "maintained in a condition of such adequacy as will insure the fullest security, operational efficiency and most complete readiness for any eventuality".

Two-Year Draft Extension Is Now Expected

WASHINGTON, May 4. —(INS)—The House Armed Services committee today unanimously voted a two-year extension of the draft law prohibiting further inductions without the consent of Congress.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—A two-year extension of the peace-time draft is expected to be voted today by the House Armed Services Committee as insurance in the cold war with Russia.

The action is being taken reluctantly in an election year by congressmen generally opposed to military conscription in time of peace.

But they have been advised by the nation's top-ranking military and policy leaders that such action is necessary to maintain American strength against the time when the cold war may grow hot.

Facts Are Heard

Agreement To End Chrysler Strike Signed

By BOB CLARK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT, May 4—The Chrysler corporation and CIO United Auto Workers union signed five working contracts and a pension agreement today, ending the 100-day-old strike of 89,000 production workers.

The union's 23-man bargaining team said, in announcing its approval of all agreements, it would recommend ratification by the UAW Chrysler conference and members, thus paving the way for a return to work by Monday at the latest.

Contracts Signed

The contracts were signed little more than five hours after a labor mediator confirmed at 3:14 a. m. (EST) an International News Service bulletin that all issues were resolved and a peace announcement was on the way.

The stoppage had cost the Chrysler employes, 61,000 idle supplier plant workers and the corporation a staggering sum estimated at $1,380,000,000, including some $83,000,000 in striker wages.

The UAW claims a gain of 10 cents per hour in pension, health-medical insurance and working contract gains. But Chrysler General Manager Herman L. Weckler contended that the retirement benefits are identical to those offered the union before the strike.

Agreement Provides

The company union agreement provides:

1—Pension of $100 monthly, including social security payments, for employes of 65 with 25 years seniority. Lesser benefits for those retiring at 65 with 10 or more years of "credited" service and for 25-year employes 60 through 64 years of age. Compulsory retirement age, 68.

2—Pension fund to be financed in the same manner as that at Ford, with the corporation's payments re-

'No Defeat' Says Truman

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—President Truman insisted today that the Florida victory of Rep. George Smathers over Sen. Claude Pepper is no defeat for the administration.

The President said the outcome of the Democratic primary was decided on particular issues within the state that have no bearing on national issues.

Democrats' Counter-Attack On McCarthy Under Way

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Irate Senate Democrats served notice today that they have just begun a counter-attack on Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., for his charges that the State Department is a nest of Communists.

They began by accusing McCarthy of giving the Senate what amounted to a false report on his original accusations as delivered in a Lincoln Day speech at Wheeling, W. Va., on Feb. 9.

In one of the bitterest personal debates of recent Senate history, administration Democrats demanded that the GOP member prove his charges or face being "scourged from the society of decent men and women forever."

McCarthy said the Democrats were "playing a silly numbers game" by questioning whether he charged there were 205 or 47 "card-carrying Communists" in the State Department known to Secretary Acheson. Majority leader Lucas (D) Ill., told reporters:

"We've just begun. We're tired of being kicked in the pants—tired of listening to his clap-trap on the other side of the aisle. We're tired of having McCarthy run in on the Senate floor every other day with some new charge."

Lucas led off the attack on McCarthy which diverted attention from continuing sessions of the Senate loyalty investigating committee.

The group headed by Sen. Tydings (D) Md., called a closed session today to hear Frank Bielaski,

FRESNO, Cal., May 4.—(INS)—A manhunt was under way in central California today for three gunmen who escaped with an estimated $100,000 in stocks, bonds, cash and jewelry after slugging a retired Fresno pawnbroker and tieing him and his wife to chairs in their home.

Authorities described the robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose as one of the biggest hauls in Fresno county's history.

The intruders, all armed with revolvers, forced Rose to open his safe after they beat him with the butt end of a revolver. After emptying the safe, the gunmen bound Rose and his wife to chairs with electric cords cut from some fans in the house.

Agreement To End Chrysler Strike Signed

By BOB CLARK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT, May 4—The Chrysler corporation and CIO United Auto Workers union signed five working contracts and a pension agreement today, ending the 100-day-old strike of 89,000 production workers.

The union's 23-man bargaining team said, in announcing its approval of all agreements, it would recommend ratification by the UAW Chrysler conference and members, thus paving the way for a return to work by Monday at the latest.

Contracts Signed

The contracts were signed little more than five hours after a labor mediator confirmed, at 3:14 a. m. (EST) an International News Service bulletin that all issues were resolved and a peace announcement was on the way.

The stoppage had cost the Chrysler employes, 61,000 idle supplier plant workers and the corporation a staggering sum estimated at $1,380,000,000, including some $83,000,000 in striker wages.

The UAW claims a gain of 10-cents per hour in pension, health-medical insurance and working contract gains. But Chrysler General Manager Herman L. Weckler contended that the retirement benefits are identical to those offered the union before the strike.

Agreement Provides

The company union agreement provides:

1—Pension of $100 monthly, including social security payments, for employes of 65 with 25 years seniority. Lesser benefits for those retiring at 65 with 10 or more years of "credited" service and for 25-year employes 60 through 64 years of age. Compulsory retirement age, 68.

2—Pension fund to be financed in the same manner as that at Ford, with the corporation's payments re-

'No Defeat' Says Truman

WASHINGTON, May 4. — (INS)—President Truman insisted today that the Florida victory of Rep. George Smathers over Sen. Claude Pepper is no defeat for the administration.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that the campaign in Florida, where Smathers took issue with the administration on national health insurance and other matters, was strictly a state affair.

The President said the outcome of the Democratic primary was decided on particuar issues within the state that have no bearing on national issues.

Democrats' Counter-Attack On McCarthy Under Way

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Irate Senate Democrats served notice today that they have just begun a counter-attack on Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., for his charges that the State Department is a nest of Communists.

They began by accusing McCarthy of giving the Senate what amounted to a false report on his original accusations as delivered in a Lincoln Day speech at Wheeling, W. Va., on Feb. 9.

In one of the bitterest personal debates of recent Senate history, administration Democrats demanded that the GOP member prove his charges or face being "scourged from the society of decent men and women forever."

McCarthy said the Democrats were "playing a silly numbers game" by questioning whether he charged there were 205 or 47 "card-carrying Communists" in the State Department known to Secretary Acheson. Majority leader Lucas (D) Ill., told reporters:

"We've just begun. We're tired of being kicked in the pants—tired of listening to his clap-trap on the other side of the aisle. We're tired of having McCarthy run in on the Senate floor every other day with some new charge."

Lucas led off the attack on McCarthy which diverted attention from continuing sessions of the Senate loyalty investigating committee.

The group headed by Sen. Tydings (D) Md., called a closed session today to hear Frank Bielaski,

We're almost into the stretch again, of the usual political race, and threats and statements and promises are flying all over the place. The candidates are at fever heat as they survey the work they've done, while the citizens mostly are sitting by enjoying the verbal fun. They're not excited or so it seems as the campaign temperatures rise, and wager an apple or maybe a dime on which one will win the prize. It's spring you see and the candidates are out in their usual array, wooing the voters with honeyed words, it's 78 today.

County Cancer Fund Reaches $7,457 Total

Progress in the Lawrence County Unit of the American Cancer Society's drive for funds was reported today by Mrs. Blake H. Waldo and Edwin O. Feass, campaign co-chairmen.

Approximately $7,457.63 has been raised to date, $1,500.00 of this amount from Ellwood City.

Armed with the slogan "Strike Back At Cancer", over 300 volunteer workers are conducting the solicitation in the local area. The drive has been officially extended by National Headquarters until May 15.

The New Castle City School division, headed by Superintendent Frank L. Burton and Miss Mary Martin, were the first to be completed with a total of $410.00. The county schools are participating this year under the chairmanship of Edwin Beatty.

The campaign committee feels that the first report is a commendable one and express satisfaction with the result of the first phase of the campaign and said with continued enthusiastic solicitation on the part of all workers, the goal of $15,000.00 will be achieved.

Money raised in Lawrence county will be used in a three-fold program: Research, Service and Education. The service program includes surgical dressings, medication, detection program, nursing service, film and speakers bureau, sick room loan closet and transportation of patients. It is a program designed to provide a source of public information concerning cancer and facilities available in Lawrence county for the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

duced as social security benefits increase.

3—$3,600 life insrance, including protection against total and permanent disability. Employes of 65 retiring with 15 years or more service receive free life insurance policies, values ranging from $500 to $1,000.

4—Sickness and accident benefits of $28 a week up to 26 weeks.

5—Hospital, surgical and in-hospital insurance equally financed by Chrysler and the employe. The corporation fixes its payment at $1.50 monthly per man.

6—A three-year contract, unique in auto labor history, providing for a voluntary dues check-off system.

Strikers will hear settlement terms Friday and vote on ratification Saturday. Meanwhile, the union cleared the way for maintenance men to prepare the plants for operation.

The pension program guarantees employes of 65 with 25 years service a monthly income of $100 in combined company and social security payments.

Benefits for employes with less than 25 years service are graduated downward proportionately, as well as for those retiring between the ages of 60 and 65.

Like the pattern-setting Ford plan, the Chrysler pension fund is financed according to the employes' current pension credits.

Credit for past service will be funded over a 30-year period, representing an initial corporation investment of $85,600,000. A joint Chrysler-UAW panel will administer the program.

The union fixed the value of its gains by placing a seven-cent hourly price tag on the retirement program. The union also pointed to management's commitment to pay one-half of the cost of a hospital-medical plan, increased vacation payments for workers with between three and five years' seniority, and correction of wage inequities.

The contract which governs wages and working conditions will run for three years with provision for reopening the wage section twice during its life—one after July 1, 1951 and again after July 1, 1952.

A compromise on the UAW demand for a union shop resulted in a dues checkoff system, such as that in effect at General Motors.

The auto workers did win their battle against proposed restrictions on the activities of union stewards during working hours.

Management also agreed, in the final tense hours of give-and-take bargaining, to permit employes of 65 to work until the age of 68 and continue accumulating pension credits.

No employe will be required to retire during a so-called "adjustment" period of 20 months, required to firmly establish the five-year retirement agreement.

Tour Is Made By 25 Farmers

Three Outstanding Farms Are Visited

To better learn the newest and most modern methods of farming electrically, 25 veteran farmers were taken on a tour of three outstanding farms Wednesday.

The veteran farmers, who are receiving instruction on farm training, along with their instructors, K. King McCreary and E. Earl McElhany and James C. Fink, supervisor, inspected many installations of farm equipment which make the farmers' work easier and more profitable. The tour was sponsored by Pennsylvania Power Company and was under the direction of W. E. Gross, the company's rural sales supervisor.

Stop Near Enon Valley

First stop for the group was at the farm owned by James and Francis McChesney, at Enon Valley, R. D. 1. Principal product of this farm is milk, and the labor and timesaving electrical equipment used in its production were of particular interest. Cleaning the stable, always an unpleasant task, is now done quickly and efficiently simply by pressing a button. Modern methods of mowcuring hay were also explained to the veterans, as well as barn ventilation and milkhouse water heating.

At the dairy barn of Floyd Byers, Petersburg R. D. 1, another type of stable cleaner was demonstrated. Here a study of barn ventilation was explained to show how air distribution by fans can reduce sickness in cows and increase production. The modern dairy with its separators, pasteurizers and bottler was viewed, as well as electrically-operate milk coolers and elevators.

Lunch Is Served

Lunch for the group was served at the service building of Pennsylvania Power and it was followed by a few remarks by L. B. Round, president of the company. Mr. Round pointed out that 96 per cent of all the farms in the area now have electric service. He further emphasized that because of this service the farmer can now enjoy all the comforts and conveniences that used to be exclusive with city dwellers.

Next, Virginia Pierson, company home service supervisor, showed the men how electricity has also made things easier for the farm wife. With a short demonstration of electric cooking and the many advantages of this method were dramatically shown.

Last stop was at the Chadwick Dean and Son farm at New Castle R. D. 6. At this poultry farm methods of increasing profits through the use of electricity were again brought to their attention. Radiant heat brooding as well as conventional electric brooding, poultry house ventilation and watering were some of the electric applications which were of particular interest.

This ended another part in the education of the men who have decided to continue in the nation's most necessary vocation—farming.

Legislator Says Governor Should Have Been Impeached

(BULLETIN)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. May 4.—(INS)—A Missouri Republican legislator said today that Gov. Forrest Smith should be impeached if he was told last year of the demoralization of the Kansas City police force and failed to take action.

Rep. W. D. Cruce of Cedar County, an outspoken critic of the Democratic Smith administration, made the statement as varied reports on the relationship of slain Democratic chieftain Charles Binaggio and Gov. Smith circulated through Jefferson City.

Cruce, the GOP floor leader in the Missouri House of Representatives, said:

"If reports are true that two members of the police board (Hampton S. Chambers and R. Robert Cohn) told the governor last summer about conditions in Kansas City, he has been lax in his duties.

"I think it provides grounds for impeachment proceedings.

"On the basis of these reports, I would institute impeachment proceedings against the governor if the general assembly were in session."

The president asserted:

"The United States will support the United Nations as long as I am in the White House."

The president said that, while he and Mr. Hoover disagree completely on the United Nations, they are fast friends.

Mr. Truman again asserted that the Marshall plan is what he described in his own words as the best means of fighting the cold war.

He reminded his news conference:

"It's much cheaper than a shooting war."

The president took issue with the Democratic chairman of the senate armed services committee, Sen. Millard F. Tydings of Maryland, who said yesterday that it would be "remarkable" if the United States did not get into a shooting war with Russia.

The president said:

"I think the senator is unduly alarmed. The situation is not anywhere near as bad as it was in 1946. I think the situation is improving."

"Could you smell his breath?" was the defense attorney's next question.

'No Comment' Says President About McCarthy

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—President Truman again indicated his opinion of Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., by stating that nothing that the senator said was worthy of comment.

Mr. Truman made his remark in biting tones at his news conference when he was asked for comment on McCarthy's recent assertion that Gen. George C Marshall, wartime chief of staff, was "pathetic as secretary of state".

The chief executive replied that he simply had no comment on anything McCarthy might say, except to state that nothing he said was worthy of comment.

At his news conference two weeks ago, Mr. Truman responded to another inquiry concerning McCarthy by question whether it was possible to libel the senator.

little encouragement to the Lie mission.

The Albanian and Bulgarian government sent a note to U. N. headquarters bluntly rejecting the 1949 General Assembly's resolution asking the two cominform lands to desist from aiding Greek guerrillas and to forbid them the use of their territories as an operational base against Greece.

Will Not Comply

The communication makes it clear neither Albania nor Bulgaria intends to comply with U. N. edicts. They charged that assembly resolutions are being used "by certain great powers as a means of pressure and political blackmail against Balkan peoples democracies."

Defiance of U. N. was evident also in failure of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania to appoint representatives to the Allied Treaty commission for investigating human rights violations of the peace treaties. This includes the Budapest trial and imprisonment of Josey Cardinal Mindszenty.

The three Balkan states had 30 days to make appointments in accordance with a ruling by the International Court of Justice. The court is now expected to give the green light to U. N. itself to appoint representatives for the three cominform lands, thus enabling the United States and Britain to proceed with their investigation into alleged treaty infractions.

Approximately $7,457.63 has been raised to date, $1,500.00 of this amount from Ellwood City.

Armed with the slogan "Strike Back At Cancer", over 300 volunteer workers are conducting the solicitation in the local area. The drive has been officially extended by National Headquarters until May 15.

The New Castle City School division, headed by Superintendent Frank L. Burton and Miss Mary Martin, were the first to be completed with a total of $410.00. The county schools are participating this year under the chairmanship of Edwin Beatty.

The campaign committee feels that the first report is a commendable one and express satisfaction with the result of the first phase of the campaign and said with continued enthusiastic solicitation on the part of all workers, the goal of $15,000.00 will be achieved.

Money raised in Lawrence county will be used in a three-fold program: Research, Service and Education. The service program includes surgical dressings, medication, detection program, nursing service, film and speakers bureau, sick room loan closet and transportation of patients. It is a program designed to provide a source of public information concerning cancer and facilities available in Lawrence county for the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

duced as social security benefits increase.

3—$3,600 life insrance, including protection against total and permanent disability. Employes of 65 retiring with 15 years or more service receive free life insurance policies, values ranging from $500 to $1,000.

4—Sickness and accident benefits of $28 a week up to 26 weeks.

5—Hospital, surgical and in-hospital insurance equally financed by Chrysler and the employe. The corporation fixes its payment at $1.50 monthly per man.

6—A three-year contract, unique in auto labor history, providing for a voluntary dues check-off system.

Strikers will hear settlement terms Friday and vote on ratification Saturday. Meanwhile, the union cleared the way for maintenance men to prepare the plants for operation.

The pension program guarantees employes of 65 with 25 years service a monthly income of $100 in combined company and social security payments.

Benefits for employes with less than 25 years service are graduated downward proportionately, as well as for those retiring between the ages of 60 and 65.

Like the pattern-setting Ford plan, the Chrysler pension fund is financed according to the employes' current pension credits.

Credit for past service will be funded over a 30-year period, representing an initial corporation investment of $85,600,000. A joint Chrysler-UAW panel will administer the program.

The union fixed the value of its gains by placing a seven-cent hourly price tag on the retirement program. The union also pointed to management's commitment to pay one-half of the cost of a hospital-medical plan, increased vacation payments for workers with between three and five years' seniority, and correction of wage inequities.

The contract which governs wages and working conditions will run for three years with provision for reopening the wage section twice during its life—one after July 1, 1951 and again after July 1, 1952.

A compromise on the UAW demand for a union shop resulted in a dues checkoff system, such as that in effect at General Motors.

The auto workers did win their battle against proposed restrictions on the activities of union stewards during working hours.

Management also agreed, in the final tense hours of give-and-take bargaining, to permit employes of 65 to work until the age of 68 and continue accumulating pension credits.

No employe will be required to retire during a so-called "adjustment" period of 20 months, required to firmly establish the five-year retirement agreement.

Tour Is Made By 25 Farmers

Three Outstanding Farms Are Visited

To better learn the newest and most modern methods of farming electrically, 25 veteran farmers were taken on a tour of three outstanding farms Wednesday.

The veteran farmers, who are receiving instruction on farm training, along with their instructors, K. King McCreary and E. Earl McElhany and James C. Fink, supervisor, inspected many installations of farm equipment which make the farmers' work easier and more profitable. The tour was sponsored by Pennsylvania Power Company and was under the direction of W. E. Gross, the company's rural sales supervisor.

Stop Near Enon Valley

First stop for the group was at the farm owned by James and Francis McChesney, at Enon Valley, R. D. 1. Principal product of this farm is milk, and the labor and timesaving electrical equipment used in its production were of particular interest. Cleaning the stable, always an unpleasant task, is now done quickly and efficiently simply by pressing a button. Modern methods of mow-curing hay were also explained to the veterans, as well as barn ventilation and milkhouse water heating.

At the dairy barn of Floyd Byers, Petersburg R .D. 1, another type of stable cleaner was demonstrated. Here a study of barn ventilation was explained to show how air distribution by fans can reduce sickness in cows and increase production. The modern dairy with its separators, pasteurizers and bottler was viewed, as well as electrically-operate milk coolers and elevators.

Lunch Is Served

Lunch for the group was served at the service building of Pennsylvania Power and, it was followed by a few remarks by L. B. Round, president of the company. Mr. Round pointed out that 96 per cent of all the farms in the area now have electric service. He further emphasized that because of this service the farmer can now enjoy all the comforts and conveniences that used to be exclusive with city dwellers.

Next, Virginia Pierson, company home service supervisor, showed the men how electricity has also made things easier for the farm wife. With a short demonstration of electric cooking and the many advantages of this method were dramatically shown.

Last stop was at the Chadwick Dean and Son farm at New Castle R. D. 6. At this poultry farm methods of increasing profits through the use of electricity were again brought to their attention. Radiant heat brooding as well as conventional electric brooding, poultry house ventilation and watering were some of the electric applications which were of particular interest.

This ended another part in the education of the men who have decided to continue in the nation's most necessary vocation—farming.

Legislator Says Governor Should Have Been Impeached

(BULLETIN)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. May 4.—(INS)—A Missouri Republican legislator said today that Gov. Forrest Smith should be impeached if he was told last year of the demoralization of the Kansas City police force and failed to take action.

Rep. W. D. Cruce of Cedar County, an outspoken critic of the Democratic Smith administration, made the statement as varied reports on the relationship of slain Democratic chieftain Charles Binaggio and Gov. Smith circulated through Jefferson City.

Cruce, the GOP floor leader in the Missouri House of Representatives, said:

"If reports are true that two members of the police board (Hampton S. Chambers and R. Robert Cohn) told the governor last summer about conditions in Kansas City, he has been lax in his duties.

"I think it provides grounds for impeachment proceedings.

"On the basis of these reports, I would institute impeachment proceedings against the governor if the general assembly were in session."

The president asserted:

"The United States will support the United Nations as long as I am in the White House."

The president said that, while he and Mr. Hoover disagree completely on the United Nations, they are fast friends.

Mr. Truman again asserted that the Marshall plan is what he described in his own words as the best means of fighting the cold war.

He reminded his news conference:

"It's much cheaper than a shooting war."

The president took issue with the Democratic chairman of the senate armed services committee, Sen. Millard F. Tydings of Maryland, who said yesterday that it would be "remarkable" if the United States did not get into a shooting war with Russia.

The president said:

"I think the senator is unduly alarmed. The situation is not anywhere near as bad as it was in 1946. I think the situation is improving."

Generals Lee, Jackson and Johnston, famous generals in the Civil War, were born in the state of Virginia.

nection with the visit the recent emphasis which the Russians have placed on statements both by the late Nikolai Lenin and Premier Stalin that there is a possibility for a prolonged peaceful co-existence of the Socialist and Capitalist system in the world.

This thesis often has been referred to as a fundamental of Soviet foreign policy.

Lie said at a news conference in Paris yesterday when he confirmed that he would journey to Moscow that if Premier Stalin is at the Klemlin he will try to see the Soviet head of state.

PROSECUTION IN COLLEGE STUDENT'S TRIAL TO REST

Pat Keenan, an operating engineer for a construction firm who was on duty the night of November 12 at a sewage disposal plant project described Beer's condition when the youth sought refuge in a tool shed.

Had Been Drinking

Keenan told the 10 women and two men on the Franklin county common pleas court jury in Columbus that when Heer knocked on the door of the office "I knew right away he had been drinking."

"Was he drunk?" Bigger asked.

"I think you would say he was," Keenan answered.

"Could you smell his breath?" was the defense attorney's next question.

"It would like to knock me down," the witness answered flatly.

The witness quoted Heer as telling the state highway patrol on the telephone:

"When you come out, I want you to bring a tommy gun. When you get here I'm going to run and I want you to shoot me."

Keenan explained that Heer was sobbing and nervous when he talked on the telephone.

sians it is none of their business what bases the United States is constructing or improving in Japan or on Okinawa in the Ryukyu islands.

He informed the Soviets also that he is entirely within his rights in maintaining these bases in a state of utmost preparedness.

Referring to the insinuation in Derevyanko's letter that the United States is making the former Japanese bases "permanent", MacArthur wrote:

"Future conditions after the post-surrender period are quite beyond the purview either of this headquarters or the Soviet member of the allied council for Japan.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—President Truman again indicated his opinion of Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., by stating that nothing that the senator said was worthy of comment.

Mr. Truman made his remark in biting tones at his news conference when he was asked for comment on McCarthy's recent assertion that Gen. George C Marshall, wartime chief of staff, was "pathetic as secretary of state".

The chief executive replied that he simply had no comment on anything McCarthy might say, except to state that nothing he said was worthy of comment.

At his news conference two weeks ago, Mr. Truman responded to another inquiry concerning McCarthy by question whether it was possible to libel the senator.

little encouragement to the Lie mission.

The Albanian and Bulgarian government sent a note to U. N. headquarters bluntly rejecting the 1949 General Assembly's resolution asking the two cominform lands to desist from aiding Greek guerrillas and to forbid them the use of their territories as an operational base against Greece.

Will Not Comply

The communication makes it clear neither Albania nor Bulgaria intends to comply with U. N. edicts. They charged that assembly resolutions are being used "by certain great powers as a means of pressure and political blackmail against Balkan peoples democracies."

Defiance of U. N. was evident also in failure of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania to appoint representatives to the Allied Treaty commission for investigating human rights violations of the peace treaties. This includes the Budapest trial and imprisonment of Josey Cardinal Mindszenty.

The three Balkan states had 30 days to make appointments in accordance with a ruling by the International Court of Justice. The court is now expected to give the green light to U. N. itself to appoint representatives for the three cominform lands, thus enabling the United States and Britain to proceed with their investigation into alleged treaty infractions.

THE THIN BLUE LINE

There were two days in late October, 1944, when the fate of the whole island-hopping campaign in the Pacific hung in precarious balance. North and east of the Philippines Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet was trying to make contact with a Jap striking force.

South and west of Leyte Gulf, where a huge amphibious force was frantically shoving an army and its supplies ashore, another Jap fleet was snaking up through the straits. There was nothing between it and the virtually defenseless school of fat transports and landing craft save Admiral Tom Kinkaid's rather thin line of destroyers and heavier units.

Admiral Kinkaid weighed the chances of the helpless fleet in the gulf, the enemy force to the north, the one to the south, and ordered his unit commanders to pull out and get working on the Japs. Work on them they did.

In Surigao Strait, a force of old battleships "crossed the T" on the Japs, sank most of them, and sent the rest packing. It can truthfully be said that Admiral Tom Kinkaid saved the Philippines campaign.

The other day Tommy Kinkaid walked down the gangway of the carrier Enterprise as he had many times during the war years when the Big E was his flagship. This time, however, the Enterprise was a somnolent hulk—an inactive ship—and under the admiral's arm was his four star flag.

Of all the wartime naval commanders whose names were household words he was the last to haul down his flag. He retired after turning over his last command, Atlantic Reserve Fleet and Eastern Sea Frontier, to another flag officer.

The blue line of flag officers, studded with names like Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher, McCain, and others, has been thinning, both from retirement and death, ever since the Navy pulled in its picket ships and sailed home in 1945. Less familiar names are taking their places. Carrier warfare, which all of these officers helped develop, is at the crossroads.

All this may or may not have flashed through the mind of the admiral as he took his final salute from the officer of the deck and crossed the gangway. He left with a gun crashing out a 17-gun salute from the carrier's stern and the thanks of a grateful nation ringing in his ears.

SAFER WITHOUT HIM

A situation that Americans found hard to understand has been ended by Premier Bidault's decision to dismiss Dr. Frederic Joliot-Curie from his post as head of the French Atomic Energy Commission. It has seemed incongruous that an avowed and fervent communist should be kept in a position of this kind.

The French have been exploring the peacetime potentialities of atomic energy, it is true. But it is not always easy to draw a clear line between military and nonmilitary research. Discoveries may be made in one department that bear on problems workers in the other are trying to solve.

Dr. Joliot-Curie discussed his position on April 5. He said:

"Never will progressive scientists, never will communist scientists give a particle of their knowledge for a war against the Soviet Union. And we will stand fast, upheld by our conviction that by so doing we are serving France and all humanity."

The French government has a right to any knowledge its researchers bring to light including any knowledge of military value. It is entitled to doubt the loyalty of any person who questions that right. France is safer with Joliot-Curie out of the government laboratories. He should never have been permitted in them for a single day.

A PATTERN FOR AMERICA

Recently several critics have contended that Benjamin Franklin's contributions to science were trivial and of no lasting benefit. These would not be remembered today, they declare, if Franklin hadn't been a political big shot who gained great prominence because of his position in the American colonies.

Franklin is credited with discovering electricity through his kite-flying experiment. He contended that all matter there is an "electrical fluid" or "fire," and it has been held that this was the beginning of the development of electricity which has since amazed the world.

Without his scientific honors Franklin would still live forever in the history of this nation because of his deep and well-founded philosophies concerning government as it affects the lives of the people. After nearly 200 years his teachings are as valid as ever.

"They that can give up essential liberties to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety," he said. "God helps them that help themselves" could be the answer to present-day "gimmes" who look for checks from the government. And the administration might ponder "he that goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing."

Hawaiians, we read, have no word for weather. But they sure would invent one in a hurry if they experienced one of our unseasonable mid-spring snow flurries.

Labor Government's Close Call

Winston Churchill's "war of attrition" against Great Britain's Labor government took on a clearer pattern today by the incumbent regime's latest narrow escape from defeat in the House of Commons. The incident occurred on a more or less minor point at issue during routine debate.

When a vote was called on a resolution calling for a reduction in the salary of Transport Minister Alfred Barnes, the tally gave a 278 to 278 tie.

But inasmuch as the house was sitting as a committee of the whole, the chairman of the Ways and Means committee was entitled to cast the deciding vote.

Staved Off Defeat

That staved off the defeat. A vote of non-confidence on such a small issue might not have compelled Prime Minister Clement Richard Attlee to resign. But it would have weakened an already precarious position.

What the narrow escape did more than anything else was to drive home once again to the Laborites the absolute necessity for being on hand in the house at any time that a vote of "division" might be called, no matter how important other outside business might be.

There is no overtime pay in the House of Commons, despite the fact that many members are trade unionists.

And inasmuch as few can subsist upon the member's salary of $2,800 a year, most of the Laborites at least take advantage of the privilege of holding outside jobs or conducting their own businesses.

The only proviso is that such employment must not be connected or involved in any way with government contracts or with any undertakings which concern their own parliamentary duties.

Many Conservatives, on the other hand, either have independent incomes or family connections that do not make it necessary to be working at 9 o'clock in the morning after a long, gruelling night session of Parliament.

Under Handicap

Labor, therefore, is under an admitted handicap and the Conservative high command knows it.

Political observers therefore are asking, somewhat jocularly of course, how long Labor can stand the suspense of knowing that their jobs might come to an end at any moment, plus the responsibility of being on call any hour of the day or night when a summons comes from the chief whip or his subordinates.

These same observers, however, remain convinced that Churchill does not want to force a general election right now because of his best advisers feel sure the Laborites would win again by a narrow margin.

Churchill himself summed up the situation recently when he said that government and opposition are playing a "cat and mouse" game.

He added that it was sometimes difficult to tell who was cat and who was mouse.

Test of Endurance

But the present test of endurance is clearly what was expected when the votes were counted after the last election and what first looked like a sizeable Socialist victory turned out to be one of the closest squeaks in modern political history.

The best indications are that present tactics will continue from now until fall, at which time the Conservatives hope to be in a position to prove to the British people that continuation of present conditions will be ruinous.

Churchill and his Conservative party, only a few votes behind Labor in the over-all picture, can delay any major legislation and jangled tattered nerves with resolutions and amendments, any one of which might be the making of a Labor disaster.

In British politics there is no mercy, any more than there is in any other democratic country.

Churchill is convinced that continued socialization will mean the bankruptcy of Britain and he has pledged the utmost of his resources to unseat Labor at a time best suited to the country.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN SHOULD SHARE HOME DUTIES

Yesterday we said that some requirements are necessary for teaching the child (over five or six) to share properly in the drudgeries and duties about the home. Today we shall consider a working program.

First of all, let no one suppose that we parents should not always do our utmost through reasonable measures to win the child to want to share in the duties of the home. The less often we need to resort to requirements the better. But the point we have hammered on is that we hardly can hope to get desired results without resorting to some requirements.

Many parents begin to assign regular chores to the child far too early and their assignments are unreasonable. Put emphasis first, especially during the pre-school years, on inducing the child to take care of himself physically and to grow more and more independent emotionally. Help him gain pleasure early from feeding himself, dressing himself and doing many other things for himself as soon as he is able to do so. In his early years, let him help you about the house with the things he likes to do, even when it takes much of your time and patience. Let him help when his doing so gives him a feeling of being big and important. Just don't fool yourself to believe he will choose to do all such things when he is eight or ten.

When you can win him to do some regular job daily, such as emptying a waste basket, putting out the milk bottles or caring for a pet, do your best to help him following this practice for a good long while. When you are sure you should begin to assign him a regular job, it is best to choose one which he has not done voluntarily for some days, lest you discourage him in further voluntary responsibility. Always be most generous with approval when your child at five, ten or fourteen chooses of his own accord to help you. Ask of an assigned job how surely he does it without being told to do it. So long as you must tell him each time when to do the job or keep telling him repeatedly till he does it, he is not learning till he does it, he is not learning responsibility, he he merely a robot. It is better for a child at six or seven to do dependably a single regular job each day wholly under his own supervision than to do twenty jobs as a robot, or just to have to wait around to be told what to do next.

Often it is better to cut down the number of assigned jobs to one or two until each is truly accepted as a responsibility.

Rule out all jawing and arguing. Set the job so there can be no doubt and no escape from it. If penalties are necessary make them effective—deprivation of a cherished privilege or having to sit unamused for half an hour or so. (My bulletin, "How To Teach Child To Help at Home" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N.Y.

State Police Say:

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

(By International News Service)

We are happy to welcome Prime Minister Ali Khan of Pakistan.

But this is the second important visitor recently to claim he doesn't want anything except to have a good time...This is obviously sabotaging our foreign gift and loan department.

If we get many more of these people walking in here and saying they don't want anything it may become necessary to give the taxpayers their money back and so disrupt our whole artificial economy.

We event sent a plane to London for this fellow, thinking that a touch of our plain democratic official swank would show him that we got the stuff to spend but he keeps saying "I just want to see Times Square at night".

This is discouraging to a people who have grown accustomed to seeing visitors leave with their pockets scraping on the ground.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR?

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

La Follette Watches McCarthyism

WASHINGTON, May 4.—There is one man here in Washington who has watched the development of McCarthyism with a special interest. He is Robert M. La Follette Jr., who was defeated by Senator McCarthy in the Republican primary just four years ago.

Completing his third full term in the Senate, La Follette was in the midst of a strenuous and exacting effort to put across the Congressional Reorganization Act. Teamed up with Representative Mike Monroney in the House, the senator from Wisconsin was concentrating all his energies on achieving a step forward in government efficiency.

Friends had warned him that he was in trouble in Wisconsin. McCarthy, using his judgeship as a convenient means of getting around the state, had been campaigning strenuously for many months.

But also there was thunder on the left. For a year or more the communists and their fellow travelers in Wisconsin had been attacking and smearing La Follette. They were in control at that point of certain unions in Milwaukee and other Wisconsin cities.

Their hatred of La Follette had at least two strong motives. For one thing he had dared to question the sincerity and the intentions of the Soviet Union in its relations with the United States and the West. That, remember, was when the influence of the wartime alliance was still strong and official policy was to do everything to "get along" with Russia in peacetime.

But a deeper reason was even more compelling. La Follette stood for what communism hates and fears most—a progressive and reasonable solution for social and economic ills. This has been illustrated over and over again both in Europe and America. It is the Social Democrats and the progressives on whom the communists direct their most virulent attack.

For Progressive Change

From the beginning of the career of the younger La Follette's father, "Fighting Bob", the La Follettes had worked had worked for progressive change. They had made Wisconsin a laboratory for pioneer experiments in the kind of social legislation generally accepted today.

But this course had won the La Follettes the enmity of the extreme right, too. So, four years ago you had a fascinating example of the two extremes both wroking to destroy a valuable public servant.

There have been published reports that the Democratic high command joined in this effort. The report, denied by Democratic headquarters, is that in the primary race $10,000 was secretly sent by the Democrats to help McCarthy. This, if it was in fact done, was in the conviction that McCarthy would be a much easier target in the November election for defeat by the Democrats.

The Democratic candidate was Prof. Howard J. McMurray, who had served one term in Congress.

They Say

NEW YORK—J. Edgar Hoover, speaking of communist fellow travelers: "They practice their double-dealing, double-minded, double-tongued and double-faced tactics on all fronts of our American life."

WASHINGTON—John Maragon, former White House intimate, after he was sentenced to prison: "I'm going home to take a hot bath and a couple of sleeping pills and go to bed."

WASHINGTON — Owen Lattimore in senate testimony: "Unlike Budenz and Utley, I have never been a member of the Communist party, or subscribed to a conspiracy to overthrow and subvert established governments."

BOSTON—CIO President Philip Murray: "As for as communists go, they are no damn good."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Harold Peary, famous for his portrayal of the Great Gildersleeve on screen and radio, was invited to a dance at a home for deaf and dumb people. Anxious to show he was a good mixer, he made signs with his hands that he wanted to dance with a sweet looking young lady who was standing in the corner. She nodded acquiescence, and they soon were whirling around the floor.

"I had heard," confesses Peary, "that deaf and dumb people were able to follow music through vibrations and tried to do likewise without listening to the music. After the dance we both were applauding when a fellow tapped the girl on the shoulder, and said, 'How's about the next dance, honey?' 'I'm afraid I can't,' said my partner. 'Looks like I'm stuck with this fat little guy'."

The late Hal Sims was stuck with a terrible partner in a so-called friendly bridge game at his publisher's home one evening. After butchering a hand that should have meant rubber, he asked Sims: "How would you have played that last hand of mine?" Sims answered bitterly, "Under an assumed name."

RAIN

It is folly to complain
On the day that brings rain.
For the pleasures it denies
Health and beauty rain supplies.
For the plans deferred will be
Blossoms on the cherry tree.

Rain is nature's food and drink
For the roses, white and pink.
Green of grass and gold of grain.
Would be lost without the rain
If the rain should cease to fall
Hunger would destroy us all.

All that's lovely; song and mirth;
All that beautifies the earth;
All in which a man believes;
Everything which he achieves;
Goals he visions, hopes to gain
Are dependent on the rain.

DOLLARS AND ACNE

Acne is the ten dollar name for pimples. Pimples are the bane of teenagers.

No one knows what causes them and it seems as though no one knows how to cure them.

Salves and powders and lotions and soaps and pills do not help much.

Granddad's face is smooth as silk, but he had pimples when he was sixteen. He didn't do very much about it and they went away after a while. He says that if you fuss too much they will leave scars.

Primary Election Signs

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Truman has suffered a crushing defeat in Florida and his supporters have failed to break the hold of southern State Righters on Alabama.

On the basis of returns from these two states, it appears that southern Democrats are pressing anew their revolt against the Democratic President and that they will openly oppose Mr. Truman's renomination in 1952.

Major Refutation Of Policies

The victory in Florida of Rep. George Smathers, who campaigned as a Knight of Free Enterprise, over the veteran New Dealer Sen. Claude Pepper represents a major refutation of Truman policies.

Alabama foes of the President are encouraged by their apparent success in the fight to retain control of state Democratic party machinery, even though the margin is narrow.

Sen. Lister Hill, who won renomination in Alabama as a Truman "Loyalist," tempered his allegiance to the President by refusing support of the administration Fair Employment Practices program and other measures opposed by States Righters.

The defeat of Pepper by Smathers brings an avowed enemy of the administration into the Senate next January.

The major issue raised by the 36-year-old Smathers against Pepper, a Senator for 14 years, was the President's National Health Insurance Plan, which Pepper endorsed and Smathers condemned as nationalized medicine.

Jubilant In Ohio

In Ohio, where Sen. Robert A. Taft—"Mr. Republican"—was unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination, Republicans were jubilant over the huge complimentary vote given Taft, one of Mr. Truman's most formidable political enemies.

Joseph T. Ferguson, now in his fourth term as state auditor, beat out six other Democrats for the right to oppose Taft in the November election.

In Indiana, it will take several days to determine who has won the Democratic nomination to oppose Sen. Homer Capehart, the Republican incumbent, in November.

Ten of the 11 incumbent Hoosier representatives in Congress were safely renominated and the seventh, Mrs. Cecil Harden, Republican, of Covington, had a slight lead over her opponent, awaiting complete count. Four of the 11 had no opposition.

Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson declared the results in Florida, where Smathers' nomination is tantamount to election, confirms that "voters everywhere are turning toward the principles for which the Republican party has been fighting, and against the Socialism of President Truman's "'Fair Deal'."

Probe American Plan

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I wish the Committee for the Investigation of Un-American Activities would stop whatever it's doing and investigate the American Plan.

The man who thought up the American Plan, which calls for an inclusive price for room and three meals, is long dead, I am quite sure. But there must be scads of his descendants still about who should be persecuted to the hilt.

If you run across anyone named American Plan Jr., or American Plan, the Third, or Mary Elizabeth American Plan, cut them dead on the street. That family has done this country no service.

It was our idea to spend our vacation seeing various parts of this country this summer. We wanted to see bears turn over garbage cans in Yellowstone Park, check on the faithfulness of Old Faithful, dynamite a few fish in Michigan's crystal waters, and eat ourselves a mess of salt water taffy at Atlantic City.

Going Back To Europe

But we're going back to Europe, simply because every resort hotel we wrote to offered us nothing but the American Plan.

The American Plan is a vicious thing. You get your food much cheaper on the American Plan, and that is very tempting when your vacation budget is always your next year's emergency fund. By using the American Plan you can usually save enough to buy balsam pillows, beaded moccasins, pennants, and all the other things a vacationist must bring home to show where he has been.

On the other hand, to use the American Plan makes of a vacation a rat race to the dining room. You can't enjoy golf, swimming, tennis or mixed croquet doubles for fear you'll be late to the chow line.

Be late and you can be positive that all the choice items on the menu are gone, devoured by the fleeter-footed guests who beat you in there. Few of us can stand this with equanimity. We know that we are paying just as much as the early birds, and it gives us indigestion to have to eat the second choices.

Never Follows Schedule

I have yet to see a resort hotel operated on the American Plan whose breakfast, lunch, and dinner hours you could put any faith in. Dinner is advertised as taking place from 6 to 8, which would indicate even to a second grader that you could go in anytime between those hours and get your dinner.

But 6 to 8, under the American Plan, means 6 to a teeny weeny bit after 7. Go in at 7:30 and the stares you get will be as cold as the food. The waitresses are in one corner, eating, the tables in the back are already stacked and the lights are dimmed. You have a feeling that you are likely to get whacked back of the ear with a canoe paddle at any moment.

You get to gulping your food so fast that you get indigestion all over again.

The only way to have any peace of mind on the American Plan is to pick out a chair in the lobby right near the dining room door and spend your time sitting in it while you are not in the dining room—and wear spiked shoes, too.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You probably have never given much thought to the psychology of a bottle of soda water.

Do, some time. It's interesting. You open the bottle.

Swishshshsh—it's full of effervescence and pep. It's full of what the French call joie de vivre—love of life. It livens up your drink. It bubbles and sparkles.

After a while it becomes less ambitious. The bubbles are still there, but it has gotten kind of flat.

The sparkling soda has deteriorated into nothing but tepid water.

That is the psychology of soda water, and that is the psychology of a whole lot of people.

A man I know reminds me very much of a bottle of soda water.

Right now the poor fellow is home, sick in bed.

He has a virus infection, and the doctor has told him to stay in bed and rest. He must not have any company.

It's one of those ailments where you aren't exactly sick and you aren't exactly well.

It's miserable. I've had it, I know. You've probably had it, so you know.

This fellow is the life of the party when he is well.

He swishshshshes and sparkles and bubbles when he gets started.

He laughs and tells jokes and dances and brightens up the dullest affair. The women just love him—when the party starts.

Then he has a few drinks. He gets a bit silly. He becomes amorous. His stories get more risque with every drink.

Finally, he becomes flat and tepid just like what's left in the bottle of soda water.

Usually he finds a convenient couch and goes to sleep. Sometimes a friend puts him into a cab and sends him home.

THE THIN BLUE LINE

There were two days in late October, 1944, when the fate of the whole island-hopping campaign in the Pacific hung in precarious balance. North and east of the Philippines Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet was trying to make contact with a Jap striking force.

South and west of Leyte Gulf, where a huge amphibious force was frantically shoving an army and its supplies ashore, another Jap fleet was snaking up through the straits. There was nothing between it and the virtually defenseless school of fat transports and landing craft save Admiral Tom Kinkaid's rather thin line of destroyers and heavier units.

Admiral Kinkaid weighed the chances of the helpless fleet in the gulf, the enemy force to the north, the one to the south, and ordered his unit commanders to pull out and get working on the Japs. Work on them they did.

In Surigao Strait, a force of old battleships "crossed the T" on the Japs, sank most of them, and sent the rest packing. It can truthfully be said that Admiral Tom Kinkaid saved the Philippines campaign.

The other day Tommy Kinkaid walked down the gangway of the carrier Enterprise as he had many times during the war years when the Big E was his flagship. This time, however, the Enterprise was a somnolent hulk—an inactive ship—and under the admiral's arm was his four star flag.

Of all the wartime naval commanders whose names were household words he was the last to haul down his flag. He retired after turning over his last command, Atlantic Reserve Fleet and Eastern Sea Frontier, to another flag officer.

The blue line of flag officers, studded with names like Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher, McCain, and others, has been thinning, both from retirement and death, ever since the Navy pulled in its picket ships and sailed home in 1945. Less familiar names are taking their places. Carrier warfare, which all of these officers helped develop, is at the crossroads.

All this may or may not have flashed through the mind of the admiral as he took his final salute from the officer of the deck and crossed the gangway. He left with a gun crashing out a 17-gun salute from the carrier's stern and the thanks of a grateful nation ringing in his ears.

SAFER WITHOUT HIM

A situation that Americans found hard to understand has been ended by Premier Bidault's decision to dismiss Dr. Frederic Joliot-Curie from his post as head of the French Atomic Energy Commission. It has seemed incongruous that an avowed and fervent communist should be kept in a position of this kind.

The French have been exploring the peacetime potentialities of atomic energy, it is true. But it is not always easy to draw a clear line between military and non-military research. Discoveries may be made in one department that bear on problems workers in the other are trying to solve.

Dr. Joliot-Curie discussed his position on April 5. He said:

"Never will progressive scientists, never will communist scientists give a particle of their knowledge for a war against the Soviet Union. And we will stand fast, upheld by our conviction that by so doing we are serving France and all humanity."

The French government has a right to any knowledge its researchers bring to light including any knowledge of military value. It is entitled to doubt the loyalty of any person who questions that right. France is safer with Joliot-Curie out of the government laboratories. He should never have been permitted in them for a single day.

A PATTERN FOR AMERICA

Recently several critics have contended that Benjamin Franklin's contributions to science were trivial and of no lasting benefit. These would not be remembered today, they declare, if Franklin hadn't been a political big shot who gained great prominence because of his position in the American colonies.

Franklin is credited with discovering electricity through his kite-flying experiment. He contended that all matter there is an "electrical fluid" or "fire," and it has been held that this was the beginning of the development of electricity which has since amazed the world.

Without his scientific honors Franklin would still live forever in the history of this nation because of his deep and well-founded philosophies concerning government as it affects the lives of the people. After nearly 200 years his teachings are as valid as ever.

"They that can give up essential liberties to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety," he said. "God helps them that help themselves" could be the answer to present-day "gimms" who look for checks from the government. And the administration might ponder "he that goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing."

Hawaiians, we read, have no word for weather. But they sure would invent one in a hurry if they experienced one of our unseasonable mid-spring snow flurries.

Labor Government's Close Call

Winston Churchill's "war of attrition" against Great Britain's Labor government took on a clearer pattern today by the incumbent regime's latest narrow escape from defeat in the House of Commons. The incident occurred on a more or less minor point at issue during routine debate.

When a vote was called on a resolution calling for a reduction in the salary of Transport Minister Alfred Barnes, the tally gave a 278 to 278 tie.

But inasmuch as the house was sitting as a committee of the whole, the chairman of the Ways and Means committee was entitled to cast the deciding vote.

Staved Off Defeat

That staved off the defeat. A vote of non-confidence on such a small issue might not have compelled Prime Minister Clement Richard Attlee to resign. But it would have weakened an already precarious position.

What the narrow escape did more than anything else was to drive home once again to the Laborites the absolute necessity for being on hand in the house at any time that a vote of "division" might be called, no matter how important other outside business might be.

There is no overtime pay in the House of Commons, despite the fact that many members are trade unionists.

And inasmuch as few can subsist upon the member's salary of $2,800 a year, most of the Laborites at least take advantage of the privilege of holding outside jobs or conducting their own businesses.

The only proviso is that such employment must not be connected or involved in any way with government contracts or with any undertakings which concern their own parliamentary duties.

Many Conservatives, on the other hand, either have independent incomes or family connections that do not make it necessary to be working at 9 o'clock in the morning after a long, gruelling night session of Parliament.

Under Handicap

Labor, therefore, is under an admitted handicap and the Conservative high command knows it.

Political observers therefore are asking, somewhat jocularly of course, how long Labor can stand the suspense of knowing that their jobs might come to an end at any moment, plus the responsibility of being on call any hour of the day or night when a summons comes from the chief whip or his subordinates.

These same observers, however, remain convinced that Churchill does not want to force a general election right now because of his best advisers feel sure the Laborites would win again by a narrow margin.

Churchill himself summed up the situation recently when he said that government and opposition are playing a "cat and mouse" game.

He added that it was sometimes difficult to tell who was cat and who was mouse.

Test of Endurance

But the present test of endurance is clearly what was expected when the votes were counted after the last election and what first looked like a sizeable Socialist victory turned out to be one of the closest squeaks in modern political history.

The best indications are that present tactics will continue from now until fall, at which time the Conservatives hope to be in a position to prove to the British people that continuation of present conditions will be ruinous.

Churchill and his Conservative party, only a few votes behind Labor in the over-all picture, can delay any major legislation and jangled tattered nerves with resolutions and amendments, any one of which might be the making of a Labor disaster.

In British politics there is no mercy, any more than there is in any other democratic country.

Churchill is convinced that continued socialization will mean the bankruptcy of Britain and he has pledged the utmost of his resources to unseat Labor at a time best suited to the country.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN SHOULD SHARE HOME DUTIES

Yesterday we said that some requirements are necessary for teaching the child (over five or six) to share properly in the drudgeries and duties about the home. Today we shall consider a working program.

First of all, let no one suppose that we parents should not always do our utmost through reasonable measures to win the child to want to share in the duties of the home. The less often we need to resort to requirements the better. But the point we have hammered on is that we hardly can hope to get desired results without resorting to some requirements.

Many parents begin to assign regular chores to the child far too early and their assignments are unreasonable. Put emphasis first, especially during the pre-school years, on inducing the child to take care of himself physically and to grow more and more independent emotionally. Help him gain pleasure early from feeding himself, dressing himself and doing many other things for himself as soon as he is able to do so. In his early years, let him help you about the house with the things he likes to do, even when it takes much of your time and patience. Let him help when his doing so gives him a feeling of being big and important. Just don't fool yourself to believe he will choose to do all such things when he is eight or ten.

When you can win him to do some regular job daily, such as emptying a waste basket, putting out the milk bottles or caring for a pet, do your best to help him following this practice for a good long while. When you are sure you should begin to assign him a regular job, it is best to choose one which he has not done voluntarily for some days, lest you discourage him in further voluntary responsibility. Always be most generous with approval when your child at five, ten or fourteen chooses of him own accord to help you. Ask of an assigned job how surely he does it without being told to do it. So long as you must tell him each time when to do the job or keep telling him repeatedly till he does it, he is not learning till he does it, he is not learning responsibility, he he merely a robot. It is better for a child at six or seven to do dependably a single regular job each day wholly under his own supervision than to do twenty jobs as a robot, or just to have to wait around to be told what to do next.

Often it is better to cut down the number of assigned jobs to one or two until each is truly accepted as a responsibility.

Rule out all jawing and arguing. Set the job so there can be no doubt and no escape from it. If penalties are necessary make them effective—deprivation of a cherished privilege or having to sit unamused for half an hour or so. State Police Say:

Many a career is ended by some thoughtless mistake in traffic. It doesn't take much—maybe a few inches over the center line of the highway, a right or left turn just a second too soon, a few miles an hour above safe speed, a confusing signal or none at all when turning from a line of traffic. Any of these mistakes can crush out a life in the twinkling of an eye.

One Man's Opinion

(By International News Service)

We are happy to welcome Prime Minister Ali Khan of Pakistan.

But this is the second important visitor recently to claim he doesn't want anything except to have a good time...This is obviously sabotaging our foreign gift and loan department.

If we get many more of these people walking in here and saying they don't want anything it may become necessary to give the taxpayers their money back and so disrupt our whole artificial economy.

We event sent a plane to London for this fellow, thinking that a touch of our plain democratic official swank would show him that we got the stuff to spend but he keeps saying "I just want to see Times Square at night".

This is discouraging to a people who have grown accustomed to seeing visitors leave with their pockets scraping on the ground.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR?

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

La Follette Watches McCarthyism

WASHINGTON, May 4.—There is one man here in Washington who has watched the development of McCarthyism with a special interest. He is Robert M. La Follette Jr., who was defeated by Senator McCarthy in the Republican primary just four years ago.

Completing his third full term in the Senate, La Follette was in the midst of a strenuous and exacting effort to put across the Congressional Reorganization Act. Teamed up with Representative Mike Monroney in the House, the senator from Wisconsin was concentrating all his energies on achieving a step forward in government efficiency.

Friends had warned him that he was in trouble in Wisconsin. McCarthy, using his judgeship as a convenient means of getting around the state, had been campaigning strenuously for many months.

But also there was thunder on the left. For a year or more the communists and their fellow travelers in Wisconsin had been attacking and smearing La Follette. They were in control at that point of certain unions in Milwaukee and other Wisconsin cities.

Their hatred of La Follette had at least two strong motives. For one thing he had dared to question the sincerity and the intentions of the Soviet Union in its relations with the United States and the West. That, remember, was when the influence of the wartime alliance was still strong and official policy was to do everything to "get along" with Russia in peacetime.

But a deeper reason was even more compelling. La Follette stood for what communism hates and fears most—a progressive and reasonable solution for social and economic ills. This has been illustrated over and over again both in Europe and America. It is the Social Democrats and the progressives on whom the communists direct their most virulent attack.

For Progressive Change

From the beginning of the career of the younger La Follette's father, "Fighting Bob", the La Follettes had worked had worked for progressive change. They had made Wisconsin a laboratory for pioneer experiments in the kind of social legislation generally accepted today.

But this course had won the La Follettes the enmity of the extreme right, too. So, four years ago you had a fascinating example of the two extremes both wroking to destroy a valuable public servant.

There have been published reports that the Democratic high command joined in this effort. The report, denied by Democratic headquarters, is that in the primary race $10,000 was secretly sent by the Democrats to help McCarthy. This, if it was in fact done, was in the conviction that McCarthy would be a much easier target in the November election for defeat by the Democrats.

The Democratic candidate was Prof. Howard J. McMurray, who had served one term in Congress.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Harold Peary, famous for his portrayal of the Great Gildersleeve on screen and radio, was invited to a dance at a home for deaf and dumb people. Anxious to show he was a good mixer, he made signs with his hands that he wanted to dance with a sweet looking young lady who was standing in the corner. She nodded acquiescence, and they soon were whirling around the floor.

"I had heard," confesses Peary, "that deaf and dumb people were able to follow music through vibrations and tried to do likewise without listening to the music. After the dance we both were applauding when a fellow tapped the girl on the shoulder and said, 'How's about the next dance, honey?' 'I'm afraid I can't,' said my partner. 'Looks like I'm stuck with this fat little guy'."

The late Hal Sims was stuck with a terrible partner in a so-called friendly bridge game at his publisher's home one evening. After butchering a hand that should have meant rubber, he asked Sims: "How would you have played that last hand of mine?" Sims answered bitterly, "Under an assumed name."

RAIN

It is folly to complain
On the day that brings rain.
For the pleasures it denies
Health and beauty rain supplies.
For the plans deferred will be
Blossoms on the cherry tree.

Rain is nature's food and drink
For the roses, white and pink.
Green of grass and gold of grain.
Would be lost without the rain
If the rain should cease to fall
Hunger would destroy us all.

All that's lovely; song and mirth;
All that beautifies the earth;
All in which a man believes;
Everything which he achieves;
Goals he visions, hopes to gain
Are dependent on the rain.

DOLLARS AND ACNE

Acne is the ten dollar name for pimples. Pimples are the bane of teenagers.

No one knows what causes them and it seems as though no one knows how to cure them.

Salves and powders and lotions and soaps and pills do not help much.

Granddad's face is smooth as silk, but he had pimples when he was sixteen. He didn't do very much about it and they went away after a while. He says that if you fuss too much they will leave scars.

Primary Election Signs

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Truman has suffered a crushing defeat in Florida and his supporters have failed to break the hold of southern State Righters on Alabama.

On the basis of returns from these two states, it appears that southern Democrats are pressing anew their revolt against the Democratic President and that they will openly oppose Mr. Truman's renomination in 1952.

Major Refutation Of Policies

The victory in Florida of Rep. George Smathers, who campaigned as a Knight of Free Enterprise, over the veteran New Dealer Sen. Claude Pepper represents a major refutation of Truman policies.

Alabama foes of the President are encouraged by their apparent success in the fight to retain control of state Democratic party machinery, even though the margin is narrow.

Sen. Lister Hill, who won renomination in Alabama as a Truman "Loyalist," tempered his allegiance to the President by refusing support of the administration Fair Employment Practices program and other measures opposed by States Righters.

The defeat of Pepper by Smathers brings an avowed enemy of the administration into the Senate next January.

The major issue raised by the 36-year-old Smathers against Pepper, a Senator for 14 years, was the President's National Health Insurance Plan, which Pepper endorsed and Smathers condemned as nationalized medicine.

Jubilant In Ohio

In Ohio, where Sen. Robert A. Taft—"Mr. Republican"—was unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination, Republicans were jubilant over the huge complimentary vote given Taft, one of Mr. Truman's most formidable political enemies.

Joseph T. Ferguson, now in his fourth term as state auditor, beat out six other Democrats for the right to oppose Taft in the November election.

In Indiana, it will take several days to determine who has won the Democratic nomination to oppose Sen. Homer Capehart, the Republican incumbent, in November.

Ten of the 11 incumbent Hoosier representatives in Congress were safely renominated and the seventh, Mrs. Cecil Harden, Republican, of Covington, had a slight lead over her opponent, awaiting complete count. Four of the 11 had no opposition.

Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson declared the results in Florida, where Smathers' nomination is tantamount to election, confirms that "voters everywhere are turning toward the principles for which the Republican party has been fighting, and against the Socialism of President Truman's "'Fair Deal'."

Probe American Plan

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I wish the Committee for the Investigation of Un-American Activities would stop whatever it's doing and investigate the American Plan.

The man who thought up the American Plan, which calls for an inclusive price for room and three meals, is long dead, I am quite sure. But there must be scads of his descendants still about who should be persecuted to the hilt.

If you run across anyone named American Plan Jr., or American Plan, the Third, or Mary Elizabeth American Plan, cut them dead on the street. That family has done this country no service.

It was our idea to spend our vacation seeing various parts of this country this summer. We wanted to see bears turn over garbage cans in Yellowstone Park, check on the faithfulness of Old Faithful, dynamite a few fish in Michigan's crystal waters, and eat ourselves a mess of salt water taffy at Atlantic City.

Going Back To Europe

But we're going back to Europe, simply because every resort hotel we wrote to offered us nothing but the American Plan.

The American Plan is a vicious thing. You get your food much cheaper on the American Plan, and that is very tempting when your vacation budget is always your next year's emergency fund. By using the American Plan you can usually save enough to buy balsam pillows, beaded moccasins, pennants, and all the other things a vacationist must bring home to show where he has been.

On the other hand, to use the American Plan makes of a vacation a rat race to the dining room. You can't enjoy golf, swimming, tennis or mixed croquet doubles for fear you'll be late to the chow line.

Be late and you can be positive that all the choice items on the menu are gone, devoured by the fleeter-footed guests who beat you in there. Few of us can stand this with equanimity. We know that we are paying just as much as the early birds, and it gives us indigestion to have to eat the second choices.

Never Follows Schedule

I have yet to see a resort hotel operated on the American Plan whose breakfast, lunch, and dinner hours you could put any faith in. Dinner is advertised as taking place from 6 to 8, which would indicate even to a second grader that you could go in anytime between those hours and get your dinner.

But 6 to 8, under the American Plan, means 6 to a teeny weeny bit after 7. Go in at 7:30 and the stares you get will be as cold as the food. The waitresses are in one corner eating, the tables in the back are already stacked ,and the lights are dimmed. You have a feeling that you are likely to get whacked back of the ear with a canoe paddle at any moment.

You get to gulping your food so fast that you get indigestion all over again.

The only way to have any peace of mind on the American Plan is to pick out a chair in the lobby right near the dining room door and spend your time sitting in it while you are not in the dining room—and wear spiked shoes, too.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You probably have never given much thought to the psychology of a bottle of soda water.

Do, some time. It's interesting. You open the bottle.

Swishshshsh—it's full of effervescence and pep. It's full of what the French call joie de vivre—love of life. It livens up your drink. It bubbles and sparkles.

After a while it becomes less ambitious. The bubbles are still there, but it has gotten kind of flat.

The sparkling soda has deteriorated into nothing but tepid water.

That is the psychology of soda water, and that is the psychology of a whole lot of people.

A man I know reminds me very much of a bottle of soda water.

Right now the poor fellow is home, sick in bed.

He has a virus infection, and the doctor has told him to stay in bed and rest. He must not have any company.

It's one of those ailments where you aren't exactly sick and you aren't exactly well.

It's miserable. I've had it, I know. You've probably had it, so you know.

This fellow is the life of the party when he is well.

He swishshshshes and sparkles and bubbles when he gets started.

He laughs and tells jokes and dances and brightens up the dullest affair. The women just love him—when the party starts.

Then he has a few drinks. He gets a bit silly. He becomes amorous. His stories get more risque with every drink.

Finally, he becomes flat and tepid just like what's left in the bottle of soda water.

Usually he finds a convenient couch and goes to sleep. Sometimes a friend puts him into a cab and sends him home.

Old Woodshed Treatment

NEW YORK, May 4.—Never a day passes but some one of my friends, bringing up children in the steel and concrete canyons of New York, bewails the fact that city kids never know the joys of field and stream, lush meadows, country lanes and big back yards.

But they—the city parents—invariably fail to mention the one old-fashioned adjunct of childhood whose need is obviously imperative in this sprawling metropolis: a woodshed, well-equipped with assorted hickory or any other hard wood clubs.

It is one woman's opinion that a good stout dose of what grandma called "willow tea", served in the woodshed, would do more to discourage the disgraceful high school riots that have recently distinguished this fair city than all the other remedies suggested, including a sawed-off shotgun. (Although, thats' not a bad idea.)

If, in my teens in Boise, Idaho, I had ever been caught storming city hall with a mob, damaging property, overturning automobiles or roughing up a policeman, the minions of the law would never have had a chance to work me over with their own justice.

Elders Would Be There First

The elders in my clan would have gotten there first. There was a commodious woodshed prominently attached to the home place, and during my impressionable years I was certainly convinced that the storage of fuel was its secondary purpose.

Neither my mother, father, grandmother or great-grandma (a lady who crossed the plains in a covered wagon in her teens) ever were exposed to a book on child raising or child psychology.

My cousins and I were brought up by rule of thumb or else the whole hand, applied where it would do the most good.

For the benefit of any psychologist or psychiatrist in the house, discipline did not liquidate our spirits and leave us bent and broken twigs. The only busted twigs on the property were those used on us.

In fact, my cousins and I are such ornery, rugged individualists that we think able bodied men and women ought to be willing to work or starve, that opportunity is preferable to security, and that no home is complete without a woodshed. Also, that a few inhibitions won't do us any harm. But my amazement at the teen-agers' attack on city hall, property and police, is as nothing compared with my revulsion at the assault perpetrated by these high school students on the innocent horses beneath mounted police.

Attack Horses

During the high school riots, students have been apprehended committing battery upon horses with a dangerous, medieval weapon known as a hat-pin.

I was born on a cattle ranch and grew up in a rodeo community which is not yet certain the auto is here to stay. If I had been caught kicking a policeman, firing an auto or stoning city hall, my family might have saved me from authorities for clan vengeance in the woodshed.

But if I had been caught intimidating or inflicting malicious injury with a hat-pin on an inoffensive law-abiding horse, not even my family could have saved me from the vigilantes. Papa might have helped string me up.

I can remember the time old Daisy, the white horse, took a header into the irrigation ditch with me aboard. Papa yelled for mama to bring the liniment. She came running with the witch hazel and paps, a look of pained disgust on his face, bawled:

"No, Adah! For the horse!"

Certainly no horse, particularly a gentle police horse, should have to take cruel and unusual punishment from a batch of juvenile delinquents. I am about to write the police commissioner, suggesting that in the future all police horses be taught to jui jitsu in self protection.

A horse should at least be permitted to sink his teeth in trouble makers, or give them a good swift kick—depending on the facade under attack.

Furthermore, don't ask me to swallow this cock-and-bull story that teen-agers have been rioting to get their teachers a pay-raise. Who ever heard of prisoners striking in behalf of a hanging judge—or mutts organizing to save the poundmaster?

Weirton Plant To Resume Shortly

WEIRTON, W. Va., May 4.—(INS)—The electroplating division of the Weirton Steel company tin mill department will resume full operation by the end of the week.

The building housing Weirton high-speed electrolytic tin and zinc plating lines was swept by fire early Tuesday, President Thomas E. Millsop said. The new No. 4 electrolytic line, the fastest and largest of its type in the world, is scheduled to resume operation today, with the three other lines to be ready for operation within three or four days.

Meanwhile, all other departments of the tin mill are working at normal schedules.

No accurate estimate of the damage and production losses can be made until the plant has returned to normal operations, Millsop said. Yesterday damages from the blaze were said to be "several hundred thousand dollars".

Three Sentenced For Theft From Mail Cars

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(INS)—Three Pennsylvania Railroad employes were sent to federal prison Wednesday after pleading guilty to the theft of 150 cartons of cigarettes from mail cars in Philadelphia's Broad St. station.

The veteran employes drew two months' terms each. Charged with the thefts were: John D. Komar, 54, Paoli, an engineer with 30 years service; Clifford A. Jones, 50, Westville, N. J., an electrician with 28 years tenure, and Edward A. Reisenwitz, 51, Ambler, a car cleaner, 26 years service with the PRR.

WASHINGTON CALLING

McMurray at that point was saying the things about foreign policy that pleased the communists and their satellites.

It Was Too Late

In the closing days of the campaign La Follette came back to Wisconsin to try to recover lost ground. It was too late. He was defeated in the primary by about 5,900 votes.

That narrow margin may well have been supplied by the communists who went into Wisconsin's open primary to do a hatchet job. It was generally felt that without the efforts of the extreme left over a long period La Follette would not have been defeated.

While he has made no public statement, La Follette has watched the McCarthy spectacle with a growing feeling of the harm done to the nation and particularly to Wisconsin. After the defeat of four years ago he had felt that he was probably through with politics. He has been detained by several large corporations as a consultant in Washington and he is on the board of directors of the United Fruit Corporation.

May Run In 1952

But today La Follette is thinking about the possibility of running against McCarthy in 1952. He has reached no decision. The odds are perhaps against his return to active politics with all the sacrifices that this inevitably would mean.

Yet no one can understand his feeling. This state so closely allied to the La Follette name is now attached to a campaign of reckless charges that have done great harm both at home and abroad.

As for the communists, they may surely feel satisfied with what they achieved in Wisconsin in 1946. Their goal is to weaken and undermine America's position abroad and the will and resolution of Americans at home to carry through a determined foreign policy capable of resisting communist aggression. They got more than their money's worth four years ago.

And that, to him, as to so many extroverts, is about the most awful thing that can happen to him.

He doesn't like to read. To enjoy reading you have to be able to think.

He doesn't care for music unless he can dance to it. People in bed can't dance, and anyway you don't dance with yourself.

So he just lies there and bemoans his fate.

He feels sorry for himself. What is there to live for?

It's probably too late to help this fellow.

He never made friends with himself. He never even got to know himself. He never learned to realize that there comes a time in everyone's life when there is nothing to sustain or to entertain him but what is inside himself.

And thus he becomes like that almost empty soda bottle—the contents lifeless, tasteless, useless, the bottle itself worth a nickel at the grocery store.

Old Woodshed Treatment

NEW YORK, May 4.—Never a day passes but some one of my friends, bringing up children in the steel and concrete canyons of New York, bewails the fact that city kids never know the joys of field and stream, lush meadows, country lanes and big back yards.

But they—the city parents—invariably fail to mention the one old-fashioned adjunct of childhood whose need is obviously imperative in this sprawling metropolis: a woodshed, well-equipped with assorted hickory or any other hard wood clubs.

It is one woman's opinion that a good stout dose of what grandma called "willow tea", served in the woodshed, would do more to discourage the disgraceful high school riots that have recently distinguished this fair city than all the other remedies suggested, including a sawed-off shotgun. (Although, thats' not a bad idea.)

If, in my teens in Boise, Idaho, I had ever been caught storming city hall with a mob, damaging property, overturning automobiles or roughing up a policeman, the minions of the law would never have had a chance to work me over with their own justice.

Elders Would Be There First

The elders in my clan would have gotten there first. There was a commodious woodshed prominently attached to the home place, and during my impressionable years I was certainly convinced that the storage of fuel was its secondary purpose.

Neither my mother, father, grandmother or great-grandma (a lady who crossed the plains in a covered wagon in her teens) ever were exposed to a book on child raising or child psychology.

My cousins and I were brought up by rule of thumb or else the whole hand, applied where it would do the most good.

For the benefit of any psychologist or psychiatrist in the house, discipline did not liquidate our spirits and leave us bent and broken twigs. The only busted twigs on the property were those used on us.

In fact, my cousins and I are such ornery, rugged individualists that we think able bodied men and women ought to be willing to work or starve, that opportunity is preferable to security, and that no home is complete without a woodshed. Also, that a few inhibitions won't do us any harm. But my amazement at the teen-agers' attack on city hall, property and police, is as nothing compared with my revulsion at the assault perpetrated by these high school students on the innocent horses beneath mounted police.

Attack Horses

During the high school riots, students have been apprehended committing battery upon horses with a dangerous, medieval weapon known as a hat-pin.

I was born on a cattle ranch and grew up in a rodeo community which is not yet certain the auto is here to stay. If I had been caught kicking a policeman, firing an auto or stoning city hall, my family might have saved me from authorities for clan vengeance in the woodshed.

But if I had been caught intimidating or inflicting malicious injury with a hat-pin on an inoffensive law-abiding horse, not even my family could have saved me from the vigilantes. Papa might have helped string me up.

I can remember the time old Daisy, the white horse, took a header into the irrigation ditch with me aboard. Papa yelled for mama to brnig the liniment. She came running with the witch hazel and papa, a look of pained disgust on his face, bawled:

"No, Adah! For the horse!"

Certainly no horse, particularly a gentle police horse, should have to take cruel and unusual punishment from a batch of juvenile delinquents. I am about to write the police commissioner, suggesting that in the future all police horses be taught to jui jitsu in self protection.

A horse should at least be permitted to sink his teeth in trouble makers, or give them a good swift kick—depending on the facade under attack.

Furthermore, don't ask me to swallow this cock-and-bull story that teen-agers have been rioting to get their teachers a pay-raise. Who ever heard of prisoners striking in behalf of a hanging judge—or mutts organizing to save the poundmaster?

Weirton Plant To Resume Shortly

WEIRTON, W. Va., May 4.—(INS)—The electroplating division of the Weirton Steel company tin mill department will resume full operation by the end of the week.

The building housing Weirton high-speed electrolytic tin and zinc plating lines was swept by fire early Tuesday, President Thomas E. Millsop said. The new No. 4 electrolytic line, the fastest and largest of its type in the world, is scheduled to resume operation today, with the three other lines to be ready for operation within three or four days.

Meanwhile, all other departments of the tin mill are working at normal schedules.

No accurate estimate of the damage and production losses can be made until the plant has returned to normal operations, Millsop said. Yesterday damages from the blaze were said to be "several hundred thousand dollars".

City Hall

Report 1,031 Arrests Made

City Police Busy During April

When solons convene Monday in city hall, Mayor John F. Haven will present a report of April police activities to colleagues. The report will show police receipts of $1,792.38, earned largely as the result of fines from violations for over-time parking of cars and speeding.

A total of 1,031 arrests were made for offenses as follows:

Violation of parking laws, 875; violating traffic regulations, 15, and speeding 25.

Intoxication 43; intoxication and disorderly conduct 13; disorderly conduct 29 and burglary 2.

Larceny 1, driving while drunk 6, suspicion of larceny 2 and other arrests were for other minor offenses.

Nine hundred and 15 paid fines, one was jailed, 93 discharged, 12 were charged with offenses before alderman, four forfeited cash bonds, five cases are yet pending and one was turned over to immigration authorities for illegal entry into the U. S.

Salaries set by city council and school board for three clerks, who have been working in the tax receiver's office are $145, $155 and $165. A recent report said one salary was $225, which was due to a typographical error.

Some of the buildings at Cascade Park will be painted green and white, according to Parks Director Joseph F. Medure, who has purchased 100 gallons of paint at a bargain price. It has been several years since the buildings were painted.

Several motorists have been fined at police headquarters for parking their cars on the wrong side of the street, with headlights glaring into the eyes of on-coming traffic. Police have been instructed to watch for such operators.

Raudenbush Conducts His Final Concert

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—George King Raudenbush, conductor of the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra for 20 years, conducted his final concert Tuesday night as the orchestra's leader.

Raudenbush was the organization's first and only conductor since it was founded in 1930. The retiring director will enter radio as supervisor of musical programs for several stations in the Harrisburg area.

Shopping Now Done With Television

PHILADELPHIA, May 4—(INS)—Philadelphians are able to do their shopping right from their own living rooms through the medium of a new department store television show.

The store credits one performance of the show with boosting sales of a laundry basket 15 times higher than the previous week.

Fifteen minutes after he demonstrated a new toy, $1,200 worth of them were sold over the phone. In another instance, he sold 50 washing machines in a single day. And with one demonstration, he sold over 300 electric corn poppers.

NO FLEAS IN FLEA HOP

CORINTH, Mass.—Claude Smith contends there isn't a flea in Flea Hop, Ala., his home town. He said it got its name when some wild goats took over the old schoolhouse years ago. "They were full of fleas, and the fleas got so bad around the little building that you couldn't come close to it," he said.

Controls On Berlin Traffic Are Increased

BERLIN, May 4.—(INS)—West Berlin officials reported today that the Russians have increased controls on passenger and freight traffic between Berlin and Western Germany.

They said a ring of checkpoints has been set up around Berlin and individuals and vehicles are being subjected to intensified searches for food, West marks and metal goods.

Transport officials in West Berlin said they were informed by the East German rail directorate that yesterday's order, requiring the loading of all west-bound freight in the Soviet sector of the city, is "only a temporary action."

The Russians said the reason for the order was the inability of the Marienborn checkpoint, at the western end of the Soviet corridor from Russian-surrounded Berlin to Western Germany, to process freight traffic for several days.

It was explained new guard personnel had been assigned to the Marienborn checkpoint and needed time to acquaint themselves with the checking operation.

Sen. McCarthy Charges Bomb Secrets Sent

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., said today that the senate loyalty committee will receive testimony that Amerasia personnel, with help from state department employees, sent A-bomb secrets to Russia six months before the bomb was dropped on Hiroshima.

McCarthy told a news conference that the testimony will be given by a witness now before the committee and will be based on reports found in the Amerasia office in 1945.

McCarthy identified the witness as Frank Bielaski, former officer of the office of strategic services who raided the Amerasia office on March 11, 1945—three months before its editor and others were arrested for stealing government documents.

Conference On Air Pollution Seeking Facts

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—President Truman's conference on air pollution thinks it will come up with some concrete answers as to how harmful industrial fumes are to vegetation and livestock.

The experts in the first session agreed that damage sometimes is considerable where smelter plants are near agricultural areas, but so far they have come up with nothing concrete. There have been isolated instances of crop death due to air poisoning, they say.

One expert says that vegetable life is much more susceptible to air pollution than are human beings.

An agricultural study group has lined up a series of talks slated to bring out the latest information of the effects of fluoride fumes on livestock, crop pollution by mine surface piles, effect of sulphur dioxide on conifers and similar topics.

Welcome To Public

The firm extends a warm welcome to the general public to inspect their newly equipped building which is considered the most modern in the community.

On the first floor there are displays of all kinds of electric appliances and supplies, television sets, and warehouse with shelf facilities for storing all kinds of wiring and supplies of all descriptions.

The second floor contains the offices of the firm, which are finished in splendid fashion, with mahogany paneling, and boxolite partitions. The engineering and drafting room is also on this floor. In the basement, the space is being used for storage and warehouse.

In 1946, the firm went into the electrical contracting business, and was located at 1228 South Mill street for four years, until this date. They have completed many contracts in the community and throughout the state, among them the lighting of New Castle football stadium, and many large state contracts.

The firm has constantly in its employ, an average of 32 persons, to whom the management extends appreciation for their whole hearted cooperation on this occasion.

Home Repair Outlays In County To Reach Huge Total In 1950

Lawrence county home owners will spend an estimated $3,586,000 on repair and modernization of non-farm dwellings during 1950, according to estimates just released by the Tile Council of America.

"Lower wholesale prices for building products and growing stress on the use of quality materials should greatly benefit Pennsylvania home owners planning repairs this year," declared A. T. Wintergill, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.

Approximately one out of every three homes in this region will be redecorated, either inside or out, during the year, the report showed. Heating equipment will be overhauled or replaced in one of every four dwellings, and one of eight will have roofing work done.

One of every 20 homes will have plumbing repaired, bathrooms tiled or showers installed, the report said. Seven of every 100 dwellings are due for carpentry work, and one of every 20 for interior repairs.

Expenditures throughout the United States for home repair and modernization this year will total $2,350,000,000 to $2,900,000,000, the report estimated.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 4.—Something akin to mass suicide is taking place in Las Vegas.

Hollywood wolves, who once infested the desert strictly for purposes of rest and the venture of a bob or two upon the gaming tables, suddenly have developed an affinity for water.

Some Watchman?

This strange state of affairs is the fault of a dilly of a doll. Her name is Jane Dillard. She is a lady life guard, and if she is not the only woman water watchman of her type she certainly is the prettiest.

Miss Dillard, between moments of fishing fellows out of the drink, explained today:

"I never saw so many wolves in my life. Perfectly healthy-looking men suddenly develop cramps in the deep water and start yelling for help. I guess I've 'rescued' 50 in the week I've been working here."

Shapely Life Guard

The lady life guard, a shapely brunette who has turned down several movie offers, was national breast-stroke champion in 1942 to '44. Her father, a swimming instructor from Fort Worth, Texas, taught Jane to paddle before she was two years old.

Her current customers at Wilbur Clark's new desert spa include Jack Benny, Victor Mature, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Ronald Coleman, Van Heflin and Craig Stevens.

A lot of Hollywood glamour gals sprawl in the sun but none of them can take the play from Miss Dillard, one of the most natural scene-stealers in years.

Bergen's Family Grows

Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd have a new sister—Bodine Puffington, a life-sized blonde dummy Edgar Bergen has added to his nightclub act.

Bodine, a southern belle from Georgia, has life-like features, facial and otherwise. Bergen explained:

"I won't use her on the radio. She is for television only. She'll be the star of my new TV program."

MOTOR DEATHS DIP

COLUMBUS, O.—Motor fatalities dropped 7.3 percent in Ohio over the past year. Injury to pedestrians dropped 11.5 percent. But accidents involving youths under 15 years of age remained unchanged. Officials laid the blame in the latter case to an increase in the number of bicycles.

Powdered Milk And Eggs Arrive

To Be Distributed On Relief Orders

A truckload of powdered milk and eggs has arrived at the court house for distribution among needy families. The milk and eggs are a part of surplus commodities piled up in government warehouses.

County Commissioner Joseph W. Gilmore, who handles the institution district, said arrangements would be made to get the milk and eggs into homes where it could be used.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE

It seems the Dutch elm disease is closer than this column indicated a few days ago in talking about trees for the court house lawn. At that time it was suggested that trees other than elms should be used due to the fact that the Dutch elm disease has been found as close as Kent, O.

Wednesday I. C. Dayton, Lawrence county farm agent, said the disease has been found in Lawrence county trees last year.

DABBLING IN PHILOSOPHY

Register and Recorder Edward McConahy happened across a piece of choice political philosophy several days ago which he read for the edification of some people who happened to be in the office at the time.

The quotation is this: "If at all possible, promises should be made, if they cannot be kept. The unexpected often happens and perhaps the successful candidate will not be asked to make good. In any event he can act in accordance with his better judgment. He may have to give offense. But it is better to give the offense after the election than before."

Who said it? No New Dealer, no Republican orator, no early Revolutionary politician.

The author of the words was Cicero, the great Roman, who did a bang up political job on a lad named Cataline. Marcus Tullius Cicero lived 106-43 B. C.

COURT CASES

Before Judge John G. Lamoree on Wednesday Robert E. White was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $25 and costs.

Leroy Brooks, plea to burglary, was fined $1 and costs and three to six months in the county jail.

Influenza And Pneumonia Death Record Low This Year

NEW YORK, May 4.—Despite a widespread outbreak of influenza and pneumonia, the lowest first-quarter death rate on record for the two diseases was established during the first three months of 1950, according to the experience among the industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

The death rate was 23.2 per 100,000, as compared with 26.3 for the first three months of last year. The rates were 50.0 and 78.6, respectively, for the first quarters of 1946 and 1944, the two most recent years when influenza was epidemic.

Favorable Health Conditions

General health conditions continued at last year's favorable level, the company's statisticians report, with the over-all death rate among the policyholders 6.8 per 1,000, identical with the all-time low recorded in the same period of 1949.

New low first-quarter death rates were also recorded for tuberculosis, the principal communicable diseases of childhood as a group, syphilis, appendicitis, gastritis, and the complications of pregnancy and childbirth.

By contrast, slight increases—as compared with last year—were shown in the mortality from the diseases of the heart, arteries and kidneys, which account for approximately half of all of the deaths among the policyholders, and in the mortality from cancer, which ranks second among the causes of death.

Mortality from accidents and homicide was about the same as in 1949, and that from suicide slightly lower. An increase in motor vehicle accidents was counterbalanced by a decline in home and occupational mishaps, which have fallen off to new low levels this year.

Crime Prevention Community Affair

PHILADELPHIA, May 4—(INS)—Municipal Court Judge Nochem S. Winnet emphasizes the importance of community participation in the success of crime prevention programs.

The Philadelphia jurist, elected recently to his 10th term as chairman of the Crime Prevention Association of Philadelphia, said:

"We have always recognized that a good crime prevention program can never be the exclusive responsibility of any one agency. We have always sought to enlist community participation, cooperation and support."

Judge Winnet said the outlook for combating juvenile delinquency in 1950 is brightened by the program of the conference for the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency.

The program includes promotion of more effective religion in family life, improved recreation through better use of school facilities in leisure programs, enforcement of housing and sanitation codes, strengthened law enforcement, facilities for defective delinquents and psychiatric service for children.

Minks in 1866 in Oneida county, New York, were the first fur-bearing animals raised commercially in the U.S.

Declares Truman Cleverest Politician; Worst President

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—President Truman was described Wednesday by Republican Harold E. Stassen as "the cleverest politician and the worst president ever to occupy the White House."

Stassen, in an address to the women of the New York Republican County committee, delivered a scorching attack on the president's plans to tour the nation, and compared his administration to that of "foreign economic Socialists."

The University of Pennsylvania president also introduced a plan which he said was designed to combat a tendency toward socialization of medicine.

Stassen, who was unsuccessful in his bid for the 1948 GOP presidential candidacy, described Mr. Truman as a "post graduate of the most effective political school in America—the Pendergast school of Kansas City."

"He will demonstrate his political aptitude next week on the trip that he is taking across the country," Stassen declared. "With a carload of his political supporters he will travel across the nation in a special train, with his trip paid for out of the taxes of the people."

Stassen declared that the trip is purely for political purposes.

"It is strange but true that the methods of the foreign economic Socialists and of the domestical political bosses are very similar," he continued.

"The tragedy for America is that the same school which made Truman such a clever politician also made him such a bad president. This is true because it is a school whose graduates are lacking in a sense of idealism and who minimize the importance of honesty and integrity."

McGill Students Visit Pittsburgh

Two sixth grade sections of the Arthur McGill school recently made a trip by bus to Pittsburgh. There they visited the Carnegie Museum and Buhl Planetarium.

Guides took the group through the museum, pointing out and explaining the various exhibits of the building. The most interesting proved to be the dinosaurs, while attention was also centered on the fish, birds, plants, statues, and beautiful works of art.

At noon the boys and girls were escorted to the museum's cafeteria, where a delicious lunch was enjoyed.

In the afternoon a trip was made to the Buhl Planetarium. The group viewed many inventions operated by electricity, and their mechanism was explained. An interesting feature of the display was the pendulum which showed the rotation of the earth. At the Sky Show the group was told the names and meanings of the various clouds and how they affected the weather.

Among some of the larger buildings seen on the trip were the University of Pittsburgh and the Mellon Institute.

Broadcasting 'Oscars' Given

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The tenth annual presentation of the George Foster Peabody awards—the "Oscars" of the broadcasting business—brought honors today to 17 radio and television stations, programs and individuals.

In the radio category, Jack Benny took the award for entertainment and drama and Eric Severeid of CBS received the award for news reporting and interpretation. Public service awards went to Station WWJ of Detroit and Station KXLJ of Helena, Mont.

Top awards in television went to the Ed Wynn show for entertainment, the film series "Crusade in Europe" for education, the CBS coverage of the United Nations general assembly for news, and to "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" for children's programs.

A special citation went to the cartoonist H. T. Webster for his weekly cartoon, "Unseen Audience," which the committee called "the most graphic and civilized criticism of radio".

Another went to Editor Harold Ross and the New Yorker magazine, for a recent successful campaign against broadcasting in behalf of the "captive audience" in Grand Central Terminal, New York.

The third was given to the United Nations and American broadcasters in general, as represented through the National Association of Broadcasters, for contributing to better international understanding.

Declares Truman Cleverest Politician; Worst President

NEW YORK, May 4. — (INS) — President Truman was described Wednesday by Republican Harold E. Stassen as "the cleverest politician and the worst president ever to occupy the White House."

Stassen, in an address to the women of the New York Republican County committee, delivered a scorching attack on the president's plans to tour the nation, and compared his administration to that of "foreign economic Socialists."

The University of Pennsylvania president also introduced a plan which he said was designed to combat a tendency toward socialization of medicine.

Stassen, who was unsuccessful in his bid for the 1948 GOP presidential candidacy, described Mr. Truman as a "post graduate of the most effective political school in America—the Pendergast school of Kansas City."

"He will demonstrate his political aptitude next week on the trip that he is taking across the country," Stassen declared. "With a carload of his political supporters he will travel across the nation in a special train, with his trip paid for out of the taxes of the people."

Stassen declared that the trip is purely for political purposes.

"It is strange but true that the methods of the foreign economic Socialists and of the domestical political bosses are very similar," he continued.

"The tragedy for America is that the same school which made Truman such a clever politician also made him such a bad president. This is true because it is a school whose graduates are lacking in a sense of idealism and who minimize the importance of honesty and integrity."

Intermediate troop 8 held their meeting at the grade school on Tuesday. New officers were elected for the next eight weeks. The president is Diane Stanley; secretary, Victoria Pia; treasurer, Phyllis Standish.

Plans were made for the annual Court of Awards and Tea to be held Friday, May 19 at 8 o'clock in the Bessemer high school. Parents and friends are invited. It was decided to crown Nancy Kiminkinen as intermediate cookie queen, and also a brownie cookie queen.

The new scout songs and a folk dance were practiced out of doors. During interest groups, Mrs. Snyder and the girls working on "cook badge" discussed their one-pot cookout, why it was fun, and how it could have been better. New recipes were added to their notebooks.

Junior high group will meet at Mrs. Stanley's for a cookout on Tuesday. Mrs. Mehocich's group will meet Saturday morning at 9:30 for a "trail sign" hike.

Girl Scout Troop

Girl Scout troop 12 met Wednesday afternoon at the Thaddeus Stevens school with leader, Mrs. Gertrude Mateja and Mrs. William Wilson, in charge. Mother's Day gifts were made by most of the girls, and they will be finished at the next meeting next Wednesday.

McGill Students Visit Pittsburgh

Two sixth grade sections of the Arthur McGill school recently made a trip by bus to Pittsburgh. There they visited the Carnegie Museum and Buhl Planetarium.

Guides took the group through the museum, pointing out and explaining the various exhibits of the building. The most interesting proved to be the dinosaurs, while attention was also centered on the fish, birds, plants, statues, and beautiful works of art.

At noon the boys and girls were escorted to the museum's cafeteria, where a delicious lunch was enjoyed.

In the afternoon a trip was made to the Buhl Planetarium. The group viewed many inventions operated by electricity, and their mechanism was explained. An interesting feature of the display was the pendulum which showed the rotation of the earth. At the Sky Show the group was told the names and meanings of the various clouds and how they affected the weather.

Among some of the larger buildings seen on the trip were the University of Pittsburgh and the Mellon Institute.

Broadcasting 'Oscars' Given

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The tenth annual presentation of the George Foster Peabody awards—the "Oscars" of the broadcasting business—brought honors today to 17 radio and television stations, programs and individuals.

In the radio category, Jack Benny took the award for entertainment and drama and Eric Severeid of CBS received the award for news reporting and interpretation. Public service awards went to Station WWJ of Detroit and Station KXLJ of Helena, Mont.

Top awards in television went to the Ed Wynn show for entertainment, the film series "Crusade in Europe" for education, the CBS coverage of the United Nations general assembly for news, and to "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" for children's' programs.

A special citation went to the cartoonist H. T. Webster for his weekly cartoon, "Unseen Audience," which the committee called "the most graphic and civilized criticism of radio".

Another went to Editor Harold Ross and the New Yorker magazine, for a recent successful campaign against broadcasting in behalf of the "captive audience" in Grand Central Terminal, New York.

The third was given to the United Nations and American broadcasters in general, as represented through the National Association of Broadcasters, for contributing to better international understanding.

The word "rhyme" is more correctly spelled "rime," but the customary spelling is due to a confusion with the word "rhythm."

Widow Of Italian Born Inventor To Share Big Estate

PITTSBURG, May 4.—(INS)—The widow of an Italian-born inventor was assured today of receiving half of her late husband's half-million dollar estate.

She is Mrs. Giovanni Rosario Troisi, who was left behind in Paternopoli, Italy, when her engineer husband came to the United States.

Fiorentino G. Troisi won fame and fortune when he perfected the batteryless telephone which was installed as standard United States Navy salvage equipment.

Troisi made no mention of his wife in his will. His will left his $500,000 estate equally to two brothers. But under Pennsylvania law, a childless widow is entitled to half the estate of her husband.

The brothers now will receive approximately $125,000 each and the widow about $250,000.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

'I Had on the Right Pants'

One day, when our son was nine or 10 years old, he came home from school feeling on top of the world. Everything had gone well.

"I guess it was because I had on the right pants," he said. "The last time I wore them, I had good luck, too."

From the day, we've all used the phrase, "having on the right pants" in referring to good fortune.

Baseball players, jockeys and other athletes are likely to have their own good luck superstitions. Indeed, probably most of us have some such pocket piece or charm. We really don't believe in it but, at the same time, it does seem as though things go better if we have it along.

It may be that people get a feeling of self-confidence from a good-luck charm that makes it more likely that things will go well with them because they act in ways that bring success.

Of course, though, no such belief has any really scientific basis. And it is important that we help our children learn that "lucky" charm will never take the place of good hard work.

At the same time, we needn't be stuffy about it. I'm glad we went along with our youngster. He knew that we didn't believe the "right pants" had brought him good luck but it's become a family byword and brought us all a lot of fun we'd never have had had we been too serious about the whole thing.

Spat Doesn't Break Engagement—Judge

MEDIA, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—A Deleware county judge offered this advice to the love-lorn:

It takes more than a mere spat to break off a marriage engagement and the gal has a perfect right to keep the ring under such circumstances.

Judge Arthur P. Bretherick ruled that "the mere failure" of a young lady to say "hello" to the boy friend with whom she had quarreled "does not constitute a broken engagement." And he added:

The ruling was handed down in a case in which John M. Sawicki, of Yeadon, Pa., sued for the return of a $400 engagement ring he had given Dorothy Schwenke, also of Yeadon.

Sawicki contended he repented harsh words between the pair and tossed a cheery "hello" at Miss Schwenke the next time he saw her.

Dorothy, he said, turned her face to the wall and did not speak.

A month later he sued for return of the ring. The judge said she can keep it.

TOKYO.—Thirty-three Catholics among the inmates of Tokyo's grim Sugamo prison, where Japanese war criminals are serving their terms, have founded a Catholic Action Assn. Eight of the group were baptized during the Holy Week.

T.W.A. Pilot Says He Saw Some Of 'Flying Saucers'

WHEELING, W. Va., May 4.—(INS)—Capt. Robert F. Adickes, a TWA pilot, thought and thought about it, and yesterday broke down and reported that six days ago he saw what some have termed "flying saucers."

Captain Adickes said he can't be sure what it was he saw, but he knows definitely it was "not a figment of the imagination."

"I can't say that I saw a flying saucer," he said. "But what I did see was a machine totally different from anything I had ever seen before.

The TWA pilot said he sighted the strange object on a flight between Dayton and Chicago six days ago. He said the object was flying at 2,000 and overtook his aircraft and flew alongside.

"When I turned my plane to get closer," Captain Adickes said, "the thing turned and disappeared at about 400 miles an hour."

He said it was 25 to 50 feet in diameter, glowed red and flew upright like a wheel.

"I guess it was because I had on the right pants," he said. "The last time I wore them, I had good luck, too."

From the day, we've all used the phrase, "having on the right pants" in referring to good fortune.

Baseball players, jockeys and other athletes are likely to have their own good luck superstitions. Indeed, probably most of us have some such pocket piece or charm. We really don't believe in it but, at the same time, it does seem as though things go better if we have it along.

It may be that people get a feeling of self-confidence from a good-luck charm that makes it more likely that things will go well with them because they act in ways that bring success.

Of course, though, no such belief has any really scientific basis. And it is important that we help our children learn that "lucky" charm will never take the place of good hard work.

At the same time, we needn't be stuffy about it. I'm glad we went along with our youngster. He knew that we didn't believe the "right pants" had brought him good luck but it's become a family byword and brought us all a lot of fun we'd never have had had we been too serious about the whole thing.

Spat Doesn't Break Engagement—Judge

MEDIA, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—A Deleware county judge offered this advice to the love-lorn:

It takes more than a mere spat to break off a marriage engagement and the gal has a perfect right to keep the ring under such circumstances.

Judge Arthur P. Bretherick ruled that "the mere failure" of a young lady to say "hello" to the boy friend with whom she had quarreled "does not constitute a broken engagement." And he added:

The ruling was handed down in a case in which John M. Sawicki, of Yeadon, Pa., sued for the return of a $400 engagement ring he had given Dorothy Schwenke, also of Yeadon.

Sawicki contended he repented harsh words between the pair and tossed a cheery "hello" at Miss Schwenke the next time he saw her.

Dorothy, he said, turned her face to the wall and did not speak.

A month later he sued for return of the ring. The judge said she can keep it.

FOUND ASSOCIATION

TOKYO.—Thirty-three Catholics among the inmates of Tokyo's grim Sugamo prison, where Japanese war criminals are serving their terms, have founded a Catholic Action Assn. The Catholic news service, Tosei, reported they had chosen St. Paul as patron and tutelary of their group "remembering that St. Paul too was a prisoner for years." Eight of the group were baptized during the Holy Week.

State National Guard Has Strong Air Wing

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—An alert Pennsylvania Air National Guard today is ready at a moment's notice to spread its armed wings in defense of the nation.

From a fledgling air arm in 1947, the ANG has matured until, bolstered by jet planes, the part-time pilots are vital to national defense.

Pennsylvania's Air Guard, included in the 53rd Fighter Wing, comprises over half the strength of wing's Delaware, Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia components.

"Our chief mission is defense," said Col. Robert Boden, wing chief of staff. "And we feel that at this point we could do a very effective job if this country was subject to a surprise aerial attack."

M-Day Plans

"We have our mobilization plans developed. If we receive an alert, our network system will summon air and ground crews which can have 16 interceptor planes from each squadron in the air within two hours."

Boden explained that an alert probably would be given while hostile aircraft are hundreds of miles from America's shores thus allowing time to spread an adequate air cover.

The four main bases in Pennsylvania are located at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Reading.

Two squadrons of "souped-up" B-26 medium bombers are nested in Philadelphia while a squadron of fighters is in Reading and two squadrons in Pittsburgh. Ground crews and supplemental units are based in each airport.

The 53rd wing attained its present fighting trim by comprehensive drill periods, all Air National Guard pilots are required to fly the same amount of time as regular Air Force airmen. They must handle their craft successfully in instrument, night and navigational training flights to maintain their status as qualified pilots.

Summer Training

This summer the 651 officers and 3,625 men of the 53rd will undergo two weeks encampment from August 12-26 at wide spread air fields throughout the four-state area.

Many of the pilots will get their first taste at flying "hot stuff." Several months ago Air Force headquarters in Washington consigned two squadrons of P-80 jets to the 53rd wing.

One squadron of the P-80's will take off from Andrews Field, Md., and the other will have its landing strip at Newcastle county airport in Delaware.

Headquarters will move into Dover, Del., the site of a fighter plane training base during World War II. Byrd Field in Richmond, Va., will be the training site of two other fighter squadrons. The remaining regular bases will be fitted into the schemes of tactical problems.

"We plan this year also to intensify our training for aircraft control and warning groups," Boden said. "This is an important part of defense. So important, in fact, that locations of the training sites are classified top secret by the Air Force."

Food Surplus Is U.N. Worry

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—The UN Food and Agriculture organization is worrying itself about the paradox of surplus.

At its Rome meeting next week, the FAO says it will "consider" the problem of starvation versus food gluts. The Far East suffers starvation while North America enjoys luxurious surpluses, the FAO says.

And, the food arm of the United Nations is coming around to thinking that something might be done about what some observers term the "horrible situation," by clearing up some problems in international trade.

The FAO indicates that international trade may be the key to a great part of the surplus-shortage question. It says:

"Although in most regions emphasis continues to be placed on plans for expanding production, problems of international trade have come more and more to the forefront of the food situation."

Imports Must Continue

The FAO says that high imports of food must continue for many years in the Far East—but the Far Eastern "balance of trade deficit" is so great those countries have to cut imports to a minimum.

Besides this situation in the Far East, many other countries in the world are reported in "unfavorable trade" situations as far as "dollar imbalances" are concerned. They can't buy from surplus-producing nations because of this "imbalance."

The FAO indicates that technical international trade factors stand in the way of seeing that starving people eat.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Brannan has taken a step to see that these technical difficulties are erased. He urges Congress to join the international trade organization where nations would get together and work out these problems in a practical way.

Brannan's stand is backed by his Foreign Trade Advisory committee which consists of farmers representatives, economists and educators.

SIGNS DELAYED

CHICAGO.—Back in 1877 the city council decided to give a name to a block-long lane that runs from State to Dearborn streets north of Adams street. Recently—73 years later—officials figured it was time to put up a street sign there. They did. The name: Marble Place.

AN OPEN LETTER To Sheriff FRANK L. COEN

Dear Jewie:—

This letter is written more in sorrow than anger. It concerns your ad of Tuesday night which appropriately enough was headed "MORE DECEPTION". It was just that, Jewie—deceptive—in that it endeavored to read into our previous statement, words and meanings that were not there.

However we do appreciate your apology for your previous unwarranted and intemperate verbal attack upon two wounded veterans.

First of all, Jewie, the Veterans Committee came into existence following your all time low ad which appeared in The News April 26 in which you attempted to set up class prejudice.

You shouldn't be so touchy, Jewie, whenever the subject of macing state employes for contributions is mentioned. No one ever said you personally maced any one. That sort of job is usually left to the hatchet men. You aren't being naive are you Jewie, and suggesting that state employes are not being maced. Or haven't you heard.

Confidentially Jewie, we believe the voters are getting a bit fed up with mudslinging in election campaigns. They seem to be concerned with qualifications of the men who want to head this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As a citizen you have every right to support any man you select in a campaign. Of course you wouldn't deny other folks that right would you Jewie? We would never want to believe that a sheriff would put the weight of his office back of a candidate. You see, Jewie, most of our committee, perhaps ninety five percent of the 179 members of the commitee supported you not once but twice for sheriff and they wouldn't want to believe you would do such a thing.

Your reference to Mr. Rowland was not without its humorous side, Jewie. As you say, you are "not afraid of the Rowland Machine". Of course you are not. Nobody else is either. However if it is a machine no one would know more about it than you for you had two lucrative rides in it.

Of course such statements are ridiculous. The inference that this Veterans' Committee is controlled by anyone is a laugh. The Veterans Committee has no payrollers on it, no public officials, city, county, state or national.

One thing more, Jewie. We hope this ends the exchange of views. It takes money to pay for ads. and you see the committees' ads are paid for by the members' own money, not from a campaign war chest.

Finally, Jewie, why not confine this campaign to facts, not fables?

As Confucius might have said, "he who slings mud sometimes gets spattered".

Veterans' Committee,
Ralph Hayes, Chairman,
A. H. Lewis, Secretary.

State National Guard Has Strong Air Wing

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—An alert Pennsylvania Air National Guard today is ready at a moment's notice to spread its armed wings in defense of the nation.

From a fledgling air arm in 1947, the ANG has matured until, bolstered by jet planes, the part-time pilots are vital to national defense.

Pennsylvania's Air Guard, included in the 53rd Fighter Wing, comprises over half the strength of wing's Delaware, Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia components.

"Our chief mission is defense," said Col. Robert Boden, wing chief of staff. "And we feel that at this point we could do a very effective job if this country was subject to a surprise aerial attack."

M-Day Plans

"We have our mobilization plans developed. If we receive an alert, our network system will summon air and ground crews which can have 16 interceptor planes from each squadron in the air within two hours."

Boden explained that an alert probably would be given while hostile aircraft are hundreds of miles from America's shores thus allowing time to spread an adequate air cover.

The four main bases in Pennsylvania are located at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Reading.

Two squadrons of "souped-up" B-26 medium bombers are nested in Philadelphia while a squadron of fighters is in Reading and two squadrons in Pittsburgh. Ground crews and supplemental units are based in each airport.

The 53rd wing attained its present fighting trim by comprehensive drill periods, all Air National Guard pilots are required to fly the same amount of time as regular Air Force airmen. They must handle their craft successfully in instrument, night and navigational training flights to maintain their status as qualified pilots.

Summer Training

This summer the 651 officers and 3,625 men of the 53rd will undergo two weeks encampment from August 12-26 at wide-spread air fields throughout the four-state area.

Many of the pilots will get their first taste at flying "hot stuff." Several months ago Air Force headquarters in Washington consigned two squadrons of P-80 jets to the 53rd wing.

One squadron of the P-80's will take off from Andrews Field, Md., and the other will have its landing strip at Newcastle county airport in Delaware.

Headquarters will move into Dover, Del., the site of a fighter plane training base during World War II. Byrd Field in Richmond, Va., will be the training site of two other fighter squadrons. The remaining regular bases will be fitted into the schemes of tactical problems.

"We plan this year also to intensify our training for aircraft control and warning groups," Boden said. "This is an important part of defense. So important, in fact, that locations of the training sites are classified top secret by the Air Force."

Food Surplus Is U.N. Worry

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—The UN Food and Agriculture organization is worrying itself about the paradox of surplus.

At its Rome meeting next week, the FAO says it will "consider" the problem of starvation versus food gluts. The Far East suffers starvation while North America enjoys luxurious surpluses, the FAO says.

And, the food arm of the United Nations is coming around to thinking that something might be done about what some observers term the "horrible situation," by clearing up some problems in international trade.

The FAO indicates that international trade may be the key to a great part of the surplus-shortage question. It says:

"Although in most regions emphasis continues to be placed on plans for expanding production, problems of international trade have come more and more to the forefront of the food situation."

Imports Must Continue

The FAO says that high imports of food must continue for many years in the Far East—but the Far Eastern "balance of trade deficit" is so great those countries have to cut imports to a minimum.

Besides this situation in the Far East, many other countries in the world are reported in "unfavorable trade" situations as far as "dollar imbalances" are concerned. They can't buy from surplus-producing nations because of this "imbalance."

The FAO indicates that technical international trade factors stand in the way of seeing that starving people eat.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Brannan has taken a step to see that these technical difficulties are erased. He urges Congress to join the international trade organization where nations would get together and work out these problems in a practical way.

Brannan's stand is backed by his Foreign Trade Advisory committee which consists of farmers representatives, economists and educators.

SIGNS DELAYED

CHICAGO.—Back in 1877 the city council decided to give a name to a block-long lane that runs from State to Dearborn streets north of Adams street. Recently—73 years later—officials figured it was time to put up a street sign there. They did. The name: Marble Place.

AN OPEN LETTER To Sheriff FRANK L. COEN

Dear Jewie:—

This letter is written more in sorrow than anger. It concerns your ad of Tuesday night which appropriately enough was headed "MORE DECEPTION". It was just that, Jewie—deceptive—in that it endeavored to read into our previous statement, words and meanings that were not there.

However we do appreciate your apology for your previous unwarranted and intemperate verbal attack upon two wounded veterans.

First of all, Jewie, the Veterans Committee came into existence following your all time low ad which appeared in The News April 26 in which you attempted to set up class prejudice.

You shouldn't be so touchy, Jewie, whenever the subject of macing state employes for contributions is mentioned. No one ever said you personally maced any one. That sort of job is usually left to the hatchet men. You aren't being naive are you Jewie, and suggesting that state employes are not being maced. Or haven't you heard.

Confidentially Jewie, we believe the voters are getting a bit fed up with mudslinging in election campaigns. They seem to be concerned with qualifications of the men who want to head this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

As a citizen you have every right to support any man you select in a campaign. Of course you wouldn't deny other folks that right would you Jewie? We would never want to believe that a sheriff would put the weight of his office back of a candidate. You see, Jewie, most of our committee, perhaps ninety five percent of the 179 members of the commitee supported you not once but twice for sheriff and they wouldn't want to believe you would do such a thing.

Your reference to Mr. Rowland was not without its humorous side, Jewie. As you say, you are "not afraid of the Rowland Machine". Of course you are not. Nobody else is either. However if it is a machine no one would know more about it than you for you had two lucrative rides in it.

Of course such statements are ridiculous. The inference that this Veterans' Committee is controlled by anyone is a laugh. The Veterans Committee has no payrollers on it, no public officials, city, county, state or national.

One thing more, Jewie. We hope this ends the exchange of views. It takes money to pay for ads. and you see the committees' ads are paid for by the members' own money, not from a campaign war chest.

Finally, Jewie, why not confine this campaign to facts, not fables?

As Confucius might have said, "he who slings mud sometimes gets spattered".

Veterans' Committee,
Ralph Hayes, Chairman,
A. H. Lewis, Secretary.

Quadruplets Born To Minnesota Couple

SLEEPY EYE, Minn., May 4.—(INS)—A farmer who says he has "more room than money" offered $10 apiece today for names for his wife's newborn quadruplets because "we have six other children and I'm clean out of names".

But that was about all Arthur Seifert had to offer to pay for, because Sleepy Eye's 3,000 residents have pitched in to take care of all his chores since the three girls and a boy were born prematurely to his 37-year-old wife in the town's municipal hospital yesterday.

A crew of farm wives tends to household duties in the Seifert homestead and keeps an eye on the rest of the family—ranging from a three-year-old girl to a 17-year-old boy—while their husbands take care of the 42-year-old farmer's livestock.

Other residents crowded outside the hospital, where Dr. E. F. Kelthahn, who performed the 2½-hour delivery, said the babies "have a good chance for survival".

One Time Ball Pitcher

Seifert, a one-time star pitcher and now manager of Sleepy Eye's baseball team, said:

"I'm not able to pay too much—there's a mortgage on the house—but I think I'll pay $10 to anyone who sends in a name I use. I'm clean out of names.

"We'll find room for the quadruplets—seems like we've got more room than money."

He said the multiple birth was "a bigger thrill than pitching a no-hit, no-run game."

The babies, ranging in size from 2 pounds 6½ ounces to 4½ pounds, were placed in two incubators in the municipal hospital. They are fed with an eyedropper.

Quads Were Surprise

Dr. Kelthahn said the mother and all but the smallest baby are in good condition. He added that recent X-ray pictures had shown Mrs. Seifert could expect triplets "but quadruplets were a surprise".

The father has been at his wife's bedside almost constantly since noon yesterday. He said:

"I haven't had much sleep since it all started. I was out in the barn, talking to a contractor, when ma hollered 'hurry up!'

"Twenty minutes later I got her to the hospital and the first baby was born."

The first forestry school in the United States, first headed by Gifford Pinchot, was formed on what is now the Vanderbilt estate, outside of Asheville, N. C.

In the first U. S. Census, in 1790, Virginia, with a population 747,610 had the largest number of residents.

HOSEA BRINGS HIS MESSAGE

REBUKES PEOPLE AND PRIESTS FOR WICKEDNESS

Scripture—Hosea.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

We have had three consecutive lessons on the prophet Amos and his message. Now we are to have two on Hosea. Both men are known as among the "minor prophets."

Unlike Amos, Hosea was a family man. He had a wife and three children. He was a sweet, domestic type of man who emphasized the love of God even while he denounced the people for their sins and told of punishment in store for them if they did not mend their ways.

Hosea's wife was dissatisfied with her family, however, and left them to shift for themselves. Some time later, Hosea heard that she was to be sold in the slave market, and he hastened there, bought her and took her home to her family. We hear no more of her, and can but hope that after a bitter experience she found her best happiness in her home.

Hosea appeared to the Israelites about 10 years after Amos. His message was similar to Amos', but milder. He pleaded with the people instead of denouncing them, emphasizing God's love for them.

All the prophets made use of symbolism in their writings and speech. Hosea carried this much further than the others. His speech is picturesque and poetic. In his word pictures he referred to agricultural scenes—things his listeners could easily understand.

"Hear the words of Jehovah, ye children of Israel," he entreated, "for Jehovas hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor goodness, nor knowledge of God in the land.

"There is naught by swearing and breaking faith, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery; they break out, and blood toucheth blood."

Alas, these accusations are applicable to our own time. Taking the name of God in vain in ordinary conversation is all to frequent. Stealing is a crime committed so often that every newspaper has a number of stories of thefts and robberies in every issue.

As to murder—quarreling in families or among friends all too often ends in killing. It seems that the horrible mass murders of war have carried over into civilian life, bringing misery to countless numbers.

"Therefore shall the land mourn," said Hosea, "and everyone that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field and the birds of the heavens, yea, the fishes of the sea shall also be taken away."

Hosea saw the priests who were learned in the law and were intended to set an example to the ordinary citizen, also "stumbling."

The worship of the golden calf was prevalent in Israel at this time, and the priests of Jehovah were poor, so it was a temptation to them to snatch what they could in order to live, and to shut their eyes to the follies of their congregations.

They also refrained from telling them what would surely happen if they persisted in their sins.

The prophets were more courageous leaders. They risked their lives to warn sinners that retribution would overtake them sooner or later.

Hosea.

"The ways of Jehovah are right, and the just shall walk in them." —Hosea 14:9.

Hosea told the priests: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge—because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to Me; seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I also will forget thy children."

"And it shall be, like people, like priest; and I will punish them for their ways, and will requite them their doings . . .

"Come, and let us return unto Jehovah; for He hath torn, and He will heal us; He hath smitten, and He will bind us up.

"After two days will He revive us; on the third day, He will raise us up, and we shall live before Him."

So Hosea preached, alternately telling the erring people of Israel what they must expect if they persisted in sinning, and then pointing out how God loved His people and would reward them for their goodness.

Philadelphia Police Hunt Officer Killer

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(INS)—A non-stop manhunt for the killer of a Philadelphia policeman following a 21-cent holdup was climaxed early today when detectives seized one suspect and sent out an alarm for another.

Patrolman James J. Donohoe, 35-year-old war veteran, was cut down at point blank range yesterday with two bullets in the abdomen when he tried to question the holdup suspect.

Inspector Richard Doyle said police arrested Robert W. Taylor, 33 and are hunting for Albert Gnatz, 55, as the alleged killer. Both men, he said, were recently released from prison where they had served time for holdups.

Doyle quoted Taylor as telling investigators that he waited while Gnatz went into a midtown window cleaning establishment to ask operator Morris Hochman about a job.

Officer Is Shot

Taylor added that Gnatz came out and said he had been unable to get work but had held up the place. Hochman told police he gave the bandit 21 cents.

Both men, according to Taylor's story, ran down the Market street subway steps, and seconds later they were followed by Officer Donohoe who had heard Hochman's cries of "holdup".

Inspector Doyle quoted Taylor as telling detectives that Donohoe came up to him and someone said, "No, that's not the man," and pointed out Gnatz. When Donohoe grabbed Gnatz, Gnatz pulled out a pistol and shot him, according to Taylor.

Young Woman Goes Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 4.—(INS)—An unidentified young woman waded into the Niagara Falls river before the horrified eyes of several tourists last night and was swept over the American falls, presumably to her death.

Niagara Falls police today sought an unidentified tourist reported to have snapped a picture of the attractively dressed woman of about 25 as she went over the falls.

Three other tourists said they saw the woman enter the river about 100 yards above the falls. They were Mrs. Jane Baughman of Tampa, Fla., who sat near the victim before she calmly walked to the river; Michael Vacanti of Buffalo, N. Y., and Julius Falkenstein of New York City.

They said the woman had long, dark hair, wore a short red coat over a black dress and carried a blue pocketbook.

The United States owned railway in Panama is 48 miles long.

In The Open

The airy fairy shadbush has once more donned her bridal veil, to walk down the open forest aisles in shimmering beauty. Her path is strewn with great drifts of spring beauties, spreading their pastel carpet as far as eye carries through the trees. The countryman blunders in all this floral finery, quaffing great draughts of the delicate heady perfume distilled by the myriad blossoms underfoot and catching his breath at the loveliness of the lacy shadblow halo.

Three-slashed toothwort, hepatica and a lowly yellow violet were also in bloom beneath the forest giants, but the spring beauties, by sheer weight of numbers, completely stole the show. In certain favored nooks the gorgeous bloodroot spread wide its flat petals of purest white. It is senseless to spill the blood of this blossom, which falls apart quickly when plucked.

Regiment of Toads

In a marshy area surrounded by husky young skunk cabbage plants, a regiment of toads splashed about, waking the echoes with their loud, trilling love song. "Have you heard the blinking toad sing his solo by the river, when April nights are soft and warm, and spring is all a-quiver?" The toad chorus is a unique sound of the countryside, although it is almost duplicated when the 17-year locusts turn on the full orchestra during their periodic visits.

The blue-gray gnatcatcher, tiny long-tailed busybody of the treetops, has returned with his noisy alarm to the open timber edgings. Once his acquaintance is made there's no mistaking this fellow. He talks a bird brogue all his own. I thought I had pinned down a nest engineered by this midget last year, but he fooled me completely.

While I renewed acquaintance with the gnatchatcher a tiny bit of the sky fell. It lighted on a leaf by me, and expanded its wings and enjoyed the full sun. It was the common blue, one of the least and one of the loveliest of butterflies. This tiny, fearless bit of blue is a seal of the actual soft presence of the spring, which comes only when the April showers have made her calling and election sure.

The yellow trout lily has pushed its recurved petals clear up from the bulb hidden nearly a foot underground. On a remote bank, still secure from the trowel-carrying hiker, a large and flourishing colony of Virginia blue-bells was just breaking its blossoms loose from the bud scales. In another week that bank will be a symphony in blue, while myriad bees and flies and other "bugs" gather for the feast.

Special Committee

I had hardly reached the thickets guarding the timberland when a special committee came out to greet me. Most of these greeters were dressed in sparrow costume, streaked in the manner of the song sparrow. But among the group were several gaudy fellows all decked out in rosy pink, as though they had been under a raspberry juice shower.

These were the purple finches, not a familiar bird hereabouts, but by no means too uncommon. They sat high among the budding branches of a young elm, balancing on the slender twigs as they ate the buds and captured occasional insects. They must have forgotten to bring their music for there was no trace of the brilliant warbling of which these birds are capable.

They were not too scary and I had them in the glass in full sunlight for some time. They are about the size of the English sparrow. Their one bad habit, that of eating buds and flowers of valuable orchard trees, makes them unpopular in certain circles. But they are rather erratic wanderers, and the trees may suffer one year, and not see these rosy visitors again for several seasons.

A cowbird followed one of his harem about through the trees, swelling out his chest and delivering himself of a convulsive split whistle at opportune intervals. His lady love scolded him like a fishwife, but he urbanely overlooked these caustic comments and pressed his unwelcome suit persistently. She was still reading his ancestry in shrill language when I left the timber country.

I recently made the acquaintance of the fish crow, a smaller edition of our great citizen, old Corvus. These birds have a high pitched cry that cannot be called a "caw". They were flapping about the lofty pinnacle of a state capitol building, where they are said to come in search of pigeon eggs. It might be a good thing if some of their ancient wisdom could percolate down through that dome into the legislative halls below.

SASSY FRASS

Corrects Idea Of Idyllic Life On South Sea Islands

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The notion that life on a South Sea island is an idyllic existence where one rests under a tree waiting for luscious fruit to fall was corrected today by a Tahiti publisher.

Bertrand Juanez, publisher of "The Tapeete, Tahiti Courier", said it now costs a couple $100 a week to live on the island.

He noted that his four-page paper, which appears three times a week, costs 35 cents a copy.

Five Indicted In Kansas City By Grand Jury

KANSAS CITY, May 4.—(INS)—The federal grand jury indicted five men Wednesday in connection with its investigation of underworld activities in Kansas City.

Those indicted are:

Max Ducov, a beer dealer who shared his profits with the gangster elements.

Anthony Marcella, Michael P. Arnone, and Sam Tortorice, who were arrested with Carollo recently by federal tax agents as they were preparing to ship fifty thousand dollars worth of liquor to Oklahoma.

Carollo and his three associates were charged in three counts with "engaging in a conspiracy to sell liquor wholesale without paying the federal tax."

Ducov is charged with prevailing on an associate, Nathan Bassin, to "make false statements to the grand jury."

The indictments followed the first arrests made in the Binaggio-Gargotta murders which has resulted in a complete new police board and the dismissal of Supt. of Police Tom Higgins.

NANTY GLO, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—Warren Snyder, 46, was killed and a co-worker, Morris Paterini, 43, was injured yesterday in a rock fall at the Monroe mine in Nanty Glo.

Philadelphia Police Hunt Officer Killer

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(INS)—A non-stop manhunt for the killer of a Philadelphia policeman following a 21-cent holdup was climaxed early today when detectives seized one suspect and sent out an alarm for another.

Patrolman James J. Donohoe, 35-year-old war veteran, was cut down at point blank range yesterday with two bullets in the abdomen when he tried to question the holdup suspect.

Inspector Richard Doyle said police arrested Robert W. Taylor, 33 and are hunting for Albert Gnatz, 55, as the alleged killer. Both men, he said, were recently released from prison where they had served time for holdups.

Doyle quoted Taylor as telling investigators that he waited while Gnatz went into a midtown window cleaning establishment to ask operator Morris Hochman about a job.

Officer Is Shot

Taylor added that Gnatz came out and said he had been unable to get work but had held up the place. Hochman told police he gave the bandit 21 cents.

Both men, according to Taylor's story, ran down the Market street subway steps, and seconds later they were followed by Officer Donohoe who had heard Hochman's cries of "holdup".

Inspector Doyle quoted Taylor as telling detectives that Donohoe came up to him and someone said, "No, that's not the man," and pointed out Gnatz. When Donohoe grabbed Gnatz, Gnatz pulled out a pistol and shot him, according to Taylor.

Young Woman Goes Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 4.—(INS)—An unidentified young woman waded into the Niagara Falls river before the horrified eyes of several tourists last night and was swept over the American falls, presumably to her death.

Niagara Falls police today sought an unidentified tourist reported to have snapped a picture of the attractively dressed woman of about 25 as she went over the falls.

Three other tourists said they saw the woman enter the river about 100 yards above the falls. They were Mrs. Jane Baughman of Tampa, Fla., who sat near the victim before she calmly walked to the river; Michael Vacanti of Buffalo, N. Y., and Julius Falkenstein of New York City.

They said the woman had long, dark hair, wore a short red coat over a black dress and carried a blue pocketbook.

The United States owned railway in Panama is 48 miles long.

In The Open

The airy fairy shadbush has once more donned her bridal veil, to walk down the open forest aisles in shimmering beauty. Her path is strewn with great drifts of spring beauties, spreading their pastel carpet as far as eye carries through the trees. The countryman blunders in all this floral finery, quaffing great draughts of the delicate heady perfume distilled by the myriad blossoms underfoot and catching his breath at the loveliness of the lacy shadblow halo.

Three-slashed toothwort, hepatica and a lowly yellow violet were also in bloom beneath the forest giants, but the spring beauties, by sheer weight of numbers, completely stole the show. In certain favored nooks the gorgeous bloodroot spread wide its flat petals of purest white. It is senseless to spill the blood of this blossom, which falls apart quickly when plucked.

Regiment of Toads

In a marshy area surrounded by husky young skunk cabbage plants, a regiment of toads splashed about, waking the echoes with their loud, trilling love song. "Have you heard the blinking toad sing his solo by the river, when April nights are soft and warm, and spring is all a-quiver?" The toad chorus is a unique sound of the countryside, although it is almost duplicated when the 17-year locusts turn on the full orchestra during their periodic visits.

The blue-gray gnatcatcher, tiny long-tailed busybody of the treetops, has returned with his noisy alarm to the open timber edgings. Once his acquaintance is made there's no mistaking this fellow. He talks a bird brogue all his own. I thought I had pinned down a nest engineered by this midget last year, but he fooled me completely.

While I renewed acquaintance with the gnatchatcher a tiny bit of the sky fell. It lighted on a leaf by me, and expanded its wings and enjoyed the full sun. It was the common blue, one of the least and one of the loveliest of butterflies. This tiny, fearless bit of blue is a seal of the actual soft presence of the spring, which comes only when the April showers have made her calling and election sure.

The yellow trout lily has pushed its recurved petals clear up from the bulb hidden nearly a foot underground. On a remote bank, still secure from the trowel-carrying hiker, a large and flourishing colony of Virginia blue-bells was just breaking its blossoms loose from the bud scales. In another week that bank will be a symphony in blue, while myriad bees and flies and other "bugs" gather for the feast.

Special Committee

I had hardly reached the thickets guarding the timberland when a special committee came out to greet me. Most of these greeters were dressed in sparrow costume, streaked in the manner of the song sparrow. But among the group were several gaudy fellows all decked out in rosy pink, as though they had been under a raspberry juice shower.

These were the purple finches, not a familiar bird hereabouts, but by no means too uncommon. They sat high among the budding branches of a young elm, balancing on the slender twigs as they ate the buds and captured occasional insects. They must have forgotten to bring their music for there was no trace of the brilliant warbling of which these birds are capable.

They were not too scary and I had them in the glass in full sunlight for some time. They are about the size of the English sparrow. Their one bad habit, that of eating buds and flowers of valuable orchard trees, makes them unpopular in certain circles. But they are rather erratic wanderers, and the trees may suffer one year, and not see these rosy visitors again for several seasons.

A cowbird followed one of his harem about through the trees, swelling out his chest and delivering himself of a convulsive spilt whistle at opportune intervals. His lady love scolded him like a fishwife, but he urbanely overlooked these caustic comments and pressed his unwelcome suit persistently. She was still reading his ancestry in shrill language when I left the timber country.

I recently made the acquaintance of the fish crow, a smaller edition of our great citizen, old Corvus. These birds have a high pitched cry that cannot be called a "caw". They were flapping about the lofty pinnacle of a state capitol building, where they are said to come in search of pigeon eggs. It might be a good thing if some of their ancient wisdom could percolate down through that dome into the legislative halls below.

Corrects Idea Of Idyllic Life On South Sea Islands

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The notion that life on a South Sea Island is an idyllic existence where one rests under a tree waiting for luscious fruit to fall was corrected today by a Tahiti publisher.

Bertrand Juanez, publisher of "The Tapeete, Tahiti Courier", said it now costs a couple $100 a week to live on the island.

He noted that his four-page paper, which appears three times a week, costs 35 cents a copy.

Five Indicted In Kansas City By Grand Jury

KANSAS CITY, May 4.—(INS)—The federal grand jury indicted five men Wednesday in connection with its investigation of underworld activities in Kansas City.

Those indicted are:

Max Ducov, a beer dealer who shared his profits with the gangster elements.

Anthony Marcella, Michael P. Arnone, and Sam Torlorice, who were arrested with Carollo recently by federal tax agents as they were preparing to ship fifty thousand dollars worth of liquor to Oklahoma.

Carollo and his three associates were charged in three counts with "engaging in a conspiracy to sell liquor wholesale without paying the federal tax."

Ducov is charged with prevailing on an associate, Nathan Bassin, to "make false statements to the grand jury."

The indictments followed the first arrests made in the Binaggio-Gargotta murders which has resulted in a complete new police board and the dismissal of Supt. of Police Tom Higgins.

NANTY GLO, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—Warren Snyder, 46, was killed and a co-worker, Morris Paterini, 43, was injured yesterday in a rock fall at the Monroe mine in Nanty Glo.

Report Senate Loyalty Documents Being Released

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—State department documents refused to Senate loyalty probers by order of President Truman today reportedly are being released to attorneys for career diplomat John S. Service.

Service, recently recalled from a mission to India, is to appear before the State department's Loyalty Review Board this month to answer charges of Communism.

It was reported that the documents being released in preparation for Service's defense are the same ones which were prepared by the FBI and other federal agencies and withheld from the Senators on specific orders from the White House.

Service's counsel, however, immediately denied this.

Attorney Charles E. Rhetts insisted that the documents being made available to him are not those sought by the Senate's loyalty investigators.

Lifejacket Marked U.S.N. Found At Sea

STOCKHOLM, May 4.—(INS)—A Swedish air force spokesman was quoted today by the Daily Herald's Stockholm correspondent as reporting the discovery of a lifejacket marked "USN".

The newspaper said the jacket was fished out of the Baltic sea south of the Swedish island of Gotland.

The report immediately touched off speculation that the lifejacket may have come from the U. S. Navy patrol bomber which disappeared April 8 with ten men aboard.

The U. S. has charged Russia with shooting down the four-engined plane over the open sea, while the Soviet Union has protested that a "B-29 type" aircraft exchanged gunfire with Red fighter planes when it violated Russian territory.

Report Senate Loyalty Documents Being Released

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—State department documents refused to Senate loyalty probers by order of President Truman today reportedly are being released to attorneys for career diplomat John S. Service.

Service, recently recalled from a mission to India, is to appear before the State department's Loyalty Review Board this month to answer charges of Communism.

It was reported that the documents being released in preparation for Service's defense are the same ones which were prepared by the FBI and other federal agencies and withheld from the Senators on specific orders from the White House.

Service's counsel, however, immediately denied this.

Attorney Charles E. Rhetts insisted that the documents being made available to him are not those sought by the Senate's loyalty investigators.

Lifejacket Marked U.S.N. Found At Sea

The newspaper said the jacket was fished out of the Baltic sea south of the Swedish island of Gotland.

The report immediately touched off speculation that the lifejacket may have come from the U. S. Navy patrol bomber which disappeared April 8 with ten men aboard.

The U. S. has charged Russia with shooting down the four-engined plane over the open sea, while the Soviet Union has protested that a "B-29 type" aircraft exchanged gunfire with Red fighter planes when it violated Russian territory.

State Regains Anthracite In Dredging Operations

By AL SPIVAK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 4—Millions of tons of minuscule hard coal recovered from the Schuylkill river will be sold by the commonwealth to partially defray the $35,000,000 cost of desilting operations.

Deput. Forests and Waters Secretary E. S. McCawley estimated today that more than 50 per cent of the culm dredged from the river bed can be marketed for commercial use.

Private operators will bid for impounded culm and process it themselves, he said. Money received by the state will be returned to the Schuylkill river desilting fund.

The amount to be gained cannot be judged at this time, he added, since it will depend on the market value of coal at the time.

Limited Use

Because of its powder-fine nature, the recovered anthracite can be put only to limited use. McCawley said the electric power industry may use the coal but it will have to be blown under pressure into specially-equipped boilers.

Approximately 10,000,000 cubic yards of culm have been removed from the river to date, McCawley revealed out of 40,000,000 cubic yards estimated to be clogging the stream.

McCawley disclosed that samples testing the approximate carbon content of various basins reflect a yield of more than one and a half million tons of fine coal from three and a half million cubic yards of impounded culm. A cubic yard of culm weigh almost a ton.

Coal processers, including coal companies and professional washeries, have expressed interest in recovering the coal since the first report that it would be offered for sales, according to McCawley.

"Of course, mines have been recovering coal for years," he said, "but never on a scale such as this involving a great many tons at once."

Retains Value

McCawley does not believe that any coal has lost quality because of long years in water. Mine wastes began pouring into the Schuylkill 140 years ago.

"The coal was under the ground for a longer time than that without being hurt,' 'he said. "I don't think the river has harmed it."

With anthracite mine wastes seeping into the river at the rate of three and a half million tons a year until the state's clean streams program began in the fall of 1948, it is estimated that for every four tons of coal sent to market one ton was lost.

Of the wasted coal, 67 per cent is considered burnable.

State Regains Anthracite In Dredging Operations

By AL SPIVAK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 4—Millions of tons of minuscule hard coal recovered from the Schuylkill river will be sold by the commonwealth to partially defray the $35,000,000 cost of desilting operations.

Deput. Forests and Waters Secretary E. S. McCawley estimated today that more than 50 per cent of the culm dredged from the river bed can be marketed for commercial use.

Private operators will bid for impounded culm and process it themselves, he said. Money received by the state will be returned to the Schuylkill river desilting fund.

The amount to be gained cannot be judged at this time, he added, since it will depend on the market value of coal at the time.

Limited Use

Because of its powder-fine nature, the recovered anthracite can be put only to limited use, McCawley said the electric power industry may use the coal but it will have to be blown under pressure into specially-equipped boilers.

Approximately 10,000,000 cubic yards of culm have been removed from the river to date, McCawley revealed out of 40,000,000 cubic yards estimated to be clogging the stream.

McCawley disclosed that samples testing the approximate carbon content of various basins reflect a yield of more than one and a half million tons of fine coal from three and a half million cubic yards of impounded culm. A cubic yard of culm weigh almost a ton.

Coal processers, including coal companies and professional washeries, have expressed interest in recovering the coal since the first report that it would be offered for sales, according to McCawley.

"Of course, mines have been recovering coal for years," he said, "but never on a scale such as this involving a great many tons at once."

Retains Value

McCawley does not believe that any coal has lost quality because of long years in water. Mine wastes began pouring into the Schuylkill 140 years ago.

"The coal was under the ground for a longer time than that without being hurt,' he said. "I don't think the river has harmed it."

With anthracite mine wastes seeping into the river at the rate of three and a half million tons a year until the state's clean streams program began in the fall of 1948, it is estimated that for every four tons of coal sent to market one ton was lost.

Of the wasted coal, 67 per cent is considered burnable.

Judge Musmanno Tells Of Historic Nuremburg Trials

America's proud and just participation in the Nuremburg trials in Europe, was heard by local civic organizations, Wednesday evening, when an address was given by Hon. Judge Michael A. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh.

Held in the Cathedral, quite a large crowd listened to Judge Musmanno as he told the horrendous tale—of a people so wrought with arrogance, that they believed to be the master race. And with such a superiority complex, they inflicted upon millions of helpless others, inhuman tortures and indignities of an almost unbelievable nature. Not to be a Nazi was considered a stigma of inferiority, Hitler's satellites believed.

Appointed by President Truman to preside at the Nuremburg trials, Judge Musmanno was present when he heard the testimonies of 24 Nazi defendants at the famous trial.

Estimate Million Killed

Of these 24, who had become evil due to a monstrous doctrine of superiority, it was estimated that they had killed about 1,000,000 persons. Filled with hate, having a lack of understanding, humility and believing only that they were superior—these Nazi leaders, calmly told the presiding judge of how they ravaged, scourged, razed and killed in small towns and villages —so that they might protect the third Reich.

Had we, after World War I, had a tribunal, the brutality of World War II might not have occurred, said Judge Musmanno.

"Society must be based upon justice," he said, "or the boys who gave their lives in both wars, have died in vain."

"There must be responsibility in the world, and the United States has made a great step forward. During the tribunal, laws were written that any person who voluntarily participates in any crime, may not be excused by saying that he was acting under orders. The aggressors will be tried and punished. He who foments an aggressive war, will be punished."

"Protect Humanity"

What America did at Nuremburg, was to protect humanity. The world is made up as one family; and injustice anywhere in the world, will have its effect upon the United States.

Down through the ages, and in many lands, the people hope for justice. The stepping stones towards freedom are not injustice and arrogance. Instead it is a flag kissed by God, with good will and always a brother to man."

The banquet event held last evening was sponsored by the Wolves club. D. D. Valiensi, founder of the Wolves presented to Judge Musmanno at this time, an honorary membership to the club.

Other speakers who made brief remarks were Judge W. Walter Braham, and Judge John G. Lamoree, of the Lawrence county court.

Immediately after the steak dinner at 7 o'clock, Anthony Marino, president of the Wolves club extended a welcome. William DeCarbo, general chairman as master of ceremony introduced the guests at the speakers table and later introduced the principal speaker.

The invocation and benediction was offered by Rev. Fr. Raymond Heintz, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church. Beautiful bouquets of roses and snapdragons centered the speakers table.

In addition to local organizations who attended, members of the Ellwood City Wolves Den No. 2, were present.

Grange Favors Statehood For Hawaii

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—A spokesman for the National Grange testified Wednesday that World War II removed vigorous opposition on the west coast to proposed Hawaiian statehood.

Dr. J. T. Sanders, legislative counsel for the grange, said his organization has reversed its stand and is supporting statehood, which it wants congress to grant at this session.

Sanders told the senate interior committee that statehood is justified because of Hawaii's "great strategical value".

Moreover, he said, the islands are fully developed agriculturally, can meet all financial obligations and their citizens proved during the war that they are completely loyal Americans. Sanders declared:

"I am sure there is no vigorous opposition on the Pacific coast to statehood. The war has changed that."

Baby Books At Public Library

Probably the best bargain offered for Baby Week is the public library's collection of books on infants, their care, feeding, and habits.

The books include Dr. Herman Bundesen's, Baby Manual, which is very complete with help not only for mother but for father. Martin Senn's book, All About Feeding Children, has a self-explanatory title. Arnold Gesell's, Infant and Child in the Culture of Today, deals with the psychological study of the child. The books on pregnancy are widely used. Lownde's, Manual for Baby Sitters, has been popular.

At the public library every week is Baby Week.

Begins Youth Club

While in Des Moines, Dr. and Mrs. Orr organized and developed the "Youth Club Plan", a week day religious education program, providing Bible study, choir music, and recreation for youth. The program was especially designed to introduce youth and adults to the church and orient them in her mission. The program was adopted by 42 other churches in Des Moines and today the youth club program is being promoted on a nationwide scale by the United Presbyterian church. Hundreds of clubs are now in existence.

Another activity Dr. Orr originated is the Yuletide open house, a program he presented forty-nine times in December 1948, to an audience of over 18,000 people. One of the attractions of this program was eighty miniature trains in operation at one time over a mile of track.

BRIDE'S HOPE CHEST

"I am in love with a man who recently took a two-year position in a foreign country. Although we are not officially engaged, nor has he asked me in so many words to marry him, he has asked me to wait for him to come home. Do you think I should begin collecting my trousseau and filling a hope chest? Just when should girls begin these collections? And is a hope chest necessary?"

Answer: Since your engagement has not yet been made public and especially since the young man has not yet definitely asked you to marry him, you would be foolish to begin assembling items for your "hope chest."

The modern girl does not have a hope chest in the full sense of the word. She does not, as a rule, begin to lay aside linens and laces, lingerie, etc., before she is engaged and usually not before her wedding date is set.

The word trousseau is derived from "trusse" which means a little bundle. In ancient times, the trousseau—the bride's bundle of household things—was a dowry and a form of compensation to the bridegroom for the money or goods he, according to early custom, paid to the bride's father for the privilege of marrying his daughter. When this custom of "buying" a bride faded out, the fathers, nontheless, continued the dowry custom. And from this we derived the hope chest ide[illegible]'s realize the part material [illegible]ons play in winning a h[illegible]

In many [illegible]ign countries, girls begin as soon as they reach their teens to make bridal finery and household items for their homes. At one remote period, it was even in order for the bridegroom to examine the trousseau to see if he thought it adequate. The value of her accoutrements, in many cases, was the deciding factor in the choice of a bride. In the days of our grandmothers, the filling of the hope chest was a ritual which lost many of its traditions to the realism of today.

The sensible girl of today does not overcrowd a hope chest with useless items that will be outmoded by the time she is ready to use them. When she becomes engaged, she begins to collect a little of everything she will require to set up housekeeping in a manner in keeping with her husband's income and her own taste. These might include linens of every description and cooking utensils and wearing apparel. Her clothes might include sufficient dresses, etc., to last for a year—unless she plans to keep her job or she has an independent income, in which case she may do as she pleases.

Judge Musmanno Tells Of Historic Nuremburg Trials

America's proud and just participation in the Nuremburg trials in Europe, was heard by local civic organizations, Wednesday evening, when an address was given by Hon. Judge Michael A. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh.

Held in the Cathedral, quite a large crowd listened to Judge Musmanno as he told the horrendous tale—of a people so wrought with arrogance, that they believed to be the master race. And with such a superiority complex, they inflicted upon millions of helpless others, inhuman tortures and indignities of an almost unbelievable nature. Not to be a Nazi was considered a stigma of inferiority, Hitler's satellites believed.

Appointed by President Truman to preside at the Nuremburg trials, Judge Musmanno was present when he heard the testimonies of 24 Nazi defendants at the famous trial.

Estimate Million Killed

Of these 24, who had become evil due to a monstrous doctrine of superiority, it was estimated that they had killed about 1,000,000 persons. Filled with hate, having a lack of understanding, humility and believing only that they were superior—these Nazi leaders, calmly told the presiding judge of how they ravaged, scourged, razed and killed in small towns and villages —so that they might protect the third Reich.

Had we, after World War I, had a tribunal, the brutality of World War II might not have occurred, said Judge Musmanno.

"Society must be based upon justice," he said, "or the boys who gave their lives in both wars, have died in vain."

"There must be responsibility in the world, and the United States has made a great step forward. During the tribunal, laws were written that any person who voluntarily participates in any crime, may not be excused by saying that he was acting under orders. The aggressors will be tried and punished. He who foments an aggressive war, will be punished."

"Protect Humanity"

What America did at Nuremburg, was to 'protect humanity. The world is made up as one family, and injustice anywhere in the world, will have its effect upon the United States.

Down through the ages, and in many lands, the people hope for justice. The stepping stones towards freedom are not injustice and arrogance. Instead it is a flag kissed by God, with good will and always a brother to man."

The banquet event held last evening was sponsored by the Wolves club. D. D. Valiensi, founder of the Wolves presented to Judge Musmanno at this time, an honorary membership to the club.

Other speakers who made brief remarks were Judge W. Walter Braham, and Judge John G. Lamoree, of the Lawrence county court.

Immediately after the steak dinner at 7 o'clock, Anthony Marino, president of the Wolves club extended a welcome. William DeCarbo, general chairman as master of ceremony introduced the guests at the speakers table and later introduced the principal speaker.

The invocation and benediction was offered by Rev. Fr. Raymond Heintz, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church. Beautiful bouquets of roses and snapdragons centered the speakers table.

In addition to local organizations who attended, members of the Ellwood City Wolves Den No. 2, were present.

Grange Favors Statehood For Hawaii

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—A spokesman for the National Grange testified Wednesday that World War II removed vigorous opposition on the west coast to proposed Hawaiian statehood.

Dr. J. T. Sanders, legislative counsel for the grange, said his organization has reversed its stand and is supporting statehood, which it wants congress to grant at this session.

Sanders told the senate interior committee that statehood is justified because of Hawaii's "great strategical value".

Moreover, he said, the islands are fully developed agriculturally, can meet all financial obligations and their citizens proved during the war that they are completely loyal Americans. Sanders declared:

"I am sure there is no vigorous opposition on the Pacific coast to statehood. The war has changed that."

Baby Books At Public Library

Probably the best bargain offered for Baby Week is the public library's collection of books on infants, their care, feeding, and habits.

The books include Dr. Herman Bundesen's, Baby Manual, which is very complete with help not only for mother but for father. Martin Senn's book, All About Feeding Children, has a self-explanatory title. Arnold Gesell's, Infant and Child in the Culture of Today, deals with the psychological study of the child. The books on pregnancy are widely used. Lownde's, Manual for Baby Sitters, has been popular.

At the public library every week is Baby Week.

SPRINGTIME MEANS WINDOW SCREEN TIME

Beware of that pest, the common house fly. Homemakers are reminded that now is the time to start getting ready for warm weather.

It is time to repair and paint window screens. Wash the windows and clean the screens before you put them in. Paint the screens on both sides with kerosene to remove rust. Wipe off excess kerosene with a dry cloth.

To repair tears or holes in screening, trim the edge of the hole to remove frayed wire ends. Unravel the edges one-half inch and bend the ends at right angles. Cut a patch from a piece of matching screen about inch larger than the hole. Place the patch over the hole, letting the raveled ends come through the patch. Bend the ends down flat to hold the patch in place.

If screens are rusted or stain the woodwork, try coating them with varnish thinned with linseed oil or turpentine. Copper screening will sometimes stain. Iron, even if galvanized or enameled, will rust after long use. To refinish iron mesh, dab a little enamel or varnish on the screen, making sure you do not close the meshes. Apply a coat to both sides of the screening.

Painted screen frames will be more attractive and wear longer than unpainted frames.

RHUBARB ADDS ZEST TO SPRING MEALS

Rhubarb soon will be at its pink and juicy best. Why not plan to serve it often in your springtime meals. Rhubarb may be frozen, too, for year-round enjoyment.

Homemakers will probably make the usual rhubarb sauce and rhubarb pie, but may want to try rhubarb in a mixed fruit cup with fresh bananas, pineapple and strawberries; or rhubarb crisp, or rhubarb betty.

A slightly different rhubarb dish with an unusual flavor is here suggested—Tropical Rhubarb.

TROPICAL RHUBARB
(4 servings)

1 large orange, peeled, sliced
¾ cup sugar
2½ cups fresh rhubarb, cut in one-inch pieces
½ teaspoon grated orange peel
¼ cup grated coconut

Place sliced orange in a buttered casserole. Mix sugar and orange peel. Sprinkle one-half of the mixture over the orange. Top with rhubarb mixed with remaining sugar. Bake covered in a 400 degree F. oven about 45 minutes or until rhubarb is tender. Serve hot or cold and sprinkle each serving with grated coconut.

Directions for freezing rhubarb are given in the circular "Freezing Fruits and Vegetables". Those desiring a copy of this publication may obtain it from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

WELL-ADJUSTED PLOW DOES BEST WORK

Plows work well only when properly adjusted. Tighten up loose bolts and grease working parts. Rolling coulters and jointers help cover the trash before the furron slice turns over. If the trailer plow does not go into the ground very well, drop the plow hitch.

Keep in mind control of the corn borers. Cover old cornstalks completely as soon as possible. After those borers will be flying, which will be before long, it will be too late to control this pest by plowing under. Tie the ned of a piece of No. 9 wire about 12 feet long around the post of each coulter and run the other end underneath the coulter hub and let it trail in the furrow being covered. The wire helps cover the stalks. Some plows have an attachment made especially to help cover the trash.

CHICKS DOUBLE WEIGHT DURING FIRST TWO WEEKS

Give a chick a normal diet and in two weeks he'll have doubled his weight. This weight doubling usually is repeated at the end of the next two 2-week periods.

After six weeks growth is less rapid. Four to five weeks elapse before weight is doubled a fourth time, and at least another six weeks before it doubles again.

Growing chicks need greater quantities of growth-promoting feedstuffs during periods of extremely rapid growth than at later stages. During rapid growth they make the most efficient use of these expensive growing rations which are rich in proteins and vitamins. After 12 weeks of age they can have more grain.

Less grower mash is required if the chickens are out on tender, nourishing grass, and the amount of grain increased. Some poultrymen feed only a mixture of grains to pullets on high-quality ladino clover range from the time they are 12 weeks old until ready for laying quarters.

Not alone a matter of good nutrition, rate of growth also is determined by breeding, kind of breed and variety. Cockerels grow faster than pullets. Vigor in chicks may be affected by the kind of incubation job done, quality of the hatching eggs, and vigor in parent stocks. These factors can affect the hatch itself.

Growth, like egg production and hatchability, is influenced by feeding, breeding, and management.

In 1949, American railroads paid $2.25 for the same units of manpower and materials which cost only $1 in 1921.

Emperor Hirohito Dutifully Attends Third Anniversary

TOKYO, May 4.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako dutifully appeared on a platform in Tokyo's Imperial plaza to attend a public observance of the third anniversary of Japan's post-war Democratic constitution.

The royal couple joined in the "banzais" of a laconic crowd of 6,000 which contrasted sharply with Monday's noisy May Day rally attended by 300,000 Japanese in the same plaza.

The emperor and empress stood at attention patiently, with unchanging expressions, for 20 minutes while morning-coated officials, wearing huge pink chrysanthemums, bowed stiffly and read formal statements from parchment scrolls.

Turns Down Demands For Gold Price Boost

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—The international monetary fund on Wednesday turned down demands for a world wide price increase in gold and urged its 47 member nations not to sell gold above the U.S. market price.

A fund statement announced the decision by the agency's executive board.

The recommendations are slated for a formal vote this summer by the fund's board of governors but today's action was said to be tantamount to a refusal by the fund.

The Union of South Africa has led the battle for the price increase but the fund said today that after a lengthy study there is "no economic justification" for a change.

Gold sales throughout the world are pegged on the United States price of $35 an ounce.

Shrine Luncheon Club Will Meet

Of the 106 million persons in the United States in 1947 of 14 years and over, about 2.8 million were illiterate, which constituted a new low.

To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Austin Takes Issue With Hoover Idea

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—Warren Austin, U. S. representative to the United Nations, took issue with former President Hoover's proposal that Russia and its satellites be excluded from the U. N.

Austin, who conferred at the White House with President Truman, later told newsmen:

"It would be most unfortunate to the peace of the world if we withdrew from the United nations, or if we asked the Soviet Union to withdraw.

"The assumption that the free world is not united now is contrary to the facts.

"If we withdraw the Soviet Union from the United Nations we lose a vital factor for keeping unity in the free world.

"If you want to redeem a sinner you don't kick him out of church."

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The fashion forecast for fall is mild and pleasant, with not much change in character.

Forecasters see a sunny season in which no sharp shifts of style currents will make last year's clothes obsolete.

The straight skirt, 15-inch hem, little-boy look, and normal waistline will come back with September.

There may be some gray overcast (gray being a '50 predicted color favorite) but the picture is predominately bright (yellow, red orange and tartan plaids).

Police Patrol More Than 10,000 Miles

State police rode 10,115 miles during April to investigate highway accidents between motor vehicles and investigations, according to a monthly report issued at the local substation today.

The mileage was covered by patrols or separate trips.

Twenty four accidents were inquired into, in which one person was killed, and eight hurt, a decrease of one killed and eight injured, compared with April, of one year ago.

Property damage totalled $9,105.

The major causes of the accidents were: speed, too fast for road conditions, failure to drive on the right side of the road and improper passing.

Most accidents occurred between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. and 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

One hundred and thirty motorists were arrested for highway irregularities, they report.

Work Of Alcoholics Anonymous Related

New Castle Kiwanis club was host to a member of Alcoholics Anonymous at the noon luncheon meeting, Wednesday, instead of the speaker who had been previously scheduled, and who was unable to be present.

The speaker, an Ohioan, told of the predicament he had been in through continued use of alcohol, and of how he finally decided to do something about it. He was greatly aided in his efforts by Alcoholics Anonymous.

In New Castle, he stated, he had attended the anniversary meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous, which was attended by 300 who are members here, and who have gotten a new grip on themselves and life, through the work of the association.

He stated that anyone wishing the aid of Alcoholics Anonymous has but to address a post card to Alcoholics Anonymous and he will be contacted within 48 hours by someone from the association.

Committee Favors Boost In Government Old Age Pensions

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—Senate finance legislators announced approval of a 90 per cent average boost in government old age pensions, increasing total payments to two billion dollars in the first year.

The increases will be provided for in the social security expansion bill on which the finance committee has been at work for months. Higher pensions would be paid to 2,900,000 persons now on the rolls and to 40,600,000 more as they became eligible.

Maximum pensions would be increased from $45 to $72 per month for insured individuals, and from $85 to $150 per month for families.

The committe agreed also to include in the bill a provision guaranteeing state unemployment compensation funds as a protection for some states now skidding close to trouble. An identical guarantee was in effect, but expired last December 31.

Chairman George (D) Ga., said the finance group has now completed work on the old age features of the bill, except for minor details. It should finish its task, he added, and report the bill to the senate for action by the middle of next week.

El Salvador is the only Central America state without an Atlantic coast line.

Gibbs To Appeal For New Trial

LANCASTER, Pa., May 4—(INS)—Court officials said convicted murderer Edward L. Gibbs, condemned to death for the slaying of Marian L. Baker, will appeal for a new trial at the June 19 session of argument court.

Gibbs' attorneys will base their demand for a new trial on the grounds that the court erred in admitting certain evidence during the trial and that some portions of Judge Joseph B. Wissler's charge to the jury were technically objectionable.

A jury of five women and seven men last March recommended the death penalty for the 25-year-old Franklin and Marshall college senior who was convicted of bludgeoning to death the young college secretary.

Complete testimony of the four-day trial must be transcribed before the appeal can be heard.

Meanwhile, Lancaster County Prison Warden Walter B. Foust said Gibbs has been a model prisoner. His family, minister and attorney have been his only visitors, Foust said.

State Capitol

Will Renovate Old Buildings

Other News About Affairs In State

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—The 32-year old "temporary" buildings in the rear of the main capitol structure are due for renovation. . . . Maintenance officials were goaded into action by complaints from workers. . . . They complained that the furniture and supplies piled in narrow corridors were infested with rats and vermin. . . . In addition, they complained, creaking stairs and loose ceiling plaster created a daily hazard. . . . There was some talk about termites chewing at the foundations of the wood and stucco buildings. . . . But workers really were riled by the fact that the building which prompted the complaints is assigned to the State Health Department. . . . The sagging buildings have been an eyesore to capitol landscapers since their erection. . . . At one time, files of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in one of the structures where so heavy that the wooden floor sagged almost to the breaking point. . . . They since have been moved to the finance building.

Back of former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's endorsement of the Duff-Fine slate is a long friendship with Governor Duff. . . . Margiotti and Duff were in business together. . . . In 1934 Margiotti ran for governor on the Republican primary ticket and Duff was his campaign manager. . . . Out of more than 1,217,000 votes, Margiotti came up with approximately 198,000 and was third high on the primary slate which was topped by William A. Schnader. . . . In 1936, Margiotti turned into the Democratic camp and was named attorney general. . . . About two and a half years later Margiotti made the charges which sparked legislative and grand jury investigations of the Earle administration and were credited with helping Republicans win the 1938 gubernatorial election. . . . Since retirement from politics, Margiotti has interested himself in a lucrative law practice and owns part of a firm building part of the eastern extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike.

The Department of Public Assistance Relief report for 1949 shows that high rentals push the essential cash needs of indigents past the maximum allowances. . . . At no time does the department impose a single rent schedule but provides grants with average rents and maximum rents. . . . Thus the essential need of the average person living alone calls for $53 from the state but high rentals make the sum five dollars short of meeting all costs. . . . An average family of eight, reports the department, needs $216 to meet all expenses but the state can supply only $192. . . . "Although rents have increased about 10 per cent in the last year, no increase was made in rent allowances because of the stringency of funds," the department said.

The State Sanitary Water Board has arranged to spend $65,000 for a film showing the progress made in cleaning up the Schuylkill river. . . . The film is scheduled for showing in the early fall. . . . The board also has spent $32,000 for a private firm's survey of the Clarion river, next major waterway on the cleanup program. . . . The survey is understood to have resulted in the same conclusions as those reached earlier by the board's own engineers.

State Internal Affairs Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., who seeks a fourth term in office, has taken notice of political charges that the department has little value in the state government's structure. He has issued a 2,000 word report on the department's function labeled "my report to the people on local government." . . . Republican gubernatorial hopeful Charles S. Williams, a Lycoming county judge, has pormised to sponsor a move to rip out the department if elected.

Steel Industry On Way To New Record Declares Iron Age

NEW YORK, May 4.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age says that the steel industry is well on its way toward setting a new production record in the second quarter.

It based this prediction on the following factors:

1. Operations are expected to remain at near 100 percent of rated capacity.
2. The industry's capacity is larger than it has ever been.
3. Current record-breaking production is supported by huge demand, which is general for nearly all major steel items.
4. Inventories of steel users are not large, and in fact are considered unsatisfactory in many cases.
5. Traditionally cautious steel officials are predicting capacity output through the second or third quarter.
6. Steel company order backlogs are bigger, averaging about five months at current production rates, and pressure from consumers is still growing.

The national metalworking weekly reported that the record pace of steel operations has brought price advances in the scrap market. The Iron Age steel scrap composite price topped the $30 a ton level and established another new high for the year during the past week.

Purchasers Will Meet Next Week

It is expected that several additional members will be affiliated at this meeting, making the membership large enough to secure a charter from the National Association.

New Restrictions On Freight Traffic In German Sector

BERLIN, May 4.—(INS)—The Soviet-controlled East German rail directorate today placed the most rigid restrictions on rail and freight traffic since the end of the Berlin blockade.

New orders, which do not apply to allied traffic, went out to all shippers in West Berlin telling them they must load all west-bound freight in the Soviet sector.

No freight cars will be dispatched to West Berlin for loading of west-bound traffic.

West Berlin officials said they fear the new regulations will result in East German police seizures of west sector goods.

State Industrial Rally Attributed To Postponements

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—The rally in industrial activity in Pennsylvania during March could be attributed to the postponement of production in February because of the coal strikes, the Pennsylvania State College Bureau of Business Research reports.

The index of industrial activity in March stood at 184, a nine point jump from February.

For the first time in 14 months, the index did not show a decrease from the same month of the previous year, the bureau said.

Bank debits, affected by continued payments of veterans insurance refunds and the state bonus, kept bank debits at a high level, the bureau reported.

Industrial power sales also rose more than seasonal expected during March, according to the business bureau.

About 90 per cent of the nation's bauxite, the source of aluminum, comes from Arkansas.

State Capitol

Will Renovate Old Buildings

Other News About Affairs In State

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—The 32-year old "temporary" buildings in the rear of the main capitol structure are due for renovation. . . . Maintenance officials were goaded into action by complaints from workers. . . . They complained that the furniture and supplies piled in narrow corridors were infested with rats and vermin. . . . In addition, they complained, creaking stairs and loose ceiling plaster created a daily hazard. . . . There was some talk about termites chewing at the foundations of the wood and stucco buildings. . . . But workers really were riled by the fact that the building which prompted the complaints is assigned to the State Health Department. . . . The sagging buildings have been an eyesore to capitol landscapers since their erection. . . . At one time, files of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in one of the structures where so heavy that the wooden floor sagged almost to the breaking point. . . . They since have been moved to the finance building.

Back of former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's endorsement of the Duff-Fine slate is a long friendship with Governor Duff. . . . Margiotti and Duff were in business together. . . . In 1934 Margiotti ran for governor on the Republican primary ticket and Duff was his campaign manager. . . . Out of more than 1,217,000 votes, Margiotti came up with approximately 198,000 and was third high on the primary slate which was topped by William A. Schnader. . . . In 1936, Margiotti turned into the Democratic camp and was named attorney general. . . . About two and a half years later Margiotti made the charges which sparked legislative and grand jury investigations of the Earle administration and were credited with helping Republicans win the 1938 gubernatorial election. . . . Since retirement from politics, Margiotti has interested himself in a lucrative law practice and owns part of a firm building part of the eastern extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike.

The Department of Public Assistance Relief report for 1949 shows that high rentals push the essential cash needs of indigents past the maximum allowances. . . . At no time does the department impose a single rent schedule but provides grants with average rents and maximum rents. . . . Thus the essential need of the average person living alone calls for $53 from the state but high rentals make the sum, five dollars short of meeting all costs. . . . An average family of eight, reports the department, needs $216 to meet all expenses but the state can supply only $192. . . . "Although rents have increased about 10 per cent in the last year, no increase was made in rent allowances because of the stringency of funds," the department said.

This was the union's last meeting until fall. Rev. J. L. Petrie closed with the benediction.

Philadelphia Girl Wins Wellesley Senior Hoop Race

WELLESLEY, Mass., May 4.—An attractive blue-eyed Philadelphia blonde on Wednesday won the 56th running of the Wellesley college senior hoop race. Tradition says the winner of the race will be the first of her class to marry.

But Miss Ardis Voegelin, 21, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Adrian Voegelin of (3926 Henry avenue) Philadelphia, emphatically announced that she is "not even engaged."

The medium-tall Philadelphia flyer was the choice of her "corridor" to outspeed approximately 200 other seniors in the 300-yard run.

She was the second person to cross the finish line. Harvard University business college student Ed Tuttle of Summit, N. J., one of the two traditional Harvard interlopers, galloped home first.

The tradition concerning Harvard men in the Wellesley classic was immediately fulfilled. Tuttle and George Cloutier, a Harvard junior from Croton-on-Hudson, who finished third, were dunked in Lake Waban by the girls.

Republic Steel To Close Plant In Pittsburgh Area

The division employs 137 persons. Handloser said the company will try to place them in other jobs.

The plant opened in 1852, and has employed as many as 500.

Homemakers Learn Upholstering Work

To acquaint others with the Home Economics Extension Service in Lawrence county, the several of the organized groups of homemakers who studied problems in home management are having teas to tell of their accomplishments.

The most popular project was the repair and refinishing of furniture. As the homemakers met in the homes of the members, each with her own piece of furniture to repair, the extension workers, Miss Patricia Kelly, and Mrs. George Yack, demonstrated the tying of springs, padding procedure, and the re-upholstering. Other chairs were refinished, and some were re-caned.

In order to have sufficient light for each household task, slides were used to illustrate the proper placement of lamps and fixtures and the use of enough light was discussed. After the re-arranging of lights in the homes, thirty-five lamp shades were recovered to give an attractive appearance and meet the specifications of good lighting.

Most requests for help in home decorating and remodeling were answered by means of home visits by the extension workers. Better management of time and the re-arranging of equipment and supplies made the homemakers' tasks easier. The home management projects are always well received by the homemakers, as the progress of week to week learning is tangible proof of sound accomplishment.

Most of the important inventions in the Eighteenth Century England were by working men, and came from the workshop rather than the laboratory.

Methodist Union Plans Activities

New Castle Methodist union, consisting of representatives of all Methodist churches in this city, gathered Tuesday evening in First Methodist church, Dr. T. H. Morris, district superintendent, who presided, opened with prayer.

A three-point program was planned. Methodist Day will be observed this summer at Cascade Park. An united dinner will take place this fall with a prominent speaker. Arrangements are being made for four special nights during Lent. Committees have been appointed for the three projects.

Rev. J. A. Gaiser gave a report for the home mission board on the Hillsville Italian Methodist church property that was sold recently.

Philadelphia Girl Wins Wellesley Senior Hoop Race

WELLESLEY, Mass., May 4.—An attractive blue-eyed Philadelphia blonde on Wednesday won the 56th running of the Wellesley college senior hoop race. Tradition says the winner of the race will be the first of her class to marry.

But Miss Ardie Voegelin, 23, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Adrian Voegelin of (3926 Henry avenue) Philadelphia, emphatically announced that she is "not even engaged."

The medium-tall Philadelphia flyer was the choice of her "corridor" to outspeed approximately 200 other seniors in the 300-yard run.

She was the second person to cross the finish line. Harvard University business college student Ed Tuttle of Summit, N. J., one of the two traditional Harvard interlopers, galloped home first.

The tradition concerning Harvard men in the Wellesley classic was immediately fulfilled. Tuttle and George Cloutier, a Harvard junior from Croton-on-Hudson, who finished third, were dunked in Lake Waban by the girls.

Republic Steel To Close Plant In Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—(INS)—The Republic Steel Corporation has announced plans to close its only Pittsburgh district plant—the Dilworth Porter division in Pittsburgh.

Works manager B. F. Handloser blamed lack of business for the closing which will occur next fall.

The division employs 187 persons. Handloser said the company will try to place them in other jobs.

The plant opened in 1852, and has employed as many as 500.

Homemakers Learn Upholstering Work

To acquaint others with the Home Economics Extension Service in Lawrence county, the several of the organized groups of homemakers who studied problems in home management are having teas to tell of their accomplishments.

The most popular project was the repair and refinishing of furniture. As the homemakers met in the homes of the members, each with her own piece of furniture to repair, the extension workers, Miss Patricia Kelly, and Mrs. George Yack, demonstrated the tying of springs, padding procedure, and the re-upholstering. Other chairs were refinished, and some were re-caned.

In order to have sufficient light for each household task, slides were used to illustrate the proper placement of lamps and fixtures and the use of enough light was discussed. After the re-arranging of lights in the homes, thirty-five lamp shades were recovered to give an attractive appearance and meet the specifications of good lighting.

Most requests for help in home decorating and remodeling were answered by means of home visits by the extension workers. Better management of time and the re-arranging of equipment and supplies made the homemakers' tasks easier. The home management projects are always well received by the homemakers, as the progress of week to week learning is tangible proof of sound accomplishment.

Most of the important inventions in the Eighteenth Century England were by working men, and came from the workshop rather than the laboratory.

Pollock P.T.A. Installs Heads

Speaker And Musical Program

An installation of new unit officers marked the meeting of the Pollock Parent-Teachers Association on Wednesday evening.

President Orlando Lucidore welcomed the group, with Miss Ruth Weir leading the singing. Mrs. Hazel Mead read the PTA prayer. Peter Grittie, principal, then conducted the impressive installation ceremony. Mrs. Guy Natale, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the new slate of officers for the coming year. "I am sure," said Mr. Grittie, "that you are aware of the responsibilities of your new offices. Through your work and the cooperation of the entire unit, we shall be able to build a strong parent-teacher organization".

New Officers

Accepting the offices during the evening were Orlando Lucidore, president; Mrs. Philomena DeFiore, vice president; Mrs. Madeline Gensanti, secretary, and Mrs. Mary Richards, treasurer. Expressing the sentiment of the group, Mr. Lucidore stated: "I accept my position in behalf of the officers. We will strive to do all we can to perfect the work being done by the PTA."

In appreciation for his endless help and understanding in school affairs, John Eckert was presented with a lovely gift from the unit. Mrs. Mildred Rosenberg's class was awarded the prize for having the largest representation of parents.

Arthur Canning, music instructor of the public schools, had charge of the musical program for the evening. Rees Flannery, John Armino, Carmen Criscito, Jimmy Esposito, Danny DeCarlo and Anthony Ross made up the group playing the trumpets, clarinet and drums, accompanied by Miss Ruth Weir at the piano.

The boys first played "Sailing" and "Grandfather's Clock", followed by a drum solo by John Armino. He entertained with the unusual "Contrasting Cadences" and "Street Drum Beat". The entire group then played "College Song", "Rose of Tralee" and "Mexican Clapping Song". These boys and others at the school who take lessons from Mr. Canning are to be commended for the excellent progress they are making.

Delegates to the City Council meeting of June 7 will be Miss Margaret Lowery, Mrs. Henry Venditto, Mrs. Guy Natale, Mrs. Mary Sands and Orlando Lucidore.

Playground Work

Mrs. Mary Sands, instructor at the Pollock playground and chairman of the street paving committee, said that a petition needed to be signed in order to have Pollock avenue paved from Lutton street to Division street. Mrs. Sands had explained to city council that paving the street would improve year-round conditions at the school.

Continuing, she stated: "Pollock playground has been operating for four years, and averages from two to three hundred participants each day during the summer. Handicraft seems to be the chief interest of the children, and one Pollock girl received first prize in a city-wide handicraft contest last summer."

"Don't worry about your child while he is at the playground. He will really learn something, for it isn't just all play. Each week special events are planned, and suggestions from parents are always welcome."

Delicious refreshments were later served by the social committee. Bowls of flowers centered the attractively appointed buffet table. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Charles Richards, chairlady; Mrs. Guy Natale, Miss Helen Ryan, Miss Agnes Shepp, Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. John George, Mrs. Rose Buonpane, Mrs. Nick Chill and Mrs. Nancy Terrari.

Pollock P.T.A. Installs Heads

Speaker And Musical Program

An installation of new unit officers marked the meeting of the Pollock Parent-Teachers Association on Wednesday evening.

President Orlando Lucidore welcomed the group, with Miss Ruth Weir leading the singing. Mrs. Hazel Mead read the PTA prayer. Peter Grillie, principal, then conducted the impressive installation ceremony. Mrs. Guy Natale, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the new slate of officers for the coming year. "I am sure," said Mr. Grillie, "that you are aware of the responsibilities of your new offices. Through your work and the cooperation of the entire unit, we shall be able to build a strong parent-teacher organization".

New Officers

Accepting the offices during the evening were Orlando Lucidore, president; Mrs. Philomena DeFiore, vice president; Mrs. Madeline Gensanti, secretary, and Mrs. Mary Richards, treasurer. Expressing the sentiment of the group, Mr. Lucidore stated: "I accept my position in behalf of the officers. We will strive to do all we can to perfect the work being done by the PTA."

In appreciation for his endless help and understanding in school affairs, John Eckert was presented with a lovely gift from the unit. Mrs. Mildred Rosenberg's class was awarded the prize for having the largest representation of parents.

Arthur Canning, music instructor of the public schools, had charge of the musical program for the evening. Rees Flannery, John Armino, Carmen Criscito, Jimmy Esposito, Danny DeCarlo and Anthony Ross made up the group playing the trumpets, clarinet and drums, accompanied by Miss Ruth Weir at the piano.

The boys first played "Sailing" and "Grandfather's Clock", followed by a drum solo by John Armino. He entertained with the unusual "Contrasting Cadences" and "Street Drum Beat". The entire group then played "College Song", "Rose of Tralee" and "Mexican Clapping Song". These boys and others at the school who take lessons from Mr. Canning are to be commended for the excellent progress they are making.

Delegates to the City Council meeting of June 7 will be Miss Margaret Lowery, Mrs. Henry Venditto, Mrs. Guy Natale, Mrs. Mary Sands and Orlando Lucidore.

Playground Work

Mrs. Mary Sands, instructor at the Pollock playground and chairman of the street paving committee, said that a petition needed to be signed in order to have Pollock avenue paved from Lutton street to Division street. Mrs. Sands had explained to city council that paving the street would improve year-round conditions at the school.

Continuing, she stated: "Pollock playground has been operating for four years, and averages from two to three hundred participants each day during the summer. Handicraft seems to be the chief interest of the children, and one Pollock girl received first prize in a city-wide handicraft contest last summer."

"Don't worry about your child while he is at the playground. He will really learn something, for it isn't just all play. Each week special events are planned, and suggestions from parents are always welcome."

Delicious refreshments were later served by the social committee. Bowls of flowers centered the attractively appointed buffet table. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Charles Richards, chairlady; Mrs. Guy Natale, Miss Helen Ryan, Miss Agnes Shepp, Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. John George, Mrs. Rose Buonpane, Mrs. Nick Chill and Mrs. Nancy Terrarl.

AVIAN MYSTERY

In June 1948 the last major unsolved ornithological mystery gave up the ghost. On the tundra flats 50 miles above the mouth of the Yukon, the nesting ground of the bristle-thighed curlew was discovered by David Allen, son of the leader of the National Geographic expedition, and his companion, an Alaska Native Service schoolteacher. It ended a search of more than 150 years.

The event was mindful of an incident which happened here some years ago. A resident of Hazelcroft avenue called the writer to tell him that his cat had caught a strange bird. Moreover, the bird had an aluminum band on one of its legs.

The mystery bird proved to be a chimney swift and the band subsequently disclosed that the bird was one of many of the same species banded at Thomaston, Ga., the purpose, of course, being to trace its flight with the hope of throwing some light on the whereabouts of its winter home.

For many years the chimney swift, that little soot colored bird often seen flying about our homes in the summer, and exceedingly common in these parts, baffled ornithologists. Each fall it collects in innumerable hosts on the northern shores of the Gulf of Mexico and then disappears out over its waters. Despite the efforts of many competent observers stationed at strategic points on the other side, none were ever seen to land or even so much as to pass overhead.

More recently, many attempt to follow them by airplane proved useless. Their elusiveness caused many people to give some credence to the belief that the birds actually hibernated in the depths of the sea or even in remote jungle swamps. This theory, impossible as is sounds, was given some scientific support because several eminent naturalists have found chimney swifts in a "torpid death-like state" long after other migatory birds had flown south for the winter. When they were warmed up and released, they flew away.

In the meanwhile, some two-thousand amateur bird banders working under the supervision of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, went about the business of catching and banding 375,000 swifts. The birds were banded in widely separated areas ranging from Georgia to Ontairo.

In the winter of 1943 the systematic banding operations bore results. Thirteen bands taken from birds they had killed in the South American jungle were produced by Indian hunters. The specific location was in the remote Yanayaco river valley in Peru.

Since the bird killed by a local cat had been banded the year before the discovery was made, it can be safely assumed that in the interim the swift had visited its winter home in distant Peru. Imagine the irony of safely traveling more than 6,00 hazardous miles over jungles, seas and mountains only to be laid low by a housecat on the driveway of a home in New Castle, Pa.

This weekend plan a trip to the game commission's Pymatuning Museum which opened Monday. On exhibition are more than 300 superbly mounted specimens of the various waterfowl and allied species taken in the area. The spacious and attractive grounds are a mecca for numerous visitors, especially since one may be greeted by Bambi the orphaned deer.

The museum is located on Ford island, a mile from Linesville and only a few hundred yards from the famous spillway where the ducks walk on the fish's backs (sometimes). Since the writer holds forth at the museum, he shall be glad to give special attention to any readers of this piece. The hours are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission, of course, is free.

The distance from New Castle is exactly 50 miles via Jamestown or Hartstown. By way of the main dam, Andover, O., and the causeway, it is 10 miles farther. Last season alone we had more than 157,000 visitors fro mevery state and 22 foreign countries. Bring the children.

Brookville To Buy Crab Apple Trees

BROOKVILLE, Pa., May 4—(INS)—Brookville—the name inspired by many surrounding brooks—someday may be Pennsylvania's crab apple tree town.

The chamber of commerce intends to buy 1,000 crab apple trees which will be given to public institutions. Labor will be provided for planting. Townfolks will pay the wholesale price—about 30 cents for each tree.

Crab apple blossoms are similar in appearance to the famous cherry tree blossoms in the nation's capital.

They bloom in late May.

State Farm Prices Drop Two Points

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—Prices Pennsylvania farmers received for their main products dipped two points for the month ended April 15, the Agriculture Department announced.

A -point increase in the price farmers must pay for food, feed and other necessities cut the purchasing power of their dollar by two cents, the department said.

A five point increase in crop prices was offset by a similar decline in livestock values, the department added. Milk was down 20 cents a hundredweight while eggs advanced 1.7 cents.

The department said that meat production in Pennsylvania's commercial slaughter houses during March totaled 66,126,000 pounds or 11 percent above the February total.

Approve New Dairy Barn At Penn State

HARRISBURG, May 4.—(INS)—Construction of a new dairy barn for livestock research at the Pennsylvania State College has been approved by the General State Authority.

The authority also channeled other funds for construction of new farm storage sheds and food processing research laboratories at the college. Allocations for the three projects will total more than $700,000.

Senate Probe Of Gambling Is In Recess

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—Senate gambling investigators today recessed their public hearings indefinitely after two Kansas City racing news distributors repeatedly refused to answer questions about their business.

Chairman McFarland (D) Ariz., announced that the hearings are recessed until the committee can clear up the "entire chain" of how racing news gets to bookmakers. The committee is considering a bill to ban transmission of such news.

Tano Lococo and Eddie "Spitz" Osadchey, the two witnesses, refused on the advice of their lawyer to tell how much they charge their customers—allegedly bookmakers—or whether they themselves engage in gambling.

McFarland told Myron Ehrlich, attorney for the two men, that some of their refusals based on "constitutional grounds" may not be justified and that they may be prosecuted.

Pay $100 Per Week

Osadchey then answered a question about how much his customers are charged. He said some customers pay $100 a week and others a lesser amount.

Osadchey denied that he used "force" or "threats" to get Simon Partnoy, who was a racing news distributor in Kansas City until 1946, to join his group.

He said that four men—including slain gangster Charles Gargotta—paid Partnoy $7,500 for his business and then gave him $200 a week plus 15 percent of the net profits to operate it.

Osadchey said that his "Standards News Service" sometimes made as much as $2,000 a month.

Both Osadchey and Lococo refused to say whether they discussed gambling with Charles Binaggio, Democratic political figure in Kansas City, and Gargotta when they saw them several days before they were killed.

Two Are Killed In Plane Crash In Nebraska

PUEBLO, Colo., May 4.—(INS)—Investigators said today that a plane crash in which Sheriff Joe Tucker of Pueblo, Colo., and a woman were killed probably was due to gasoline exhaustion.

The dead woman was identified as Mrs. Barbara Cook, 35-year-old wife of a man Tucker helped send to prison on a burglary charge. A special deputy sheriff's commission was found in her clothes.

The 38-year-old sheriff and Mrs. Cook were killed Tuesday when Tucker's four-place Cessna plane plunged in a field near Greeley Center, Neb. Tucker bought the plane in Denver on Monday.

Mrs. Cook was the wife of Theodor F. Cook who was sentenced two months ago to a one-year term in the Colorado penitentiary.

Undersheriff Joe De Joy said Tucker was taking Mrs. Cook to her parents' home at Brainerd, Minn., to "gain cross-country flying experience." Tucker received a private pilot's license January 30. De Joy said he know nothing about Mrs. Cook's commission as a deputy sheriff.

TOWNSHIPS SCHOOL MERGER

Editor, News,
Dear Sir:

During the meeting of April 18th, which was held in the North Beaver School, the question arose as to whether or not the Bessemer school directors would be willing to merge with North Beaver and Little Beaver Townships schools. This question was not answered satisfactorily. Therefore, I now submit a letter under date of April 27, 1950, which is signed by the president of the Bessemer School Board, Mr. John Brentin, Jr.:

April 27, 1950

Mr. Joseph L. Fisher,
RD. No. 1, Edinburg, Pa.

In response to your request for information regarding the Bessemer School Board's willingness to unite with the North Beaver Township School District in forming a joint high school, will offer the following:

Since the 1947 Legislature passed legislation designed to force small school districts to unite in order to finance a good high school, the Bessemer Board is willing to join a plan proposed by the Superintendent of Public Schools and the Lawrence County School Board. This plan recommended to wit:—the School District of the Borough of Bessemer and the school districts of the respective townships of Mahoning, North Beaver and Little Beaver.

If the above plan is not carried out, the Bessemer School Board would be willing to form a joint high school with the North Beaver Township School District. Such a joint high school would save each district approximately 30% of the cost of operating its high school as the state appropriation to a joint high school is based entirely upon the instruction cost and the overhead cost.

Yours truly,
Bessemer School District,
By John Brintin, Jr.,
President

Mr. Brintin's letter should remove any doubt as to the willingness of the Bessemer school board to consolidate their school with North Beaver and Little Beaver. Not only that, but it should convince the people of these townships that there is a logical and economical alternative to the proposed $125,000 School Bond Issue. $125,000 is a very sizable amount of money to spend to enlarge the North Beaver school, particularly when we know that even this amount of money will not bring the North Beaver school up to the standard of the Bessemer school.

Cordially yours,
Jos. L. Fisher,
R. D. 1, Edinburg, Pa.

New Uses For Anthracite Are Presented

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—New uses for anthracite coal on farms was described today at the opening session of the eighth annual anthracite conference at Lehigh university.

Dr. O. A. Brown, senior agricultural engineer of the U. S. department of agirculture, Oxford, N. C., said the new uses call for "three million tons for curing agricultural products" in areas adjacent to the anthracite mining region.

Brown urged more coordinated efforts among research organizations and industry. He declared:

"Anthracite is relatively young in the field of agriculture. It produces no smoke and that is a desirable characteristic for most curing operations.

"Both the fuel and equipment for burning it are available at a reasonable cost in an area where agricultural products need to be cured under controlled conditions."

The demand for equipment for processing and curing farm products is on the increase, he said.

Fairmont Phone Operators Protest

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 4.—(INS)—About 35 telephone operators quit work today at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company in Fairmont in protest of what they claimed was the company's refusal to process grievances.

The operators, members of Local 15 of the Communication Workers of America, declared:

Russell Aylstock, local president, said the walkout came as a complete surprise to him. He said action on the dispute probably would be taken at the bargaining session in Charleston where company and union officials are meeting.

Another 'Dunkirk'?

AS CHINESE Nationalist forces and civilians sought to evacuate Hainan, fears of an island "Dunkirk" were expressed. Invading Chinese Communist forces first marched into Hoihow (1) and moved toward Tingan (arrow). A beachhead was established at Linkao (2), from which the troops drove on Chialai. Chief evacuation point is Sanya (3), but shortage of ships was expected to leave thousands of defenders at the mercy of the Reds. (Central Press)

In response to your request for information regarding the Bessemer School Board's willingness to unite with the North Beaver Township School District in forming a joint high school, will offer the following:

Since the 1947 Legislature passed legislation designed to force small school districts to unite in order to finance a good high school, the Bessemer Board is willing to join a plan proposed by the Superintendent of Public Schools and the Lawrence County School Board. This plan recommended to wit:—the School District of the Borough of Bessemer and the school districts of the respective townships of Mahoning, North Beaver and Little Beaver.

If the above plan is not carried out, the Bessemer School Board would be willing to form a joint high school with the North Beaver Township School District. Such a joint high school would save each district approximately 30% of the cost of operating its high school as the state appropriation to a joint high school is based entirely upon the instruction cost and the overhead cost.

Yours truly,
Bessemer School District,
By John Brintin, Jr.,
President

Mr. Brintin's letter should remove any doubt as to the willingness of the Bessemer school board to consolidate their school with North Beaver and Little Beaver. Not only that, but it should convince the people of these townships that there is a logical and economical alternative to the proposed $125,000 School Bond Issue. $125,000 is a very sizable amount of money to spend to enlarge the North Beaver school, particularly when we know that even this amount of money will not bring the North Beaver school up to the standard of the Bessemer school.

Cordially yours,
Jos. L. Fisher,
R. D. 1, Edinburg, Pa.

New Uses For Anthracite Are Presented

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 4.—(INS)—New uses for anthracite coal on farms was described today at the opening session of the eighth annual anthracite conference at Lehigh university.

Dr. O. A. Brown, senior agricultural engineer of the U. S. department of agriculture, Oxford, N. C., said the new uses call for "three million tons for curing agricultural products" in areas adjacent to the anthracite mining region.

Brown urged more coordinated efforts among research organizations and industry. He declared:

"Anthracite is relatively young in the field of agriculture. It produces no smoke and that is a desirable characteristic for most curing operations.

"Both the fuel and equipment for burning it are available at a reasonable cost in an area where agricultural products need to be cured under controlled conditions."

The demand for equipment for processing and curing farm products is on the increase, he said.

Fairmont Phone Operators Protest

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 4.—(INS)—About 35 telephone operators quit work today at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company in Fairmont in protest of what they claimed was the company's refusal to process grievances.

The operators, members of Local 15 of the Communication Workers of America, declared:

"This isn't a strike, it's just a protest to make the company listen to our grievances."

They left their jobs singing "I've been working at the switchboard all the live-long day."

Russell Aylstock, local president, said the walkout came as a complete surprise to him. He said action on the dispute probably would be taken at the bargaining session in Charleston where company and union officials are meeting.

Chief evacuation point is Sanya (3), but shortage of ships was expected to leave thousands of defenders at the mercy of the Reds. (Central Press)

Filibuster Is Being Planned

May Be Started In Senate On Monday

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Southern senators meet today to map strategy for the Civil Rights filibuster they are due to launch in the Senate Monday.

Sen. Russell (D) Ga., chief strategist for Dixie senators, said the meeting in the office of Sen. George (D) Ga., will explore "all matters which relate to the situation."

Other southerners declared the defeat of Sen. Pepper in the Florida Democratic primaries Tuesday will strengthen their hand in blocking the Fair Employment Practices bill, target of the filibuster.

The FEPC bill is considered the most controversial measure in President Truman's entire Civil Rights program.

Sen. Ellender (R) La., said that "administration leaders ought to take a look at the Florida vote" before pushing too hard on the FEPC bill.

Ellender charged that "politics" largely motivated the decision to call up the FEPC bill.

Defeat 'Significant'

Sen. McClellan (D) Ark., termed the defeat of Pepper "significant" in connection with the Civil Rights issue.

Russell said the strategy meeting will discuss all measures which are ready for Senate floor action and which could possibly be brought up as part of the filibuster.

These measures, he said, include resolutions to reject eight of Mr. Truman's plans for government reorganization. He also listed the House-Senate conference report on the highly disputed Basing Point bill.

The meeting will be the first since the Democratic Policy committee decided to go ahead with the long postponed showdown on FEPC.

The Senate Republican Policy committee is expected to take a stand on the bill at a meeting late today. Policy Chairman Taft (R) Ohio, is the author of a voluntary FEPC bill similar to one already approved by the House.

The filibuster will be the first test of the workability of the Senate's new cloture or "gag" rule. Under a rules change adopted after a bitter fight last year, a two-thirds vote of all 96 senators—or 64—is needed to shut off debate.

East Brook High Groups Face Test

Four choruses from East Brook high school face a severe test Saturday at the University of Pittsburgh, when they compete in the finals of the Pennsylvania Music and Forensic League. These choruses won the Western Pennsylvania District contest at Edinboro last month.

In addition, there will be many others from Lawrence county schools who will compete in the finals today, Friday and Saturday.

The groups contending from East Brook are the girls chorus, boys chorus, mixed chorus, and junior chorus. They have been directed and trained by Mrs. Robert McCrumb, music instructor at East Brook. East Brook was the smallest school entered in the district contest, making their achievement of winning their way to the finals all the more noteworthy.

Seedlings Planted In Strip Mine Areas

HARRISBURG, May 4—(INS)—The Forests and Waters Department has planted 1,600,000 seedling trees, vines and shrubs in the scarred strip mine banks in Western Pennsylvania's bituminous region, Secretary Milo F. Draemel announced.

The plantings represents one-third of the seedlings the department expects to plant in denuded coal regions throughout the state, he added.

Funds to finance the project are obtained from registration fees mine operators pay into the bituminous coal open pit mining reclamation fund.

Change To Occur In Presidency Of Duquesne University

PITTSBURGH, May 4.—(INS)—The Very Rev. Francis P. Smith, 43, will leave the presidency of Duquesne university in Pittsburgh on July 1 to become coordinator of educational activities of the Holy Ghost Fathers in America.

Successor to Rev. Smith as president of Duquesne will be the Rev. Vernon F. Gallagher, 35, who has served as vice president of the school since 1945.

Rev. Smith, in his four years as president of Duquesne, is credited with wiping the school's indebtedness of $470,000 and reportedly building up a surplus of $1,500,000.

Rev. Gallagher will be the youngest president Duquesne has ever had, and also one of the youngest college president in the country.

Workouts Night Racing Problem

COLLINSVILLE, Ill.—(INS)—Legalization of night horse racing in Illinois poses a new problem for trainers:

When will they work with the horses?

In the past the trainers have always been on the track in the early hours of the morning. Conditioning work has always been a sunrise task.

Now all this apparently will be changed.

The night racing programs will last to nearly midnight. For a trainer who has an entry in the final race, it will be 2 a. m. before the horse is cooled off. It's doubtful that the trainer then will arise for a pre-dawn workout.

Racing observers believe this problem will have an important bearing on the success and spread of night thoroughbred racing. They also speculate on the effect on the horses who come to Illinois after appearance at daylight tracks elsewhere and then after several weeks under the arc lights must return to the conventional afternoon programs.

The spring meeting May 26-July 4 at Fairmount track, outside Collinsville, may provide some answers.

International Situation Is Not Improved

WASHINGTON, May 4—(INS)—The nations' top military planners told the house armed services committee at a closed session Wednesday that the international situation has "become worse" this year.

This was disclosed by Chairman Vinson (D) Ga., of the house group. In summarizing testimony given by Defense Secretary Johnson, the joint chiefs of staff, and a state department spokesman, Vinson said:

"The situation is this: It hasn't improved since hearings on the draft law were first held in January. With the sinking of our plane in the Baltic, diplomatic incidents in the iron curtain countries, and the far eastern developments including Hainan, it has become worse since January."

Vinson predicted that the committee will approve a two-year extension of the draft with congressional control over inductions.

President Orders Two Hospitals To Be Kept In Use

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—The White House announced Wednesday that President Truman has ordered general hospitals at Augusta, Ga., and Long Beach, Calif., turned over to the Veterans Administration so they can remain in full use.

At the same time, the White House announced that three other general hospitals which Defense Secretary Johnson ordered closed will remain on a shut down basis, and cannot economically be adapted for use by the Veterans Administration.

These hospitals are at Battle Creek, Mich., Valley Forge, Pa., and Waltham, Mass.

In its announcement, the White House said that the Oliver General hospital at Augusta, Ga., will remain open and will be used in place of a 500-bed general hospital which was to have been built at Atlanta.

The Long Beach Naval hospital will replace the Birmingham General hospital at Van Nuys, Calif.

Air Pollution Being Studied

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—Officials of President Truman's conference of air pollution estimated today that a federal research project on air poisons would cost about $750,000 a year.

The officials, who would not be quoted because an estimate of governmental costs has not yet been handed the Budget Bureau, said a Congressional appropriation of that much would provide the necessary basic information for a nation-wide clean air campaign.

The conference was called by President Truman who said the government should take the lead in researching for an all-out fight on industrial fumes harmful to man. He said he hoped Congress would supply research money.

As the three-day meeting entered its last day, more than 40 members of the Smoke Pollution Association of America held a rump session aimed at revitalizing the organization to make it the leader in the forthcoming anti-pollution drive.

Sends Bloodhounds Down To Canal Zone

LORTON, Va., May 4.—(INS)—Word was received today at the District of Columbia's Lorton reformatory that the Canal Zone, which has some 125 inmates, does not have any bloodhounds to track down escapees.

So Director Donald Klemmer has agreed to send two of Lorton's dogs to the Canal Zone for patrol purposes. Clemmer has the incidental hope that they will help build a new pack.

Senators Stage Three-Hour Drill Wednesday Preparing For Opener

Manager (Chuck) Cronin had the New Castle Senators out on P. J. Flaherty Memorial field yesterday afternoon for a strenuous three-hour workout in preparation for the 8 p. m. opening game of the Mid-Atlantic league season here Friday night with the power-packed Vandergrift team.

A few of the faults that cropped out in the Homestead Grays game were ironed out with a long drill on fundamentals. "We're a little green yet, but will ripen as time goes on, and I have more time to work with the boys," Cronin said.

Horne Only Lineup Change

"We'll bat and lineup the same tomorrow night as we did for the Homestead Grays, with the exception of the catching department where Bill Horne will get the nod over Al Dunterman," the popular young pilot stated.

Vandergrift is coming here with only two veterans in the lineup, which means a whole host of limited service men, which make any ball club look good. Not one of the 1949 Vandergrift team is back this year. Manager Don Hasenmeyer who plays short, and Harvey Roop an outfielder, are listed as the veterans. Vandergrift has gathered a tall and heavy ball club this season. Roop heading the weight list with 230 pounds on a 6 foot 2 frame.

The Senators list six veterans—Herman Kiel, Frank Wagner, George Eikenberg, Danny Dondere, Stan Zedalis and Manager Cronin. Bilo, Famiglietti, Horne and Mouton are limited service men. Vizzini is a rookie.

Will Workout Tonight

Manager Cronin will have the Senators out on the practice field at 8 o'clock tonight, for another two-hour drill. "We want to polish up our hitting, and only through a long batting drill can we accomplish this," Cronin remarked.

The infield combination is working smoothly with Al Mouton, "Ike" Eikenberg and Danny Dondero, flipping the ball around in fine style and working hard on the double-play ball. New Castle fans who missed the Grays game will be surprised at the speed shown by the new infield "combo". The infield is far ahead of last year. The outfield is all set.

"I am quite well satisfied the way the team is shaping up," President Al Scarazzo expressed himself yesterday as he watched the boys go through their paces at Flaherty Field, and was all smiles.

"We have a fine group of young ball players and I like their hustle, Scarazzo concluded.

Opening Day Ceremonies

All is in readiness for the opening day ceremonies tomorrow, getting started at 4:30 o'clock as a parade of motor cars will carry the ball players over the downtown streets and ending at the ball park at 6:30 o'clock.

At 7:30 o'clock the Honor Guard of the local 229th Field Artillery will escort the player to the flag pole for the raising of the flag, accompanied by a proper bomb salute by the Vitale Fireworks company, with Rocco J. Vitale in charge.

Hanorable Mayor John Haven will toss the first ball and either Honorable Judge John Lamoree or Judge Walter Braham will be back of the plate to receive it. This will take place at 7:55 o'clock just as the players return from the flag raising.

The game will go on at 8 p.m. opening the 26th year of the Mid-Atlantic league one of the oldest and finest in the country.

CITY LOOP MEETING

FRANKS VS. UNIVERSALS

Bessemer Leads School League

Bessemer High School has taken a two-game lead in the Section 8, WPIAL, high school baseball race with the schedule about half-way completed.

Weather has forced many postponements in the circuit and all teams are making an effort to play off games as soon as possible.

Wampum has a lead in the number of games played-eight, while Union has a .500 mark for only four games.

Coach Al Russo's boys are undefeated in season's play but have a 7-7 tie to be played off with last year's champions, Shenango.

There is no class A of class B in WPIAL baseball and the winner of this league will move right into the playoffs. The winner will probably meet the section 7 champion. That section is now led by Farrell.

Following is the standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Bessemer*	7	0	1.000
Wampum	6	2	.750
Union	4	2	.667
N. Wilmington	2	2	.500
Shenango*	1	4	.200
East Brook	1	5	.167
Mt. Jackson	0	6	.000

* Played 7-7 tie.

East Brook Wins Two From Mounties

East Brook high school got into the victory column Wednesday afternoon by defeating Mt. Jackson twice at East Brook, 12-2 and 10-3

Clyde Cummins held the Mounties to two hits in the five-inning opener. Bud Mayberry was the big gun in the Eagles attack with a triple and a double.

McKinley went for Mt. Jackson. In the second game Rungs started for East Brook and received credit for the win, though he was relieved by Smith in the sixth. Grist went all the way for Mt. Jackson.

The game was all tied up at 3-3 at the end of five innings but the Eagles broke loose for seven in the sixth and seventh.

Briton Defeats Frank Talaber

Ford, Torres Win Exciting Tag Bout

Devotees of matdom who journeyed into The Arena last night witnessed the best grappling show of any yet held here. Lord Blears forced husky Frankie Talaber, Columbus, to quit in 20:45, Sandor Kovacs and Fred Bozic grappled to a 30-minute draw and Enrique Torres, Mexican, and Bobby Ford won two of three falls in the sensational tag match—the most vicious yet staged here.

Should the grapplers continue to put on exhibitions as they did last night, they can feel assured of larger crowds. The fans liked their work.

Kovacs and Bozic were evenly matched. At times, one would have the advantage, and upon another occasion the other would show best.

Lord Blears left no doubt in the minds of the fans and fanettes as to his ability, plus roughness. For 15 minutes it was nip and tuck between Talaber and he, but he finally wore the Ohioan down.

Nearing the 20 minutes mark, after kicking and slugging Talaber, he worked into a hold that shut off the circulation of blood in Talaber's arm. Talaber was worn down and decided to call it a night.

Tag Is Spectacular

The tag artists almost got into a fight before the exhibition started, and when it did, it started viciously. When Don Evans, teamed with Jim Wright against Ford and Torres, yanked Torres' head, Evans started something.

A fan arose from his front row seat and verbally belabored Evans. What he said caused Evans' ire. He leaped from the ring and started for the spectator. The latter fled with Evans in pursuit.

Fans leaped from their seats. Some seized chairs as weapons and for a moment it looked as though a riot would occur. However, Policeman George Sigler was on the job and forced the fans back into their seats and Evans reentered the ring.

However, from then on Evans and Wright were vicious. They pulled many stunts which ired the crowd. They took the first fall in 15:7, but lost the second in 20 minutes when Ford tigerishly threw Wright over his head. Torres and Ford took the third fall in seven minutes.

Gus Willis, Pittsburgh, put on a refereeing job that was highly pleasing.

Altogether last night's show was termed by fans to have been the best yet staged here. They were in a highly excited frame of mind from start to finish.

Kosior Blanks Shenango, 1-0

The Wampum twirler allowed only two hits over the seven innings and was in control all the way. Johnny Allen pitched good ball for Shenango and did not give up a tally until the top of the seventh.

The Wildcats got out of trouble with a double play in the second and Wampum had a two-ply killing in the sixth.

Oma And Weinberg Bout Is Stopped

CINCINNATI, O., May 4.—(INS)—Lee Oma of Detroit and Bill Weinberg of New York both were disqualified for foul tactics last night in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout in the Cincinnati Gardens.

The heavyweights were ordered out of the ring by Referee Earl Butler ending seven full rounds of mauling, butting and heeling. The crowd of 3,500 provided a backdrop of constant boos.

Sixteen Horses May Get Starting Posts In Derby

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Horsemen's hopes grew stronger and mint juleps grew weaker today, 48 hours before Saturday's 76th Kentucky Derby, and the man who trains the "forgotten horse" just smiled to himself.

All this fabulous talk about Your Host, Hill Prince, Middleground, Black George, Mr. Trouble and Theory certainly had its place as the owners of 16 Derby eligibles prepared to pay tomorrow's $1,000 entry fee.

Watch Oil Capitol

But there will be a colt named Oil Capitol on the same track at the same time come Saturday afternoon at Churchill Downs, and his trainer, Harry Trotsek, thinks the poker-hot Florida winter champion may be in winning form.

The way things now shape up, Your Host and Hill Prince look like 2-to-1 and 5-to-2 shots, respectively. But they would switch roles on a wet track. The King Ranch couple of Middleground and On the Mark should be about 5-to-1, Mr. Trouble and Oil Capitol about 6-to-1 each, and the Brookmeade entry of Sunglow and Greek Ship about 10-to-1.

With a long-range weather forecast of a cloudy forenoon and sunny afternoon, and showers expected between now and then, the final list can be slashed to 12 or 13.

Perry S. Gaston Team To Convene

Manager Joe O'Leary has called for a gathering of all members of the Perry S. Gaston Post baseball team for Friday night at 6 o'clock at the Washington High field. All boys who were born in 1932 and later are eligible for positions on the team.

Indications are that the Post will be represented by a strong outfit this year, O'Leary said.

PRACTICE GAME FRIDAY

Bessemer Defeats New Wilmington, 8-0

Bessemer won its seventh straight game in county high school competition Wednesday afternoon when it defeated New Wilmington 8-0 at New Wilmington.

Lynn Tanner went all the way for the Cementers and limited the Greyhounds of New Wilmington to one hit—a scratch single by Walt McGinnis in the third. He struck out six.

It was Tanner's fifth win of the season and his fourth shutout. It was also his second one-hitter.

Bill Young went for New Wilmington and held the Cementers to four hits and struck out 10. He was wild, however, and received ragged support in the field.

Russell Cracraft had two hits for Bessemer, both singles.

Gehrmann Eyes 1952 Olympics

MADISON, Wis., May 4.—(INS)—Don Gehrmann Wisconsin's great little distance runner, is known to take a peek back occasionally to see how close his opponents are.

But today he looked into the future and disclosed plans to stay close to his alma mater and track coach Guy Sundt after graduation in June.

Gehrmann said he will marry his high school sweetheart, Delores Marine, July 15 in Milwaukee. Before his marriage he will join the John Hancock Insurance company for a training course in Milwaukee and later as a representative in Madison.

His chief objective in track will be the 1952 Olympics. He says he will hang up the spikes after that.

Elks Golfers Open Season, 80 Present

New Castle Elks golf league for 1950 opened play Tuesday evening at the beautiful Castle Hills course with 80 golfers in attendance. There are eight teams in the league.

The Smashers captained by Bill Waltenbaugh led the opening night play with 14 points, followed by the Misfits captained by Wayne Harper with 13½, the Shennigans captained by Frank Kelley with 12½, the Strangers captained by Frank Perry with 11.

The league will play at the Castle Hills course every Tuesday evening (weather permitting). Medalist honors for the opening night went to Ezz Palmer with a sizzling par 35 on the front nine, and to his brother Fred with a blazing 37 back nine card. Bogey winners were: Fred Palmer, Frank Kelley and Jimmy Ludwig.

Lloyd Harris chairman of the Elks league was highly pleased by the opening night's play and predicts a most successful season at the Castle Hills course.

St. Louis Cardinals Edge Dodgers In 13th Inning, 6-5

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 4.—Back in the not too distant past when Yogi Berra and Joe Garagiola were kids in St. Louis, they played ball for the same team and were damon and pythias buddies.

Their ambition was to be teammates some day on the St. Louis Cardinals, Berra as an outfielder and Garagiola as a catcher.

History has established only one-half of this ambition. Garagiola made the Cards, but Berra was turned down and was signed up by the New York Yankees where he now does very well behind the plate for the world champions.

Cards Edge Dodgers

There were times when the St. Louis brain trust regretted this decision on the hometown hopefuls. But yesterday Garagiola gave his townfolks something to cheer about.

The 24-year-old backstop singled with the bases loaded to give his team a 6 to 5 victory in a thirteen inning struggle with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Braves Rout Bucs

The Boston Braves broke a 4-4 tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates by scoring 11 runs in the ninth inning to win out 15 to 4 for Johnny Sain's third triumph. Sain allowed four hits, one of them a three-run homer by Nanny Fernandez in the first.

Bob Elliott's three-run poke in the ninth was the big blow as 16 Bostonians paraded to the plate. Sain proved capable at bat, too, driving in four runs with three hits.

Ken Johnson, the lefthander acquired just the other day from St. Louis, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5 to 2 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Red Sox Win

The New York Giants won their second game of 1950, downing the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 2, and breaking a Cincinnati streak of four straight wins.

Boston's Red Sox kept right on sizzling in the American League. They beat the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 2, for their sixth straight win. Bob Feller, who had won two straight, was routed by the Sox.

Senators Win

The New York Yankees edged the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3, as Vic Raschi stumbled to his second win.

Gile Coan's grand slam homer in the seventh—his second of the season—gave the Washington Senators and Sid Hudson a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns in a night game.

The Detroit-Philadelphia night game was postponed because of inclement weather.

North County League Meeting Friday Night

North County Baseball league will meet Friday evening, May 5, at eight o'clock at the fire house in New Wilmington.

Contracts can be handed in at the last meeting of the league before the season begins on May 8.

Senators Stage Three-Hour Drill Wednesday Preparing For Opener

Manager (Chuck) Cronin had the New Castle Senators out on P. J. Flaherty Memorial field yesterday afternoon for a strenuous three-hour workout in preparation for the 8 p. m. opening game of the Mid-Atlantic league season here Friday night with the power-packed Vandergrift team.

A few of the faults that cropped out in the Homestead Grays game were ironed out with a long drill on fundamentals. "We're a little green yet, but will ripen as time goes on, and I have more time to work with the boys," Cronin said.

Horne Only Lineup Change

"We'll bat and lineup the same tomorrow night as we did for the Homestead Grays, with the exception of the catching department where Bill Horne will get the nod over Al Dunterman," the popular young pilot stated.

Vandergrift is coming here with only two veterans in the lineup, which means a whole host of limited service men, which make any ball club look good. Not one of the 1949 Vandergrift team is back this year. Manager Don Hasenmeyer who plays short, and Harvey Roop an outfielder, are listed as the veterans. Vandergrift has gathered a tall and heavy ball club this season. Roop heading the weight list with 230 pounds on a 6 foot 2 frame.

The Senators list six veterans—Herman Kiel, Frank Wagner, George Eikenberg, Danny Dondere, Stan Zedalis and Manager Cronin. Bilo, Famiglietti, Horne and Mouton are limited service men. Vizzini is a rookie.

Will Workout Tonight

Manager Cronin will have the Senators out on the practice field at 8 o'clock tonight, for another two-hour drill. "We want to polish up our hitting, and only through a long batting drill can we accomplish this," Cronin remarked.

The infield combination is working smoothly with Al Mouton, "Ike" Eikenberg and Danny Dondero, flipping the ball around in fine style and working hard on the double-play ball. New Castle fans who missed the Grays game will be surprised at the speed shown by the new infield "combo". The infield is far ahead of last year. The outfield is all set.

"I am quite well satisfied the way the team is shaping up," President Al Scarazzo expressed himself yesterday as he watched the boys go through their paces at Flaherty Field, and was all smiles.

"We have a fine group of young ball players and I like their hustle, Scarazzo concluded.

Opening Day Ceremonies

All is in readiness for the opening day ceremonies tomorrow, getting started at 4:30 o'clock as a parade of motor cars will carry the ball players over the downtown streets and ending at the ball park at 6:30 o'clock.

At 7:30 o'clock the Honor Guard of the local 229th Field Artillery will escort the player to the flag pole for the raising of the flag, accompanied by a proper bomb salute by the Vitale Fireworks company, with Rocco J. Vitale in charge.

Honorable Mayor John Haven will toss the first ball and either Honorable Judge John Lamoree or Judge Walter Braham will be back of the plate to receive it. This will take place at 7:55 o'clock just as the players return from the flag raising.

The game will go on at 8 p.m. opening the 26th year of the Mid-Atlantic league one of the oldest and finest in the country.

CITY LOOP MEETING

FRANKS VS. UNIVERSALS

Bessemer Leads School League

Bessemer High School has taken a two-game lead in the Section 8, WPIAL, high school baseball race with the schedule about half-way completed.

Weather has forced many postponements in the circuit and all teams are making an effort to play off games as soon as possible.

Wampum has a lead in the number of games played-eight, while Union has a .500 mark for only four games.

Coach Al Russo's boys are undefeated in season's play but have a 7-7 tie to be played off with last year's champions, Shenango.

There is no class A of class B in WPIAL baseball and the winner of this league will move right into the playoffs. The winner will probably meet the section 7 champion. That section is now led by Farrell.

Following is the standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Bessemer*	7	0	1.000
Wampum	6	2	.750

East Brook Wins Two From Mounties

East Brook high school got into the victory column Wednesday afternoon by defeating Mt. Jackson twice at East Brook, 12-2 and 10-3.

Clyde Cummins held the Mounties to two hits in the five-inning opener. Bud Mayberry was the big gun in the Eagles attack with a triple and a double.

McKinley went for Mt. Jackson.

In the second game Rungs started for East Brook and received credit for the win, though he was relieved by Smith in the sixth. Grist went all the way for Mt. Jackson.

The game was all tied up at 3-3 at the end of five innings but the Eagles broke loose for seven in the sixth and seventh.

Briton Defeats Frank Talaber

Ford, Torres Win Exciting Tag Bout

Devotees of matdom who journeyed into The Arena last night witnessed the best grappling show of any yet held here. Lord Blears forced husky Frankie Talaber, Columbus, to quit in 20:45, Sandor Kovacs and Fred Bozic grappled to a 30-minute draw and Enrique Torres, Mexican, and Bobby Ford won two of three falls in the sensational tag match—the most vicious yet staged here.

Should the grapplers continue to put on exhibitions as they did last night, they can feel assured of larger crowds. The fans liked their work.

Kovacs and Bozic were evenly matched. At times, one would have the advantage, and upon another occasion the other would show best.

Lord Blears left no doubt in the minds of the fans and fanettes as to his ability, plus roughness. For 15 minutes it was nip and tuck between Talaber and he, but he finally wore the Ohioan down.

Nearing the 20 minutes mark, after kicking and slugging Talaber, he worked into a hold that shut off the circulation of blood in Talaber's arm. Talaber was worn down and decided to call it a night.

Tag Is Spectacular

The tag artists almost got into a fight before the exhibition started, and when it did, it started viciously. When Don Evans, teamed with Jim Wright against Ford and Torres, yanked Torres' head, Evans started something.

A fan arose from his front row seat and verbally belabored Evans. What he said caused Evans' ire. He leaped from the ring and started for the spectator. The latter fled with Evans in pursuit.

Fans leaped from their seats. Some seized chairs as weapons and for a moment it looked as though a riot would occur. However, Policeman George Sigler was on the job and forced the fans back into their seats and Evans reentered the ring.

However, from then on Evans and Wright were vicious. They pulled many stunts which ired the crowd. They took the first fall in 15:7, but lost the second in 20 minutes when Ford tigerishly threw Wright over his head. Torres and Ford took the third fall in seven minutes.

Gus Willis, Pittsburgh, put on a refereeing job that was highly pleasing.

Altogether last night's show was termed by fans to have been the best yet staged here. They were in a highly excited frame of mind from start to finish.

Kosior Blanks Shenango, 1-0

The Wampum twirler allowed only two hits over the seven innings and was in control all the way. Johnny Allen pitched good ball for Shenango and did not give up a tally until the top of the seventh.

The Wildcats got out of trouble with a double play in the second and Wampum had a two-ply killing in the sixth.

CINCINNATI, O., May 4.—(INS)—Lee Oma of Detroit and Bill Weinberg of New York both were disqualified for foul tactics last night in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout in the Cincinnati Gardens.

The heavyweights were ordered out of the ring by Referee Earl Butler ending seven full rounds of mauling, butting and heeling. The crowd of 3,500 provided a backdrop of constant boos.

Sixteen Horses May Get Starting Posts In Derby

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Horsemen's hopes grew stronger and mint juleps grew weaker today, 48 hours before Saturday's 76th Kentucky Derby, and the man who trains the "forgoiten horse" just smiled to himself.

All this fabulous talk about Your Host, Hill Prince, Middleground, Black George, Mr. Trouble and Theory certainly had its place as the owners of 16 Derby eligibles prepared to pay tomorrow's $1,000 entry fee.

Watch Oil Capitol

But there will be a colt named Oil Capitol on the same track at the same time come Saturday afternoon at Churchill Downs, and his trainer, Harry Trotsek, thinks the poker-hot Florida winter champion may be in winning form.

The way things now shape up, Your Host and Hill Prince look like 2-to-1 and 5-to-2 shots, respectively. But they would switch roles on a wet track. The King Ranch couple of Middleground and On the Mark should be about 5-to-1, Mr. Trouble and Oil Capitol about 6-to-1 each, and the Brookmeade entry of Sunglow and Greek Ship about 10-to-1.

With a long-range weather forecast of a cloudy forenoon and sunny afternoon, and showers expected between now and then, the final list can be slashed to 12 or 13.

Bessemer Defeats New Wilmington, 8-0

Bessemer won its seventh straight game in county high school competition Wednesday afternoon when it defeated New Wilmington 8-0 at New Wilmington.

Lynn Tanner went all the way for the Cementers and limited the Greyhounds of New Wilmington to one hit—a scratch single by Walt McGinnis in the third. He struck out six.

It was Tanner's fifth win of the season and his fourth shutout. It was also his second one-hitter.

Bill Young went for New Wilmington and held the Cementers to four hits and struck out 10. He was wild, however, and received ragged support in the field.

Russell Cracraft had two hits for Bessemer, both singles.

Light Contract At Bessemer Let

The contract for installation of the lights has been awarded to the Bruce & Merilees Electric Co. of New Castle with installation to start in 10 days. The contractors have already ordered the equipment necessary and plan to install the lights as soon as possible.

Actual specifications call for the lights to be set up by June 15. However, if weather permits the work should be completed before that time. The inclement Spring weather has made the ground too soft for heavy machinery to be moved around the Bessemer field but a break in the weather may permit installation by Memorial Day.

Big Opening

A big formal opening night program will be arranged for the first game to be played under the lights. President Truman may not make it to throw out the first ball but a community that has "gone all out" to make such a drive a success will certainly have a big affair for opening night.

Actually the drive is still $800 short in its quota. All funds raised or pledged to date have come from the community and an effort is being made to get the remaining $800 from persons in the immediate area of Bessemer.

Only One In Area

The community is very proud of the fact that it is the only one in western Pennsylvania or eastern Ohio of comparable size to own its own lighting system for night baseball. It is anticipated that the installation will be a boon to all sports in the Bessemer area and a big lift to sandlot ball in general, and the county league in particular.

The lighting system to be installed in Bessemer is one set-up by General Electric company for use in fast semi-pro or lower class minor leagues. There are no similar installations in the immediate area but it is a proven plan that has worked successfully in many locations.

Falcon Bowlers Wind Up Season

Polish Falcon Ten Pin bowling league has completed its season. Six teams were in the league this season with the Hobby's, captained by Mitch Kwiatkowski, winning the first half crown and the Merlins, captained by Stanley Bouk, taking the second half.

The Falcon bowlers will send five teams to the 12th annual Polish Falcon National Tournament at Saginaw, Mich., May 6 and 7. The Falcons finished first and third in last year's tournament at Erie.

President John Slosnerick requests that all bowlers who are going to Saginaw report at the Polish Falcon hall Thursday evening at eight o'clock for the final meeting.

Penn-Notre Dame To Play In 1952

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(INS) Notre Dame and the University of Pennsylvania will resume grid relations in 1952 after a lapse of 21 years.

Dr. E. Leroy Mercer, Penn's dean of athletics, announced late yesterday that the Irish and Red and Blue will meet at Franklin field in Philadelphia on Sept. 27, 1952.

Not since 1931, when the Fighting Irish walloped Penn 49-0 at South Bend, Ind., have the two schools met in football. The previous year, in 1930 at Philadelphia, Notre Dame trimmed Penn by a lop-sided 60-20.

Although only the one game is scheduled between the two squads, there is the possibility that a series may ensue.

Charlie Justice Spurns Pro Offer

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(INS)—North Carolina medicine gained today at the expense of professional football.

Coach Herman Ball of Washington's football Redskins said that Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice, great North Carolina university halfback, has turned a deaf ear to the blandishments of the Redskins and other professional clubs.

Ball said Justice informed him he intends to devote his time to the medical foundation of the state of North Carolina. Justice graduates from the University of North Carolina in June.

The International Boxing club is rich and powerful, and, because it plans to stay that way, there will be a siege of squabbling between same and the fight managers guild.

Ezzard Charles Being Examined

CHICAGO, May 4. — (INS) — Heavyweight boxing champion Ezzard Charles takes a physical examination in Chicago today to determine whether he is ready to continue fighting.

Charles recently was declared unfit to box Freddie Beshore in Buffalo, N. Y., because of what was called a "bruised heart muscle."

The National Boxing Association champion says he now is in perfect condition and will be ready to meet Beshore in a bout tentatively re-scheduled for June 7.

Charles will be examined by Dr. J. M. Houston, Dr. Ernest Nora, and possibly a third physician.

Light Contract At Bessemer Let

The contract for installation of the lights has been awarded to the Bruce & Merilees Electric Co. of New Castle with installation to start in 10 days. The contractors have already ordered the equipment necessary and plan to install the lights as soon as possible.

Actual specifications call for the lights to be set up by June 15. However, if weather permits the work should be completed before that time. The inclement Spring weather has made the ground too soft for heavy machinery to be moved around the Bessemer field but a break in the weather may permit installation by Memorial Day.

Big Opening

A big formal opening night program will be arranged for the first game to be played under the lights. President Truman may not make it to throw out the first ball but a community that has "gone all out" to make such a drive a success will certainly have a big affair for opening night.

Actually the drive is still $800 short in its quota. All funds raised or pledged to date have come from the community and an effort is being made to get the remaining $800 from persons in the immediate area of Bessemer.

Only One In Area

The community is very proud of the fact that it is the only one in western Pennsylvania or eastern Ohio of comparable size to own its own lighting system for night baseball. It is anticipated that the installation will be a boon to all sports in the Bessemer area and a big lift to sandlot ball in general, and the county league in particular.

The lighting system to be installed in Bessemer is one set-up by General Electric company for use in fast semi-pro or lower class minor leagues. There are no similar installations in the immediate area but it is a proven plan that has worked successfully in many locations.

Falcon Bowlers Wind Up Season

Polish Falcon Ten Pin bowling league has completed its season. Six teams were in the league this season with the Hobby's, captained by Mitch Kwiatkowski, winning the first half crown and the Merlins, captained by Stanley Bouk, taking the second half.

In the championship playoff the Merlins defeated the Hobby's by 45 pins.

The Falcon bowlers will send five teams to the 12th annual Polish Falcon National Tournament at Saginaw, Mich., May 6 and 7. The Falcons finished first and third in last year's tournament at Erie.

President John Slosnerick requests that all bowlers who are going to Saginaw report at the Polish Falcon hall Thursday evening at eight o'clock for the final meeting.

Penn-Notre Dame To Play In 1952

Resolution
of the
Board of School Directors of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, which is a School District of the Fourth Class under the Laws of said Commonwealth providing for the Levying of a Tax on Sales of Admission to Places of Amusement Conducted within the Territorial Limits of said School District.

Moved by J. H. ELLSWORTH, and seconded by J. Hartman, that the following resolution be passed:

Be it resolved that the School District of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, being a school district of the fourth class under the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the school year beginning July 1, 1950 and ending July 1, 1951, levy and assess for general revenue purposes, a tax of 10% on each sale of admission to all places of amusement located within the territorial limits of said School District, same to be used for general revenue purposes.

All persons, firms or corporations operating any place of amusement within the territorial limits of the said School District hereby are required to make monthly reports to the Secretary of this Board of School Directors on the First day of each month, or on the Second day if the First day is Sunday, showing the number of admissions to places of amusement operated within the territorial limits of said School District sold during the preceding current month, to which shall be attached an affidavit by the person making the report that the same is true and correct.

All persons, firms or corporations operating any place of amusement within the territorial limits of the said School District hereby are required to make payment to the Treasurer of said School District of the amount due and owing for said tax for the preceding current month based on said report, said payment to be made not later than the Tenth day of the month succeeding the month for which the report was made.

The reason which, in the judgment of this Board of School Directors, necessitates the imposition of this tax, is that in the construction of new buildings and the acquiring of new equipment and the employment of additional teachers, it is necessary to have more revenue than it is possible to collect by levies on the real estate assessment in said School District.

5.
The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is $2,000.00.

6.
That this resolution be published in the New Castle News once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks beginning on April 27, 1950, setting forth, among other things, that it is the purpose of this Board of School Directors to adopt said resolution finally on the 23rd day of May 1950, at a meeting of said Board of School Directors to be held on that date in the high school building of said School District at 8 o'clock P.M., Daylight Savings Time.

LEGAL NOTICES

Resolution

WHEREAS, an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved June 25, 1947, being Act. No. 481, and its supplements and amendments, authorizes boards of school directors of school districts of the fourth class to levy, assess and provide for the collection of certain taxes on persons, transactions, occupations, privileges and personal property within the limits of such school districts as the said boards may determine, subject to certain exceptions and limitations therein set forth; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the authority conferred by the said Act, and its supplements and amendments, it is the intention of the Board of School Directors of the School District of the Township of Union, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, at its regular meeting on Tuesday, May 23, 1950 at 8:00 P.M., to adopt a Resolution assessing, levying and providing for the collection of a tax at the rate of one percent of the value thereof, which rate of taxation expressed in dollars and cents amounts to One Dollar ($1.00) on every One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of such valuation, for general revenue purposes, to-wit, the general purposes of the school district as permitted by law, on all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation earned on and after July 1, 1950, by residents of the said School District and irrespective of where the said services are performed or work done; and on the net profits and income earned on and after July 1, 1950 of business, professions, or other activities conducted or carried on by such residents, irrespective of where the said profits are earned.

The reason which in the judgment of the said School Directors necessitates the imposition of the tax is the need for additional revenue for school purposes. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from the tax is Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) for the school or fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950.

The said Resolution imposing the said tax shall go into effect thirty (30) days after its adoption and within the said thirty (30) days, taxpayers aggrieved by the Resolution shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County upon giving bond with sufficient security in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) approved by the Court to prosecute the appeal with effect and payment of costs. The petition shall set forth the objections to the tax and the facts in support of such objections and shall be accompanied by the affidavit of the petitioners that the averments of the petition are true and the petition is not filed for the purposes of delay.

Resolution
of the
Board of School Directors of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, which is a School District of the Fourth Class under the Laws of said Commonwealth providing for the Levying of a Tax on Sales of Admission to Places of Amusement Conducted within the Territorial Limits of said School District.

Moved by J. H. ELLSWORTH, and seconded by J. Hartman, that the following resolution be passed:

Be it resolved that the School District of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, being a school district of the fourth class under the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the school year beginning July 1, 1950 and ending July 1, 1951, levy and assess for general revenue purposes, a tax of 10% on each sale of admission to all places of amusement located within the territorial limits of said School District, same to be used for general revenue purposes.

All persons, firms or corporations operating any place of amusement within the territorial limits of the said School District hereby are required to make monthly reports to the Secretary of this Board of School Directors on the First day of each month, or on the Second day if the First day is Sunday, showing the number of admissions to places of amusement operated within the territorial limits of said School District for the preceding current month, to which shall be attached an affidavit by the person making the report that the same is true and correct.

All persons, firms or corporations operating any place of amusement within the territorial limits of the said School District hereby are required to make payment to the Treasurer of said School District of the amount due and owing for said tax for the preceding current month based on said report, said payment to be made not later than the Tenth day of the month succeeding the month for which the report was made.

The reason which, in the judgment of this Board of School Directors, necessitates the imposition of this tax, is that in the construction of new buildings and the acquiring of new equipment and the employment of additional teachers. It is necessary to have more revenue than it is possible to collect by levies on the real estate assessment in said School District.

5.
The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is $2,000.00.

That this resolution be published in the New Castle News once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks beginning on April 27, 1950, setting forth, among other things, that it is the purpose of this Board of School Directors to adopt said resolution finally on the 23rd day of May 1950, at a meeting of said Board of School Directors to be held on that date in the high school building of said School District at 8 o'clock P.M., Daylight Savings Time.

LEGAL NOTICES

Resolution
WHEREAS, an Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved June 25, 1947, being Act. No. 481, and its supplements and amendments, authorizes boards of school directors of school districts of the fourth class to levy, assess and provide for the collection of certain taxes on persons, transactions, occupations, privileges and personal property within the limits of such school districts as the said boards may determine, subject to certain exceptions and limitations therein set forth; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the authority conferred by the said Act, and its supplements and amendments, it is the intention of the Board of School Directors of the School District of the Township of Union, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, at its regular meeting on Tuesday, May 23, 1950 at 8:00 P.M., to adopt a Resolution assessing, levying and providing for the collection of a tax at the rate of one percent of the value thereof, which rate of taxation expressed in dollars and cents amounts to One Dollar ($1.00) on every One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of such valuation, for general revenue purposes, to-wit, the general purpose of the school district as permitted by law, on all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation earned on and after July 1, 1950, by residents of the said School District and irrespective of where the said services are performed or work done; and on the net profits and income earned on and after July 1, 1950 of business, professions, or other activities conducted or carried on by such residents, irrespective of where the said profits are earned.

The reason which in the judgment of the said School Directors necessitates the imposition of the tax is the need for additional revenue for school purposes. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from the tax is Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) for the school or fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950.

The said Resolution imposing the said tax shall go into effect thirty (30) days after its adoption and within the said thirty (30) days, taxpayers aggrieved by the Resolution shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County upon giving bond with sufficient security in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) approved by the Court to prosecute the appeal with effect and payment of costs. The petition shall set forth the objections to the tax and the facts in support of such objections and shall be accompanied by the affidavit of the petitioners that the averments of the petition are true and the petition is not filed for the purposes of delay.
